Lost Keys Are Returned Promptly

"It would have been like looking for a needle in a haystack," was the comment Sunday night by William George, a linotype operator for the Times and Alleganian company, who lost his set of keys Sunday while he and a friend were "jeeping" for about six hours on Dan's Mountain. William was a former operator for The Republican and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. George, Jr., of Swallow Falls.

Bull and Bob Speicher, of Bel Air had ridden their jeeps toward Rawlings, along old log trails and through rugged terrain about four miles to the top of Dan's Mountain, had traveled about seven miles across the top and about four miles down the other side to the vicinity of Midland.

They had made 10 to 20 stops on their trip and it was at any one of those places the keys could have been lost.

Bill got back to his home on Millerdale road near Ridgeley at 4:30 p.m. and about 5 p.m. he had a call from Reuben Lease, Bedford street, Cumberland, who said he had found the set of keys on Dan's Rock.

The only identification was the name of William A. George which appeared on his dog tag from his days in the service. Mr. Lease had gone through the telephone directory, located Bill's number, and called him. The keys included house keys, car key and keys Bill uses at work.

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President—National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

From the founding of America, no Congress had succeeded in spending $100 billion in a single fiscal year until 1962. Only 9 years later—1971—the $200 billion dollar mark was broken. Only 4 more years later our present 1975 fiscal year budget calls for $300 billion. That budget has been approved by the present Congress, and with the prospect of reduced income, such spending would bring on another huge deficit. Where will the money come from? As a matter of practicality, a substantial part of the deficit in past years has been financed by the Treasury by borrowing in the ordinary private capital markets. These are the same markets in which homeowners compete for mortgage money, small business men compete for equity-capital, major business firms finance their long term growth, and State and local governments finance their basic capital improvements.

By being forced to borrow in such huge volume, the Federal government has absorbed much of the new funds which would normally be available to private individuals, businesses and State and local governments. As a result, the normal private users of the capital market have been forced to seek funds on a short-term basis at high interest rates, from commercial banks.

The Federal Reserve system has been and is now faced with a dilemma: if they accommodate the borrowers in the commercial banking system by increasing the money supply, they will be fueling the fires of inflation for the future. If they do not provide the funds to the commercial banks to meet the growing demand for loans, business will be slowed down and the Federal Reserve will be responsible. One thing is certain. The Federal Reserve System cannot meet both the demands of another Federal budget deficit and the demands of business. One or the other has to be trimmed down, and each must feel the pinch. The decision by the Federal Reserve finally is one of reason. It is urging reduction in Federal borrowing by reducing deficit spending in order to make more of the present money supply available for industry and private borrowing where our wealth is created. This is one of the reasons for optimism about the future.

It has been a long time coming. The advocates of deficit spending have had a field day in the United States which extended over a period of more than forty years. Many a college student has been reassured by some theoristic professor of economics that we didn't have to worry about the national debt because, "after all, we owe it to ourselves." When the national debt reached a proportion where we didn't have the money to pay "the interest to ourselves," those economists were the first ones to throw up their hands and admit they didn't know what to do about inflation.

Congress has now joined with the President in the determination to reduce this year's budget to $295 billion dollars which is still not enough to attain a balanced budget, but it demonstrates good intentions, and is a start. We should all remember, however, that a balanced budget alone will not cure our problem. There must be a reduction in deficit spending across the board. This means State and local governments will have to declare a moratorium on issuing bonds until inflation is slowed to a manageable level. Labor and management must get together and plan how to avoid increasing prices for goods and services. It means that the average American will have to cut back his spending and particularly his credit spending. America will have some hard times ahead in the next year or two but if we can have the moral fibre to tighten our belts and survive the next one or two years, and if we do not succumb to the lure of political promises, we will break the back of inflation.

Majority Rule At The U.N.

It is sad but no real surprise to see the United Nations acting more like a catalyst for war than an instrument for peace.

That conclusion is difficult to avoid after the spectacle which the world body has made of itself in recent weeks.

First, there is the vendetta waged against South Africa at the very moment when the white government in Pretoria is making a major effort to reach a genuine settlement with Black Africa and thus to avoid a major racial conflagration. On October 23 Prime Minister Vorster made a very conciliatory speech on the question of Rhodesia and South West Africa, and his U.N. delegate promised that South Africa would no longer condone discrimination based on race or color.

Did that help? Not at all. On October 30 only a U.S., British, and French veto in the Security Council prevented the total expulsion of South Africa from the U.N. And a few days later, the General Assembly, in total disregard of the U.N. Charter, suspended South Africa from participating in the current session.

Such irresponsibility by an unbridled majority, many of which, like the Soviet Union, trample on human rights and practice colonialism on other peoples to an extent totally unknown in South Africa, boggles the imagination. It can only make more difficult the search for a peaceful solution to the problems of southern Africa.

Then, in total contrast to this act of ostracism, there was the wild hero's welcome given by the U.N. to the Palestine Liberation Organization chieftain, Yassir Arafat, and to his uncompromising speech demanding the dismantling of the state of Israel. No nation can be expected to acquiesce in its destruction, so Arafat's speech was clearly a commitment to war, and the cheers of the U.N. delegates who heard him were a deathknell to the hopes for peace in the Middle East. The war scare which blew up in the aftermath of Arafat's appearance is an indication of the further damage which his reception at the U.N. has caused.

The once great hopes for the United Nations now lie in ruins. The "majority" rules. The result is a nauseous travesty where gross hypocrisy and the double standard have been enshrined as the highest standards of international behaviour.

The best service which the U.S. can render to the U.N. is to give it the back of our hand.

OPEN LINE

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks:

What is the status of congressional budget reform legislation?

The bill was signed into law on July 12 of this year. Copies of P. L. 93-344 may be obtained by writing my office here in Washington.

How may I obtain a summer job with the Federal government?

The U. S. Civil Service Commission informs me that the filing deadline for 1975 summer jobs is January 17, 1975. Each summer about 150,000 positions are filled from a pool of more than 100,000 candidates who qualify in the written exam administered in January and February. Complete instructions for filing, and information on opportunities available, may be obtained by requesting Booklet No. 414 from the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D.C. 20415.

Is there any federal regulation to protect consumers from computer errors on their bills?

Under the Fair Credit Billing Act, effective next October, if a consumer notifies a creditor about a computer error in the statement for his account, the creditor must respond within 30 days to the consumer's inquiry and the store must also resolve the problem within 90 days.

Do you have any information on Medicare?

An extensive handbook on Medicare — what it is and how it works — is available from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare or your local Social Security office.

Are highway fatalities still on the decline since the mandatory 55 MPH speed limit was instituted?

September marked the eleventh consecutive month the Nation's highway fatalities have shown a decrease below the same month a year ago, according to the U. S. Department of Transportation. If the current trend were to continue for the balance of the year there would be 10,000 less fatalities compared to 1973.

How do I submit testimony as regards the Interior Department's Environmental Impact Statement on the Outer Continental Shelf?

Written statements must be filed by December 27 with Director 7321, Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240.

Oakland Firemen Called Early Monday Morning

Oakland firemen were called to the residence of Robert Kurtz on North Second at 7:40 Monday morning for a flue fire. They soon returned to the fire house and no damage was reported.

Activities Planned By Oakland Homemakers

Members of the Oakland Homemakers club will meet at the home of Mrs. Jarryl Wolford in Loch Lynn Heights on Wednesday, December 4, at 10:30 a.m., for a work shop on Christmas crafts. Each member is asked to bring a packed lunch and the necessary materials for making the item of their choice.

The December meeting which will be held on December 12, will be the club's Christmas party. There will be the annual cookie and gift exchange. Dues are to be paid in order to be eligible to attend this meeting, it was stated by Janice Hanline, secretary.

TV Documentary To Feature Wild Areas

A one hour "entertainment documentary" on America's Wild Places, originated and developed by the Sierra Club, will be broadcast over the NBC television network on Monday evening, December 2, at 8:00 p. m.

This program will be the first exposure to a mass prime-time audience of the Club's attitudes on the values, and the need for preservation, of those wild places still remaining. Major segments of the program were filmed in Alaska's Wrangell Mountains, the Pacific Coast of Washington's Olympic Peninsula, Utah's Sliprock Country, the Boundary Waters Canoe Area in Minnesota, and South Carolina's Congaree Swamp.

Sierra Club officials have also agreed with Garrett County environmentalists that the Youghiogheny River should be considered for a fuure film. It is one of the few in the East already under study by a 1968 act of Congress, and the Oakland-Friendsville segment has been designated by Maryland's General Assembly as one of the State's five scenic rivers.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

"Justice for all" are the last three words of our pledge to the American flag. Someone please explain to me how the following is Justice:

In the paper last week we read about Mr. A. who was fined $105.00 for spotlighting; now, we read on several pages later how Mr. B was found guilty of larceny of $300.00 (which is a felony). His sentence was suspended and he was given probation! ! Why? How can the judge compare the two crimes and reward the one with probation for the most serious crime while fining the other? Where is Justice?

We should not wonder why the police get frustrated. Why make any arrests when the judge is going to let them off?

We plead with the court—give out fines fairly, give sentences fairly—so we can truly have "Justice for all."

Thomas E. Doyle

CRELLIN

Why Auto Insurance?

Certain types of auto coverage are required by law. But the primary reason for auto insurance is that it protects you, your family, the resources you have already earned and possibly a large share of what you will work to accumulate in the future.

Without insurance, a single accident could seriously affect your standard of living.

With two seemingly equal advertising opportunities available, how would you decide which was to carry your sales messages?

We have a suggestion—take a few minutes to find out just how seemingly equal they really are.

Ask questions—how big is their circulation audience? Where do readers live? How much do they pay? And others.

Then ask for proof!

Equal opportunities? Be ABC-sure!

Some Recent Non-Injury Accidents Are Noted

A number of recent non-injury accidents have been noted which occurred in scattered parts of the county on recent day

Paula R. Bittinger, Star Route 1, Oakland, and Paul A. Reese, RD 2, Friendsville were traveling north on the Herrington Manor road the morning of November 15. Paula Bittinger attempted to make a right turn into a private drive and was struck in the right side by the Reese car. Trooper J. E. Foley charged Reese with failing to reduce speed.

Herman E. Polis, Oakland, and Roger D. Tasker, Terra Alta, W. Va., were driving west on the Swanton road near the Steiding Church road last Monday afternoon. Tasker in a pick-up attempted to pass the Polis dump truck in a "no passing" zone and his right mirror struck the left tail light and left mirror of the Polis truck, damaging both. Trooper Foley charged Tasker with passing against roadway markings.

Elihu K. Loughry, Terra Alta, W. Va., in a pick-up was traveling north on U.S. Route 219 the evening of November 18, after having pulled onto the roadway from a private drive, and had not attained full speed. Carroll Van Bachtel, RD 2, Oakland, ran into the rear of the Loughry pick-up. Trooper Foley charged Bachtel with failing to reduce speed.

Robert E. Lowdermilk, RD 1, Friendsville, in a pick-up, failed to stop at a "stop" sign entered an intersection in front of a car driven by Genevieve M. Cuppett, Brandonville, W. Va., and the two collided. Trooper Ronald C. Georg charged Lowdermilk with failing to yield the right-of-way.

An odd accident occurred on Mansfield road at the bridge over Cherry Creek the evening of November 14. A car owned by Maynard Armstrong, Terra Alta, W. Va., went off the roadway, struck an electric fence then went on and overturned in Cherry Creek. On the arrival at the scene by Trooper C. H. Hinnant, there was no one around the vehicle. Trooper Hinnant returned to the scene the following evening and the vehicle had been removed.

TOY GUIDE FOR CHRISTMAS GIVERS

With the cost of toys very high this year, young families and grandparents need to make plans as well as study what is available and which is the better buy.

The "Fisher-Price Toys" came up with a guide to help parents make their selections.

1. Suit the toy to the child now, recognizing that children's toy needs change frequently. Look for age grouping suggestionh, these are carefully studied. Do not expect a child to grow into a toy (as with a piece of clothing).

Considerations

Length of pull string. Weight and size of toy. Swallowability of small parts.

2. Consider how the toy might be misused at the child's stage of development. The most sensitive age distinction is before and after they learn to walk, or about 1-1½ years old.

3. Where the toy is accessible, watch for thin walls, sharp points, flimsy construction, pinch points, unprotected edges. The material is often less important than how the manufacturer uses it, whether it is metal, plastic, wood, etc.

4. Avoid all types of projectiles for small children, darts, rubber bands, etc.

5. Watch for loose objects small enough to be swallowed, or those that could break off or be removed easily, as wheels, etc.

6. For packaged toys, buy recognized brands names. Avoid cheap imitations. The reputable American companies have research staff, safety engineering, child testing, precision manufacturing engineering and sophisticated quality control.

7. Don't shop solely on the basis of price, don't economize at the expense of safety. Although some toys are heavily discounted as traffic builders at Christmas, in general you get what you pay for. In the long run, the more expensive product may be cheaper.

8. Don't equate value with the amount of television exposure. Many good toys are not heavily promoted.

9. Look for the Good Housekeeping or other quality seal. These organizations test products on a subjective basis from the layman's standpoint, taking the viewpoint of a mother rather than that of an engineer on technical standards.

To Show Movie

"Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer" is the movie scheduled for showing at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland on Saturday, November 30, at 2:00 p.m. Admission is free.

On Saturday, November 30, the bookmobile will stop at the Cove from 11:00 to 11:45; in Accident from 1:45 to 2:30; and at McHenry Post Office from 2:45 to 3:30.

The FRB said it will pump more money into the nation's economy for the Christmas season.

AUDITOR'S STATEMENT

We have examined the statements of receipts collected and expenses disbursed and related cash accounts of the Garrett County Board of Education for the year ended June 30, 1974. We converted the accounts from a cash basis to an accrual basis for statement purposes. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary under the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements and exhibits fairly present the Garrett County Board of Education's position at June 30, 1974, and income collected and expenses disbursed by the Board of Education for the year then ended on an accrual basis.

Respectfully submitted,
(Sgd.) George McLaughlin
Certified Public Accountant

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 98 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD. DECEMBER 5, 1974 | PER COPY 15c | NUMBER 40

Just Two Things . . .

There are two items uppermost in our minds this week. A lot of things actually are on our minds, but these two stand out.

One is the unselfishness of volunteer workers in the community who sacrifice when the emergency arises. These include firemen, rescue squad personnel, civil defense, state police, county and state road workers, telephone and electric workers, and unnumberless individuals. They really performed well and with distinction following the thirty-inch snowfall and the disaster which followed.

We are sure there are many hundreds of travelers who could express feelings similar to the one who called The Republican office Tuesday morning as she was about to be on her way home to Sterling, Va., after being stranded at Keyser Ridge Service station. She was extremely grateful.

The other thought concerns the Southern Highlander band and their marvelous performance during the Macy parade which appeared on television last Thursday morning. There wasn't a hand in the entire parade that surpassed these local performers in any way, and a big slice of the credit of course goes to Richard Clever, band director.

Experiences o flhe week will be remembered a long time by those who helped as well as those who were aided. They created a warm glow all the way around.

Former Sheriff, Paul W. Fisher, Dies Thursday

Paul W. Fisher, 68, Friendsville, who served as sheriff of this county for twelve years, died last Thursday, November 28 in the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing home, Oakland, where he had been a patient for some time.

Mr. Fisher also had served as a county assessor for 16 years and was affiliated with the State Department of Assessments and Taxation.

A member of the Selbysport United Methodist church, Mr. Fisher also was affiliated with Oakland Lodge No. 192, A. F. and A. Masons, the Cumberland Consistory and Ali Ghan Shrine Temple.

Born at Cove, he was the son of the late Norman and Marie

Southern Squad Busy With Calls

Members of the Southern Rescue Squad have been relatively busy during the past week, making several runs through the storm.

Mrs. Patty Glotfelty suffered a forehead laceration Sunday when her car was involved in an accident just west of Oakland at the Youghiogheny bridge on Route 39. Maryland State Police are investigating the mishap.

Two men were injured in a pileup early Sunday morning near Point View Inn. Taken to the hospital were Elwood Felty, 71, Uniontown, who sustained a slight arm injury, and John Vitieluss, Gaithersburg, who suffered a facial injury.

The squad also transported Mrs. George Futch, who was expecting a child and who was in labor, to the Mellenry fire hall, where she was checked by a doctor and sent on to the Garrett County Memorial hospital, where her child, a son, was born some few hours later.

A snow plow led the way into Short Run for the ambulance so the squad could transport Thomas Wilson to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Helicopter Here

A Sikorsky helicopter from the State Police, was scheduled to come to Garrett county today to assist in evacuating people in outlying areas who were stranded, and without electricity and other necessities.

The helicopter is based in Cumberland but those needing assistance may make contact through the Maryland State Police or the Sheriff's office in Oakland.

Fire Destroys Machine Shed on Mountain Top

A building housing a shop and machine shed, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. John Parsons, of Mt. Top, west of Aurora, was destroyed by fire last Thursday evening with an estimated loss of $16,000.

Mr. Parsons had been working in the shop, had fixed the fire and gone to the barn when the fire broke out. The alarm was answered by the Aurora Fire department and they were assisted by Terra Alta and Rowlesburg departments in saving buildings nearby.

Storm Sidelights

J. and M. Food market in Oakland showed care for the stranded tourists. The Market sent down a 24-pound package of sausage for the stranded motorists who were spending the night at the Oakland fire hall.

Water Back to Normal

Oakland's water system was in short supply when the electricity that operated the town's water pumps went off Sunday and were not operative again until Monday evening. Since that time the pumps have been in action replenishing the town's reservoirs.

The thunder and lightning were noted on Sunday, first at Swanton, and later around Oakland.

Many power outages were noted at Kitzmiller, Deep Creek Lake, Loch Lynn Heights, Mt. Lake Park, Oakland and other nearby spots.

The U.S. mail truck to Oakland did not reach the town until Monday afternoon about 3, having been turned back earlier at Bloomington.

Around fifty lead-in lines for customers of the TV cable were snapped because of the snow or had fallen down. The main cable also was affected, but some service was restored by Tuesday afternoon.

Telephone service remained activated most of the time. There were some breaks because trees or electric lines fell across telephone lines, but these were repaired in good time.

Call for Assistance

A call for assistance came from Wade Charlton Monday from Ridge Tavern, a place west of Keyser Ridge on U.S. 40 where 70 to 80 people were stranded and in need of food and assistance. Word was given to the State Roads commission and later when one-

Farm Fire Is Fatal To Two - Mother And Son

A seventy-year old County woman and her 31-year old son, perished in a farm house fire about 1 o'clock Monday morning as firefighters from Bittinger tried in vain to get to the building, located on the Rock Lodge road near Bittinger, but were hampered by deep snow.

snow. Firemen from Deep Creek Company were the first to arrive but the flames had gained too great headway.

Victims were Mrs. Anna E. Opel, route 1, Accident, and her son, Simon C. Opel.

Firefighters recovered the bodies at noon Monday and were taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital and later to the Stewart Funeral home in Oakland.

Robert Opel, son of Mrs. Opel, was compelled to jump from the window of his upstairs bedroom to escape from the flames. Origin of the fire was not determined.

Mrs. Opel was born December 9, 1903, near Mellenry, a daughter of the late Joseph and Ellen Bender Ash. She was preceded in death by her husband, Simon E. Opel, in 1968.

Surviving are one son, Robert E. Opel, at home; three sisters, Mrs. Lydia Sweitzer, Swanton; Mrs. Minnie Hay, Berlin, Pa.; Mrs. Hulda Thornburg, North Carolina; two brothers, Homer Ash, Accident; and Robert Ash, Oakland.

Simon C. Opel was born June 17, 1913, in Accident. Surviving are a brother, Robert E. Opel; four half sisters, Mrs. Mary Brenneman, Accident; Mrs. Norma Markley, Anchorage, Alaska; Mrs. Verna Glotfelty, Mellenry; Mrs. Nelda Georg, Accident, two half brothers, Vernard Opel, Tunnelton, W. Va.; and Blaine Opel, Canton, Ohio.

The bodies were taken to the Stewart Funeral home where visiting hours were held Friday.

Funeral services will be conducted on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Glade Mennonite church with Rev. William Ferguson, Rev. Melvin Beiler officiating. Interment will be in the Glade Mennonite church cemetery. The bodies will be taken to the church one hour prior to the service.

Volunteers From All Over Accident Aid Storm Victims

Volunteers from all over Accident turned out to aid victims of the storm, even offering sleeping quarters and food in their own homes.

At least 300 persons spent Sunday night at the Accident fire hall, and 175 spent Monday night there. Civil Defense & Red Cross help also was made available in the form of blankets and other assistance. No heat was available at the fire hall except that from the gas cooking stove and a Coleman stove.

Local telephone service was out Sunday night, and when a fire occurred Monday morning at the Ken Sisler residence at the edge of Accident, two townwomen ran through the town yelling "fire". Firemen responded and doused the fire, which

Nineteen Holsteins Are Electrocuted

Nineteen adult Holstein cattle, belonging to Charles Enlow, along route 42, near Hoyes, were electrocuted sometime early Tuesday morning, it was learned from Dr. Paul Deal, veterinarian.

An electric power line was downed by the storm somewhere below the Enlow barn and it was assumed the current had traveled along the electric fence to the lot where the cattle were. The loss was placed at $13,600, some of the cattle being considered very productive.

The loss was partially covered by insurance of $500 on each head of cattle.

108 Deer Slain First Four Days Of Buck Season

Season Starts Lively Last Saturday But Weekend Storm Brings Hunters To Halt

Some four hundred eight bucks were slain the first four days of the 7-day buck season it was learned this morning from Harold Harmon.

There was a heavy turnout of hunters last Saturday, the first day of the season, but the weekend snowstorm dropped the next three day total to a minimum.

The number slain compared to 466 slain last year during the first four days.

With communications at a minimum, game officials had difficulty in getting an accurate count of the deer killed. They listed for Saturday and Monday totals 105 at Mt. Top Tire, 52 at Johnny's Bait House, 68 at Wait's in Mellenry; 129 at Hetz store in Grantsville and 22 at Savage River Inn, for 376.

Tuesday totals showed 13 for Mt. Top Tire, 1 for the Bait House, 1 for Walt's for a total of 15. Wednesday there were 8 at Mt. Top Tire, 1 at Johnny's Bait House, and eight at Hetz store in Grantsville, for a total of 17.

Largest deer reported had 18 points and weighed in at 170 pounds. It was killed by Allan Fratz, Accident and checked at the Bait House. Robert Crissey checked in a 170 pounder, 6-point buck at Grantsville. Richard Broadwater had an 11-point, 159 pounder and Neil Durst, rt. 2, Accident, registered one with 11 points and weighing 169 pounds.

The season will continue through today, Friday and Saturday.

Deer Park VFD Has Three Calls

Deer Park firemen responded to three calls during the past week, two were electrical fires in the Sky Valley area and one a trailer fire.

Last Wednesday afternoon, a bus converted into a camper-type trailer on Green Glade Road caught fire due to a faulty fuel oil stove.

The bus, and all contents, were a total loss for owner Dr. John Snyder, a professor of biology at Frostburg State College.

Sunday night there was a transformer fire near Sky Valley, and Monday night there was an electricial wire on fire near that area.

Four Transformers Burned Monday

In addition to housing quite a number of tourists who were stranded Sunday night and Monday at the Oakland fire hall, Oakland firemen were busy answering calls starting early Monday morning.

Most of the calls were the result of electric transformers.

At 1:45 a.m. a transformer was on fire on West Liberty street in Oakland.

At 9:30 a.m., another transformer was on fire at the corner of Oakland avenue and D street in Mt. Lake Park.

Firemen were called to the home of Gary Pennington at Table Rock, east of Red House, at 9:50. An electric line had fallen across a propane gas tank. There was no fire but all the fixtures in the house were blown out. Members of the Bayard fire company also answered this call.

At 10:30 a.m., another transformer was on fire on the O'Haver road, off the Fingerboard road, west of Oakland.

Massive Storm Causes Misery, Chaos In Area

Thousands Stranded; Power, Heat and Communications Fail In Many Areas; Roads Crews, Linesmen, Police, Firemen and Rescue Squads Work 'Round The Clock

The heaviest and most disastrous storm in several years buried the county and neighboring areas under some 50 inches of snow, closing schools, blocking county and state highways and stranding several hundred tourists who were returning to their homes following the Thanksgiving holiday. The county had not been completely cleared by today but businesses were operating.

The storm was accompanied by thunder and lightning. Civil Defense authorities estimated between 2,500 and 3,000 persons were stranded in Garrett and Allegany counties due to the storm.

Hundreds of stranded tourists were housed in various spots along U.S. routes 40 and 50, and along sections of U.S. 219. Ridge Tavern, west of Keyser Ridge, Keyser Ridge Service station, Grantsville fire hall, Route 40 school, and fire halls along U.S. 219 at Accident and Mellenry, and the Northern High school all were filled. The Oakland fire hall had 38 persons overnight Monday and farmed out ten more in private homes.

Electric lines of Potomac Edison were disrupted and various fires in transformers were extinguished where possible by fire companies. Electric current disruptions continued on into Wednesday for many areas. Telephone lines were affected as was the TV cable in Oakland.

The garage of the Garrett County Roads department at Oakland lost its electricity Sunday and was hard put to keep the county roads machinery in action. However, Paul DeWitt, administrative engineer for the roads department, said there was a minimum of breakdowns. His workers remained on duty for sixteen hours at a time, crews operating in continuous shifts.

Both east-west highways were still closed at times on Tuesday

SHROUDED SENTINELS on Garrett County Memorial Hospital grounds make a picturesque setting but show the weight of snow that blanketed the county. The hospital operated on emergency power supply during Sunday's partial blackout in Oakland caused by falling wires and overloaded transformers. Communications at the sheriff's office went out for several hours, although fire channels were operative by the various fire departments.

First National Bank Declares Dividend

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of The First National Bank of Oakland a dividend of $1.20 per share was declared to common stockholders of record December 2. The dividend was declared payable on January 2, 1975. The latest announcement raises to $2.30 the total dividends paid per share in 1974.

The declaration of $1.20 per share is the same as that paid in 1973 prior to a 25% stock dividend. Comparatively, the effect is the same as a 25% increase in cash dividends to those who held stock in 1973.

According to Courtney R. Tusing, President of the bank, the total cash dividend payout for 1974 will be $217,465.00. This compares to $149,500.00 cash payout in 1973.

600 Abandoned Cars Stop Snow Removal On Rt. 40

At least 600 cars were abandoned along Route 40 between Uniontown and Frostburg Sunday, and hundreds of stranded motorists were taken to fire halls and schools in nearby towns.

The abandoned cars kept State Highway equipment crews from clearing the roads, and Route 40 was closed to traffic from Sunday evening until Tuesday.

The general tieup occurred after Interstate 70 in Pennsylvania was closed at noon Sunday to vehicles without snow tires or chains, and these vehicles moved down to Route 40. Traffic was especially heavy with families homebound after the Thanksgiving holiday.

Those stranded drivers who did not prefer to stay with their cars were taken to Grantsville, Acci-

1,400 People Aided At Grantsville

Nearly 1400 people have been cared for at the Grantsville fire hall by firemen and members of Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad since Sunday.

Power in that town has also been off since Sunday.

EMT Allen C. Cutler, of the squad, contacted yesterday, said that the main effort now is to evacuate the ill and elderly from their unheated homes and bring them to the fire hall.

The squad and firemen have used four-wheel drive vehicles, ambulances and snowmobiles to accomplish the evacuation task. The squad has been on duty continuously since Sunday, when the emergency began.

Stranded motorists from Route 40 made up the bulk of those aided at the fire hall.

Cutler praised the untiring efforts of Dr. Dan Nofziger, the town's only physician, during the emergency.

Civil Defense, Red Cross Units Lend Helping Hands

Civil Defense and Red Cross units also marshalled their forces to help bring a measure of comfort to those hurt by the recent snowstorm which downed power lines and stranded motorists all over the area.

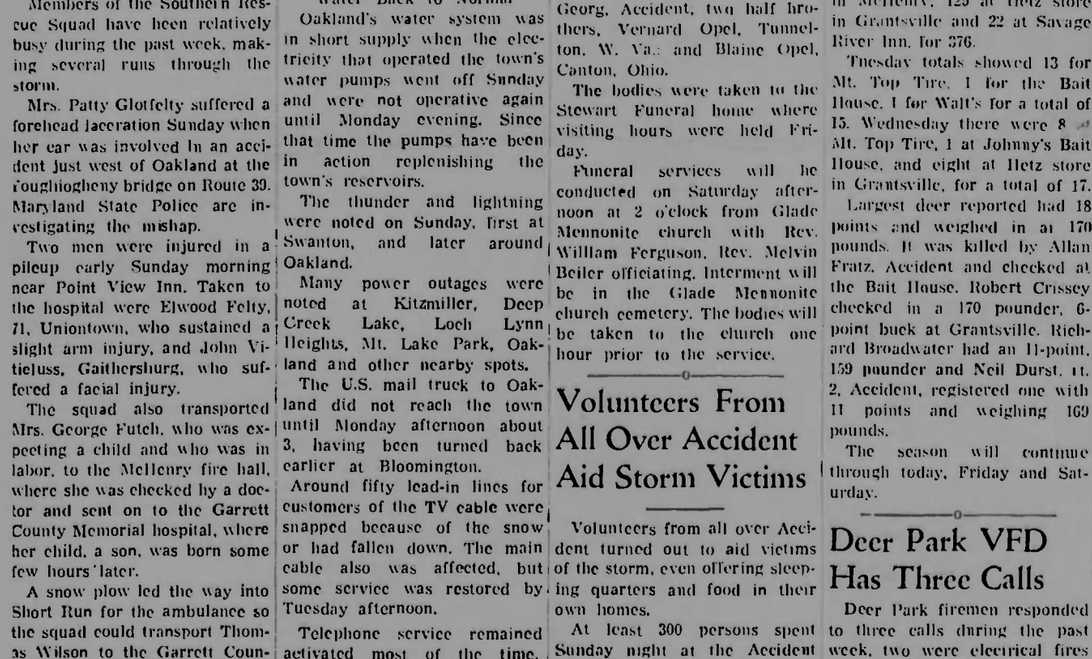
Loses Fingers

Ronald Michaels, 31 custodian at Southern High school, lost a thumb and the first two fingers of his left hand Monday while using a snow blower at the school grounds to clear out some drifts.

He was taken to the Garrett County Memorial hospital, where he was listed in "satisfactory" condition on Tuesday afternoon.



A SNOWY RECEPTION and a day late were members of the Southern Highlander marching band returning to Oakland Monday after a nationwide television performance in Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York City. The musicians and chaperones were stranded in Cumberland Sunday evening because of bad roads. They were originally scheduled to stay at the Holiday Inn in Cumberland but on arrival found "no room in the inn". Thanks to the Salvation Army, the band spent the night on the gymnasium floor. Allegany County School Buses brought them from Cumberland to Oakland Monday, arriving here at 2 p.m.

A 60-YEAR OLD CATALPA TREE bent and finally broke under the 30-inch blanket of snow which also covered the automobile in the foreground. Routes 40, 50, 39, 135, 495 and 560 were blocked at times during the storm. Cars couldn't move because of the cars. One-way traffic was resumed on Route 40 Tuesday.

Precautions Are Advised By Health Department Here

The Health Department announces the following precautions to preserve health under the present adverse conditions.

In areas where the usual water supply has been interrupted and water from temporary sources is being utilized disinfection by either boiling or adding five drops of regular household bleach per gallon of water is necessary to render the water safe for human consumption.

Frozen foods once thawed should not be refrozen for later use. Foods which have thawed should either be consumed within a short period of time or discarded.

Also many county residents have turned to local dairy farms to obtain raw milk. It is warned that raw milk carries a high bacteria count and has not been pasteurized for safe human consumption. The high bacteria count is accentuated by hand milking and lack of safe storage under the present conditions.

If there are any questions concerning these problems persons may call Environmental Health Section, Garrett County Health Department.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our husband and father, Mitchell Rush, who passed away a year ago December 4, 1973.

All the days since you've been gone have been lonely, but today is the saddest, for on this day a year ago you were taken away from us, dad, your favorite chair is still empty and never will be filled. What it meant to lose you no one will ever know. For time so far has only proven how much we miss and loved you, your memory will always last.

Sadly missed by his wife and daughters.

U.S. 40 Continues As Storm Problem

U.S. Route 40 in the Grantsville area, continued to be the biggest storm problem for State Highway administration crews Tuesday night and Wednesday, while most other highways in the county were open to at least one-way traffic.

There was a light snowfall which continued to drift Tuesday night and Wednesday. State police on Tuesday and Wednesday were still keeping the highway closed to normal traffic. Some 60 men, many of them from other counties and 44 pieces of equipment were on the roads in Allegany county and Garrett county had 52 men and 33 pieces of equipment working.

There was one-way traffic on U.S. route 219, north and south and on state route 495.

The Pennsylvania Electric said 15 sections of line were down in one transmission line running from Rockwood, Pa., to Deep Creek. Repair crews were hampered by deep drifts. The company used helicopters, snowmobiles and four whee' drive vehicles to get to isolated trouble spots.

Potomac Edison company crews were aided by crews from Winchester, Frederick Hagerstown and other areas.

REWARD

The Mayor and Town Council of Deer Park will pay a reward of $100.00 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone damaging the property of the Town or any Public Buildings in the Town.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dream Come True!

Dear Sir:

It is impossible to put into words the deep feeling of pride and happiness experienced by Garrett County citizens on Thanksgiving Day at the sight of fellow Garrett Countians performing on national television. We refer of course to the Southern Highlander Marching Band. It was more than just a spectacle, it was an actual emotion.

When Mr. Richard Clever arrived at Southern High School as the new band director, one of the first major goals he made for the band was to go to Macy's Christmas parade some day. When he made the statement most people just laughed. The Southern Highlander band was lucky to get out of Oakland, let alone going all the way to New York and national television.

Since that day the band has gone nowhere but UP. After a few first places and superior ratings in area parades, the band students slowly began to realize that maybe they could become a championship band. The public then began to take a greater interest. Apathy converted to enthusiasm. Perhaps Macy's WAS a possibility. Today, just eight short years later, it is difficult to list all the awards, victories, and achievements that the band has earned. Mr. Clever, in my opinion, was solely responsible for the initiation and continuation of this enthusiasm and hard work.

Besides Mr. Clever, the band members deserve much credit for their great success. Many hours, including after school, weekend and summer hours of hard work were spent on perfecting their presentation. These young people didn't want to be just good, they wanted to be the best!

Also, appreciation should go out to the many parents, local businesses, and individuals who have put in time and money in support of the band.

Indeed it is quite an accomplishment to go from performing in front of a few thousand spectators to performing in front of an estimated 80 million persons. Mr. Clever says he wants to go to the Orange Bowl next. Nobody is laughing.

Storm Causes

bot U.S route 219 was opened to traffic on Monday and roads were bare in spots. In many areas the plows were unable to function properly because of traffic congestion as the result of stalled vehicles. West Virginia route 7 was closed for a time on Tuesday when an electric pole fell across the highway.

Traffic on State route 135, from Bloomington to Oakland, remained operative most of the time during the storm.

Schools were closed on Monday Tuesday and Wednesday, and many business places closed down entirely or worked on a minimum basis Many meetings were cancelled. Classes at Garrett Community college were suspended on Monday and Tuesday

Road crews of the State Roads commission also worked around the clock in an effort to keep the main arteries open. All offices in the Court House in Oakland were closed Monday with the exception of that of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit Court. District Court was open Monday for a short time and also on Tuesday. District Court cases were postponed both days. Bausch and Lomb and IBM cancelled several shifts

Lack of power caused much inconvenience at private homes. Brenda Harvey county roads secretary residing on the Oakland-Sang Run road, was out of power since Sunday. Likewise the home of Betty Barrick, Kitzmiller, also a roads secretary. Many other homes were without current for forty-eight hours or longer

The mercury hovered around the 30-degree mark during the storm Drifting occurred on Tuesday with several inches of additional snow having fallen Monday night. Winds of about 30 miles per hour kept the snow drifting on Toesday.

The storm was triggered by an intense low pressure system over the area which had moved out from Texas, according to National Weather persons

Band Marooned

The Southern High band, returning from a Thanksgiving Day parade in New York City was stranded in Cumberland and spent the night at the Salvation Army headquarters. They were brought to Oakland on Monday afternoon by four school buses.

The Snow Emergency plan went into effect early Sunday morning and remained in effect through Wednesday.

The county sheriff's office lost its electric current sometime Sonday disrupting the communications system, and at one time the fire department, were the only units able to communicate with each other.

Sidelights

way traffic was established Mr. and Mrs. Clyde VanSickle and members of the Friendsville fire department went up there with food. Some of these people later were housed at Northern High school, and the Oakland fire hall. People had forced entry to the tavern, being closed on Sunday in order to get out of the storm.

The Grantsville fire hall was crammed with stranded tourists on Sunday and Monday. Highways were difficult to plow open because of the many autos abandoned in the middle of the highway.

Appreciates Hospitality

Most every stranded tourist appreciated the accommodations and hospitality given dorng the storm, but especially Mrs. Sarah Kroston, and sister Isabel, of Sterling, Va., who were housed at Keyser Ridge Service station during the emergency by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dale, proprietors. She said at least one hundred other persons were there also and all were given food and coffee, some of it from Friendsville persons. They left Tuesday morning and called The Republican office to express their appreciation for all kindnesses.

It has been noted that many persons followed the suggestion of putting on tire chains, even over snow tires. It was said snow tires slipped and spun just like plain treads in many cases, in the soft base of the snow.

Use Generators

Four C&P offices in this county were using emergency generators Monday night to power equipment because of the outages of electricity in the area. Offices at Accident, Friendsville and Bittinger had generators in ose throughout Monday and the office at Kitzmiller received a generator late Monday.

Some 300 telephone customers in the two counties were without services Monday because of dropped wires, etc.

Cattle Need Water

Farmers in a number of areas are frantic because they have been unable to provide water for their cattle with the electric current not being available since Sunday.

A farmer in the Friendsville area had 200 head of cattle that had not received drinking water since Sunday. Another farmer had 140 cattle also without water.

The area around Friendsville and the town itself have been without current since Sunday.

The A. D. Naylor company has been swamped with calls asking for generators

Called To Assist

Civil Defense personnel, Maryland State Police and the National Guardsmen, all aided in getting food to stranded motorists. It was some time Monday evening before persons were able to get through to the Grantsville fire hall where 400 to 500 persons had been bedded down. Some 300 to 400 were stranded at the Happy Hills restaurant, east of Grantsville, and there were also some 300 to 400 at the route 40 elementary school. Three buses were reported stranded near Happy Hills during the storm.

As a good neighbor act, firemen from Accident shoveled around the vents of trailers in Joseph Brenneman's trailer park so that the smoke would not back up into the homes and cause fires.

It was reported that one trailer roof had collapsed from the weight of the snow.

The Civil Defense manned a control center 24 hours a day beginning at 7 p.m. Sunday, accepting calls for food, aid and information from troubled families. On Tuesday, they assisted in clearing the National Guard Armory in Oakland for use by those deprived of heat and cooking facilities by the storm.

The Civil Defense was also instrumental in getting a load of 300 blankets from Hagerstown, through transport by the Hagerstown National Guard. Blankets were distributed Monday on request to fire halls or other places refugees were staying. Some blankets are still available according to George Comp, local C. D director.

The local Red Cross chapter, headed by Mrs. Bill (Norma) Hesen, Oakland, has been given permission by National Red Cross headquarters to pay for the food used by the fire halls and schools in feeding the stranded and those left without cooking facilities by the storm.

Early estimates of the cost of the food have been set at $3,000, including the cost of supplies osed at the Oakland Armory, where people were being housed.

She said there were just two people at Deep Creek fire hall last night, and a family of seven at the armory.

dent, and McHenry fire halls; Route 40, Grantsville Northern High and Accident schools. Among those who chose to wait it out in their cars was a man, his wife, their three children and a Boxer dog, all in a G.T.O.

During the emergency, equipment was brought in from all over the state. As of Wednesday, state roads were declared open and the SHA equipment had begun helping clear county roads.

Bernard Evans, State Highways Administrator, was in Garrett County Tuesday, and said he found the snow removal plan in the county very satisfactory.

Volunteers

began when fire from a fireplace started to burn through the floor.

Three doctors and a nurse were stranded at the fire hall, and their help was appreciated when one man suffered an attack of angina pectris.

Electricity had been restored yesterday in the town of Accident but the Cove and Brethren Church areas remained without power. Efforts were being made by the firemen and their wives to contact those without power and tell them of the facilities availabel at the fire hall.

Food for the stranded were supplied by Matthews Store, the Accident elementary school and W. H. Fratz.

Stranded People Find Shelter At Deep Creek VFD

People from as far away as Colorado have been stranded in the Deep Creek Lake area and have been staying at the Deep Creek Volunteer fire company fire hall.

An estimated 200 stranded persons were at the hall Sunday night, and were supplied with food and a place to sleep.

Monday night an estimated 75 persons stayed at the facility, and Tuesday night there were approximately 25 persons there, before firemen reached the scene.

Firemen of that company have been on duty continuously since Sunday morning at the fire hall, and have answered eight fire calls in addition to keeping "open house" for those in need of food and shelter The majority of the fire calls with the exception of the Opel fire near Bittinger, were to flue or pole fires, and most were out before firemen reached the scene.

EVERGREENS? Not when 30 inches of snow comes sifting down into Garrett County. This scene on Sunnyside Road is one of many such sights following the Sunday storm which crippled traffic and broke lines of communication and power. Many trees also broke or bent under the heavy weight of snow.

Garrett Hospital Accredited Again

The Garrett County Memorial Hospital has been accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals according to a joint announcement by Dr. James H. Feaster, Jr., president of the medical and dental staff, and Merritt H. Feather, hospital administrator

The accreditation which covers from 1974 to 1976 is the result of an on-site survey made by field representatives of the Joint Commission's hospital accreditation program Accreditation indicates that his facility has chosen to operate according to standards set by the Joint Commission and that the facility has met these standards

Garrett County Memorial Hospital is one of approximately 5,300 general hospitals throughout the United States that have earned this recognition. There are approximately 7,400 hospitals in the U.S

The Joint Commission's accreditation surveys are voluntary It is not legally necessary for a hospital to be accredited, but health care facilities have sought accreditation because it represents a benchmark of quality that is higher than governmental licensure alone, Mr. Feather said The chief aim of the Hospital Accreditation Program is to help hospitals in their pursuit of excellence and thereby provide a higher quality of care to patients The program also seeks to recognize, and to identify for the public, those facilities which meet its standards, he added

The Joint Commission is a Chicago based, non-governmental, not-for-profit organization In addition to hospitals, it has programs for the accreditation of long term care facilities, psychiatric facilities, and facilities for the mentally retarded

American Freedom and Christian Responsibility

By Rev. W. H. Leake, Deer Park, Md.

WISHING YOU A REAL CHRISTMAS! Have you ever thought what a REAL Christmas would be like? There will be many this year in all parts of the world who will push aside the surface gaiety, the tinsel and the often meaningless gift-giving and will find and enter into the real meaning of Christmas.

The real meaning of Christmas is found in a Person. Oh it is true that the world thinks of this glorious Person as a tender little Babe born in a manger! At each Christmas time the wonderful stories of the angelic choir, the wise men from afar and the gifts presented to the Babe are always recalled. But upon how few does the glorious light dawn that this Child was none other than God the Creator who was from the beginning and who clothed Himself in a human body prepared for Him that He might make known the thoughts of God to men?

It is an historical fact that this same Lord Jesus who came as a Babe went back to Heaven and the Father's house by way of Calvary where "He bore our sins in His own body on the tree." And just now, at this moment, He is the living Saviour in Heaven who communicates to us by His precious Word, the Holy Scriptures, by His Spirit.

Why not have the real Christmas message come true in your own heart and life this Christmas season? In the Person of the Lord Jesus Christ, God offers you the reality of life abundant and life eternal here and now This is His promise: "As many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on His Name" (John 1:12). So may yours be a REAL Christmas.

The above by C. H. Dennis

Remember: JESUS IS COMING AGAIN, NOT AS A BABE THIS TIME BUT AS KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS. WHAT IF IT SHOULD BE THIS CHRISTMAS

AAUW Members To Hear Christmas Program

Members of Garrett Branch, American Association of University Women will meet Tuesday evening, December 9, at 7:30 o'clock, at the planetarium on Green street in Oakland.

A special Christmas program will be presented by Wesley Lovelace, science teacher for the County Board of Education. Mr. Lovelace will use slides and music in presenting the sky from the time of Jesus's birth to the present.

The program is open to the public. Refreshments will be served. Committee on arrangements includes Mrs. John Marple, Mrs. George Hanst, Mrs. William Stemple, Mrs. James Hutchinson and Mrs. R. C. McComas.

The AAUW president announced that the organization has again secured the Bob Laughlin Singers from Pittsburgh to appear in Oakland on Saturday, April 5. There will be 75 to 100 in the group.

Its purpose is two fold, to help with the scholarship fund for Garrett county students, and to bring a cultural program to the community.

Elected Officials Get Commissions

Commissions for eleven elected county officials were received in the Office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit Court this week.

All were approved by the voters at elections held November 5. Governor Marvin Mandel signed the Commissions November 18, of the following for four-year terms: Richard L. Davis, Clerk of the Circuit Court, effective November 5; Joseph H. Welch, Register of Wills, effective, November 5; Ralph M. Burnett, State's Attorney, effective January 6, 1975, Wayne B. Hamilton, George Clayton Edwards, and Don S. Bender County Commissioners, no effective date noted; Mrs. Arzella T. Limmger Fisher.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Josephine Frantz Fisher; two daughters, Mrs. Jo Ann Robinson, Friendsville; Mrs. Linda Edwards, Grantsville; one brother, Eugene Fisher, Akron, O.; seven sisters, Mrs. Mary Alice Bowser, Cuyahoga Falls, O.; Mrs. Clara Ewing, Hopwood, Pa.; Mrs. Edna Hamilton, Fairmont, W. Va.; Mrs. Grace Glotfelty and Mrs. Marie Grossman, both Connellsville, Pa., Mrs. Verna Jenkins, Uniontown, Pa.; and Mrs. Trema Bowser, Listonburg, Pa.; and four grandchildren.

The body was taken to the Newman Funeral home in Friendsville. Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the funeral home with Rev. Brian Schofield officiating. Interment was in Addison cemetery. A Masonic memorial service was conducted at the funeral home on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

The family requested that memorials take the form of contributions to the Selbysport United Methodist church memorial fund.

Both November, December Exceed Normal Snowfall

November exceeded its normal snowfall by 3.4 inches and December has already more than doubled its normal fall by 2.2 inches. Temperatures for the first four days of December are about three degrees below normal whereas November was just one tenth degree below normal. Mercury stood at one degree this morning and skies were clear.

Temperatures for the week averaged 27.4 or 7.3 degrees below normal. Highs averaged 35.5 degrees and lows, 19.3 degrees. The highest was last Thursday with 39 degrees. The lowest was this morning with one degree above zero.

Commissioners To Assume Duties Early Next Week

Commissions for the three County Commissioners were received in the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit Court this week, but due to storm interruptions, the swearing-in ecremony will probably not be held before next Monday.

Two new commissioners, Don S. Bender, Kitzmiller; and George C. Edwards, Grantsville; along with Wayne B. Hamilton, re-elected, will be taking over the reins for the next four years.

One of the first items of business, once the new board is sworn in, will be the selection of a chairman. Mr. Hamilton, a Democrat, has been chairman of the current board for the past four years.

Mr. Bender, who returned to his native Kitzmiller in 1969 after serving for 27 years as a District of Columbia fire fighter, said he had no priority items at this point. Mr. Edwards, a school teacher at Northern, will resign that job in the near future to devote full time to the commissioner duties.

Both probably will attend an orientation conference for new officials by the Maryland Association of Counties in College Park on December 12 and 13.

Mr. Hamilton said legislative items which they would like to see the General Assembly approve include an assurance of funds for construction of a new Savage River bridge; lifting the county ceiling on purchase of new equipment, changes in the dog law.

The present dog law provides for no reimbursement on the part of a dog owner in the event that dog kills sheep or cattle.

Of importance during the new General Assembly session will be the state's land use legislation.

Attend VFW District Meet

Commander James Weeks and three other members of Post 10077 Veterans of Foreign Wars, Arlie Breedlove, W. Deckman and Delmar Dilley, attended the Maryland VFW third district meeting in the Old Rail VFW Post 6025 at Mt. Savage Sunday, November 24.

Mr. Weeks announced there would be a meeting of the Oakland Post this Sunday, December 8, at 2 p.m., in the National Guard Armory in Oakland. The club now has an increase of 25 percent in membership over 1974, he said. Lunch will be served.

State officers and members of other VFW clubs will be in attendance. Veterans eligible to join also are invited to stop for further information.

Insurance FACTS

Guaranteed renewable contracts guarantee the policy-holder's right to renew the insurance he holds, usually to the age of 65. During the contract period, the company can not change any provisions of the policy except the premium rate for a general class of insureds. This means that individual rates can not be changed arbitrarily, but a rate can be changed for a general class of risks. A guaranteed renewable policy will generally be a little cheaper than a non-cancellable policy. The above of course applies to health and accident insurances.

At GONDER'S INSURANCE AGENCY, 203-205 S. 2nd St., Oakland, 334-3343, we carry every type of insurance you may need, including life, health, accident, homeowners, auto, boat, mobile homes, motorcycles, commercial insurance, etc. Please feel free to call us anytime for information regarding insurance — we have the professionalism and courtesy you desire in an insurance agency.

Column For Homemakers

By Mrs. Freda Denison Extension Agent

Little Packages With Big Punch

Dry beans and dry peas, two small food products with plenty of protein power, are good menu considerations now. Marketing specialists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service say that dry beans and peas will be plentiful.

The dry pea crop has been harvested and is more than double last year's crop; dry bean harvesting is close to completion and is expected to be more than 31% higher than last year's crop.

Prices paid to growers of dry peas have declined about 70 percent from their peak of last March; dry bean prices to growers have fallen about 50% from the peak last March.

These foods are an excellent source of protein and can serve as a partial substitute for other higher priced foods. When combined with animal protein — milk, cheese meat, or fish — they make a more completely balanced protein. Protein is high energy food with all the body-building values for growth and health.

Budget-minded buyers favor them for these reasons as well as for their food-extender possibilities. They combine well for a protein power-team in such dishes as chili, and split pea soup prepared with ham hocks or frankfurters.

Easy storage is another advantage. Once the original package is opened, they should be stored in tightly covered containers in a dry, cool place where temperatures range from 50-70 degrees Fahrenheit. They will keep their quality for several months.

Some of the varieties of beans available for varied menu planning include black beans, blackeye beans, Garbanzo beans (chick peas), Great Northern beans, kidney beans, lima beans, navy beans, pintos, red, and pink beans. Dry peas available are green and yellow peas, split or whole.

Ways and means of using them in hearty, zesty meals make them worth their weight in protein.

One of the greatest of all sports today in this country, fishing, was thought to be a stern duty by early colonists who would not openly admit that they enjoyed it. Fishing and hunting too, for that matter were not to be thought of in any other way or manner than a means to an end. The origin of American sports plus hundreds of interesting sidelights and personal experiences of world-renowned athletes of our time and generations gone by will make for a wealth of informative topics, which will appear in this column regularly. At that time the first edition of Parallax, first news publication produced by Vail Mountain School was delivered.

The effort was a half tab format consisting of 8 pages complete with photographs and five column news style layout. Credit for the first and successive editions was given to Marilyn, daughter of C. W. Englander.

A graduate of Southern High school she also was graduated from Radcliffe college in 1973 with a degree in French.

Throughout her final years in high school and in college Miss Englander traveled throughout several parts of the world, including Mexico and France. At the latter country she was part of an experiment in International living and worked as a volunteer in an orphanage in Bolivia for a summer in 1969. Her junior year in college was spent studying in Paris.

Following graduation Miss Englander held positions with two publishing houses on the East coast. At Schenkman publishing house she was editor and at Godino publishing house in Boston she was head of publicity and author relations.

She was attracted to the Western United States after a skiing trip to Jackson, Wyo., with her father.

Miss Englander termed the school newspaper is to interest the students in writing and giving them a concrete reason for being able to write well.

A write-up and a photograph of Marilyn appeared in the November 8 issue of the Vail Trail, at Vail, Col.

Annual Bird Count Set December 15

The annual December bird count, sponsored by the National Audubon Society, has been scheduled for midnight to midnight Sunday, December 15.

Spearheading the count again this year are Dr. and Mrs. William Pope. Anyone interested in counting bird species and numbers should contact Mrs. Pope for further information and changes in feed schedules.

The count area centers at McHenry and comprises a circle some 15 miles in diameter. The circle includes Crabtreeville Swamp, Bittinger, Bear Creek, Swallow Falls and Mt. Nebo.

Results will be published in the National Audubon magazine.

This year, Mrs. Pope is making an appeal to hunters and woodsmen familiar with the count area to let her know if turkeys and ruffed grouse may be found there, and if so, where.

Friendsville Has No Power Since 10 AM Sunday

The town of Friendsville and its surrounding areas have been without power since 10 am Sunday, and so far no trucks from either the Potomac Edison Company or the Rural Electrification Administration have been seen in the area, according to Clyde VanSickle, president of the local fire company.

A generator is being used in the Friendsville fire hall to heat the building for those who are without heat in their homes. Hot food, especially soups and coffee, is being offered to anyone in need and space is available for those who need a warm place to sleep.

The ladies' auxiliary has been preparing food, and the ambulance from the Friendsville fire company had delivered foods and coffee to stranded motorists along Route 40.

The ambulance also made three rescue runs, one to take Don Hostetler to Morgantown Tuesday; one to transport Dorsey Guard to the Oakland hospital after he suffered a broken hip in a fall; and one to the scene of an accident where a car operated by Rex Schmidt had slid into Mill Run.

Many people whose freezers have defrosted are donating the foods to the fire hall.

Sunday evening hot cakes and sausages were taken to the state troopers and men pumping gas along Route 40.

Firemen were called to two fires, both at transformers. The power company had already responded and had under control one at Elder Hill, and firemen doused the one near Muddleysburg.

Signs have been placed all over town notifying the area residents that hot food is available at the fire house.

Winter Vacation Areas Abound In Garrett County

From the first week in December to mid-March, Garrett county is Maryland's winter vacationland, as also for parts of Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Center of skiing activities is the Wisp Ski area, located at Deep Creek Lake, near McHenry, with 12 miles of slopes and trails and a vertical drop of 610 feet. Challenges are provided for beginner, intermediates and advanced skiers. A double chairlift, poma lift, T-bar and two rope tows along with modern grooming and snow making equipment contributing to make the Wisp one of the best resorts in the region.

Featured at the base of the ski slope are accommodations, restaurants, indoor recreation and nightly entertainment.

Snowmobiling is one of the most popular winter sports. The county offers a number of marked snowmobiles trails in the various state parks. Highlight of the snowmobile season is the Maryland State Governor's Cup race on January 19, at the McHenry fairgrounds. Snowmobiling races are also planned at the fairgrounds for January 5.

A new activity is cross country skiing. New Germany state park, near Grantsville, is center for the new sport. There are several marked trails and loops several miles in length for the cross country skiing enthusiast.

A feature of the winter is the annual Deep Creek Lake Winterfest. Sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake Lions club, this season's Winterfest is scheduled for February 28 through March 2. Appearing will be the Budweiser Clydesdale eight horse hitch. A number of skiing events, exhibitions and activities are also being planned.

The county also offers a wide range of other winter activities from ice fishing to ice skating.

GETS NICE BUCK — Harold Harsh, Oakland, was successful in bagging a nine-point, 147-pound buck at Red House on Saturday, the first day of the open season.

Grantsville Grades Have Career Day

Career Education Day for the students in the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades at Grantsville Elementary school, was organized by Miss Doris Opel, senior student at Frostburg State college. Miss Opel is a student teacher at Grantsville. The program was held October 23.

Each student selected three occupations from a list of 23 which they wanted to learn more about. Parents of the students and residents of the area represented the various occupations:

Miss Kay Durst, hair dresser; Mrs. Linda Bittinger, secretary; Miss Ada Welch, florist; Miss Alice Hevner, home economist; Del Carpenter, repairman; Robert Bittinger, contractor; James Wilburn, park ranger; Eli Yoder, butcher; Brad Stewart, funeral director; Terry King, radio announcer; Dave Jones, mine operator; Mrs. Louise McKenzie, banker; Mrs. Bruce Brenneman, store owner; Miss Miriam Brenneman, nurse; Mrs. Margaret Harshburger, insurance agent; Mrs. Leora Yaste, social service agent; Ira Yaste, fireman; Mrs. Nancy Watkins, postmaster; Robert Miller, trucker; Harley Brenneman, farmer; Fred A. Thayer, attorney; Rev. William Ferguson clergyman; Gary Yoder, professor.

Students spent an entire afternoon listening to and asking questions of these career people.

As a pre-assignment each student wrote an essay, "What I Want to Be," and as a post assignment they wrote thank you notes to the participants, and stories about the career day. Third graders planned a tour of the Oakland radio station as a follow-up activity.

Miss Opel is student teaching under Miss Claudine Opel, in the third grade. She will be graduated in December of this year. Upon graduation from Garrett Community college in 1973, she entered Frostburg, majoring in elementary education.

St. John wasn't his last name—that was French and usually mispronounced. But around Cape Cod, he was known simply as St. John, after his home town in Canada.

His appearance seemed far from saintly. Yet it never seemed awkward calling him that. He loved people. He loved the sea. He loved hard work. Most importantly, he loved his church and God. And his enthusiasm was contagious—somehow you felt better after you'd been with St. John.

It's refreshing and exciting to run into someone who tries hard to put his religion into living and working.

Remember that, Sunday and every day. Then folks might feel that same excitement when they run into you and me. That's something to strive for.

Does the name make a difference?

ON BEING PREPARED

Lesson for December 8, 1974

Background Scripture: Malachi 3:1-4; Matthew 3:1-12; John 1:6-8, 19-28.
Devotional Reading: Luke 1:68-79.

The other day a little dog chased my car for about a block before he gave up the pursuit. Two thoughts struck me as I observed the intensity of this canine. For one thing, it was something I hadn't experienced for a long time. (When I was a boy it seemed dogs chased cars almost every day.) Secondly, I couldn't help wondering what the little dog would do if he "caught" me and my car!

Rev. Althouse

The Kingdom is at hand!

Of course that's a problem that does share with people: we often seem ill prepared to deal with our heart's desire when we get it! We can become so engrossed in the "chase," that we are quite unprepared for the "catch."

This was certainly implicit in the preaching of John the Baptist when he came proclaiming: "the kingdom of heaven is at hand." For many centuries the people of Israel had looked ernestly for the promised kingdom of God. Now, John the Baptist was proclaiming, the kingdom was close at hand and the focus must pass from "chase" to "catch."

John's concern was to prepare the people for this kingdom so close at hand. It was not enough that they should have waited so long for it, but that they should be ready for it. Thus his role was, as he quoted from the Prophet Isaish, that of a "voice crying in the wilderness: Prepare the way of the Lord . . ." (Matthew 3:3).

The fruit of repentance

The question some raised was that of how a person should be prepared for the coming of God's kingdom. John answered this question with one negative and two positive requirements.

First of all, John made it quite clear that being a Jew or even a scribe or Pharisee was not adequate preparation for God's kingdom. In other words one would not be adequately prepared for the kingdom by simply being a member of the right religious group. No one could feel prepared simply because he could boast: "We have Abraham as our father" (3:9).

Secondly, proper preparation in the positive sense meant repentance. With the kingdom there was judgement. One could not be properly prepared for the kingdom without a wholesale moral housecleaning. Before a person can qualify, he must first acknowledge that he does not qualify.

Finally, the repentant response must go far beyond verbalized good intentions: "Bear fruit that befits repentance . . ." (3:8). Much more than what people said about their faith, John was concerned with what they did about it. The fruits are much more important than the claims we make.

John's challenge is still with us in this Advent season: ". . . the kingdom of heaven is at hand." And once again the key to that challenge is found in being truly "prepared"!

Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks:

I read where Congress approved over $2 billion for energy research. What is this money going to be used for?

Several months ago, the House of Representatives passed a bill appropriating $23 billion for federal energy research and development programs. About two-thirds of the total recommended funds would go for the Atomic Energy Commissions' nuclear power program and about one-fourth of the total was earmarked for the Department of the Interior. Major emphasis was on increased exploitation of the nation's abundant coal resources, particularly improvement in the technology for extracting synthetic oil and natural gas from coal.

Have social security benefit increases in recent years kept up with benefit increases of the past?

Social Security benefits were increased 20 percent in the 1950's, 20 percent in the 1960's and, counting the 11 percent boost this year, already 56 percent in the 1970's.

In light of the high cost of food, several families in our area have decided to grow their own vegetables next year. I'm wondering, are there any government publications on this subject, you could send us?

Yes. The agriculture Department has several booklets which might be of interest to you including its bestseller, "Growing Vegetables in the Home Garden." If you don't have room for a full-fledged garden, you'll find instructions for growing vegetables in windowsills, on balconies or patios in a 12-page guide called "Minigardens for Vegetables". Copies of the Consumer Information Index which included ordering instructions for these two booklets, and dozens of other gardening publications, is available free from my office here in Washington.

What deficit costs are estimated for oil imports over the next ten years?

A study prepared by the Congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy cites projections of $14 billion in deficit costs for oil imports in 1975, $30 billion by 1980 and $54 billion by 1985. These figures, however, are quite conservative since the report was issued prior to the Arab embargo and the subsequent price increases recently declared by the Middle East oil producing countries.

How did you vote earlier this year on the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and also the busing amendment to that bill?

I supported passage of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act including an amendment to prohibit any appropriated funds from being used for busing to achieve school desegregation. The amendment passed the House 239-168 and the entire bill extending the Education Act through fiscal 1977 passed 380-26.

CERTIFICATION OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

I hereby certify that the figures given in this report are true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief, and that they can be verified from the records of the Garrett County Board of Education.

(Sgd.) William H. Buser
County Superintendent of Schools

AUDITOR'S STATEMENT

We have examined the statements of receipts collected and expenses disbursed and related cash accounts of the Garrett County Board of Education for the year ended June 30, 1974. We converted the accounts from a cash basis to an accrual basis for statement purposes. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary under the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements and exhibits fairly present the Garrett County Board of Education's position at June 30, 1974, and income collected and expenses disbursed by the Board of Education for the year then ended on an accrual basis.

Respectfully submitted,
(Sgd.) George McLaughlin

Things You've Always Wanted

Being unique creatures, we each have stacked away in our mental closet a set of wishes which may not coincide at all with what others would wish for us. One lady I know, has at last achieved one secret dream, that of working in a store. Another lady, from Grantsville, is known to have remarked that she would be willing to do her work as librarian without pay. What have YOU always wanted?

In fantasies and longings we see our subconscious selves, so what our unfulfilled desires are tells about our real spirits. What is there about a fastback roofline, engineer boots, a picture window, or a western hat that give each thing its importance? Is it what sets us apart or makes us the same as the common herd? Perhaps it all hinges on one's opportunities, status in life, and our closely held image of self, this thing nestled in the unmolested corner of our heart. Evelyn Waugh has put it profoundly, "Perhaps all our loves are merely hints or symbols," and Marcus Aurelius, in early writings, observed that "the true worth of a man is measured by the objects he pursues."

Each person's personality has great depth, so seldom is one able to really plumb the true, unmasked hope of another. We often do not say much about enveloping aspirations, but they nevertheless are present until some spark kindles a tiny straw to enflame the bundle, and out comes evidence in what is said or done. I am reminded of a calm Finzel gentleman who has always wanted a motorcycle, and perhaps even now compromises with observing the ones which are so accepted at this time. And then there is the Cumberland man who has lost his irretrievable desire to ride up the 17 Mile Grade at Westernport. Now, if I were a railroad executive, I would request a special steam locomotive, and on we would go!

A very rare instance may be meeting someone who has attained a life goal and will elaborate on it. You, as the audience, have only the person's joy to share; you do not need to express anything. A doctor tells that he always knew he would go to med school, or the forester speaks of a childhood spent in his father's woods, then adds of his work "That's all I ever wanted to be."

One happy windfall came to me on a summer day at the strip mining site on the Stone House Farm at Grantsville. A pick-up truck came through the field, and there was Frank Warnick. Together we bridged the stream across old planks and found the few legible tombstones in the Tomlinson cemetery. Even though we failed to note the grave of a single English soldier, this exploration culminated many years of waiting to get to this spot. Mr. Warnick had over thirty years of appreciation heaped on him at one time.

One more escapade in this author's dreams is to go on the muleback trip to the bottom of the Grand Canyon. Those Havasupais may not care to see me, but some morning at 5 a.m. I hope to get astride a beast who will be the vehicle of fulfilling this foolish but ardent desire. And when this is finally accomplished, there had better be a camera near, for I will not leave before having my evidence, a picture to send to the editor, with a full account, for his front page.

Mr. Farmer...

TIME TO LIME

This is the time of year for you to be thinking about liming your fields ... by applying mag lime now, your soil will be neutralized by spring and ready to go to work. Soil in this area has a high acid content, and it's necessary to apply mag lime to reduce this excess acidity ... in addition by using the proper amount of lime ... you save money ... by using less fertilizer.

Let ROBERT H. MILLER TRUCKING spread your fields with lime this fall, when fields are solid enough ... and when the trucks aren't nearly as busy as they will be next spring ... so don't wait until the last minute ... you can arrange to have Robert Miller spread your fields with lime by contacting your local Agway Store or representative ...

Former Md. Extension Worker Nominated For National Honor

"I'll be glad to'" is the creed that has made Dorothy Emerson a special person to hundreds of thousands of people all across the nation.

"Few persons have contributed so much to developing leadership potential in youth and adults" said the recognition committee when submitting her name for the Ruby award presented annually by Epsilon Sigma Phi. This national honorary fraternity of Cooperative Extension Service workers at land-grant universities honors one of its members each year

Tau chapter (Maryland) has nominated two national winners in the past four years. In 1971 Dr. Edward W. Allen, former director of the Cooperative Extension Service at the University of Maryland, in College Park, was elected to receive this award of the national fraternity — on the basis of one vote per state Both he and Miss Emerson are residents in Leisure World at Silver Spring (Montgomery county)

For Miss Emerson, this award is only the most recent in a long list of honors that have come to her throughout an illustrious career.

When she resigned from the University of Maryland staff to join the National 4-H Foundation at Chevy Chase in 1966, the university's Board of Regents conferred on her the title of "Extension Professor Emerita," recognizing 38 years of servier to the University as a friend, counselor and champion of young people.

Now past 80, Miss Emerson continues to teach, lecture, study and travel, enriching her own life and the lives of others. Throughout Maryland she is best known for her love of people and her desire to help them grow and express themselves. In more than a half-century of teaching she has retained her New England spirit of rugged self-reliance. She has visited the county many times and has had many sessions with 4-H groups

After teaching home economics and physical education from 1911 to 1917, she entered the Cooperative Extension Service of New Hampshire as an emergency home demonstration agent, before moving to Delaware as a county 4-H club agent. In 1923 she came to Maryland as a girls 4-H club agent and, as one Marylander has said, "She remained here to become the heart of the 4-H program"

Miss Emerson developed a unique outstanding method for training 4-H youth and adult leaders in preparation for public appearance. "If you are thinking ideas, you won't be self-conscious; you and your audience will be idea-conscious" is the way she expressed it.

The versatile New Englander used the same philosophy in working with 4-H judging teams in giving oral and written reasons. Her fellow Montgomery county resident, John L. Morris of Gaithersburg, has coached many state 4-H judging teams to national and international honors. And he credits Miss Emerson with much of the success of his young team members. Morris is an Extension dairy science specialist at the University of Maryland

Miss Emerson's Ruby award was announced at this year's national convention of Epsilon Sigma Phi, held last month (Nov. 17) at the National 4-H Center in Chevy Chase (Montgomery county). It will be presented at the 1975 annual meeting next Nov. 9 at the Rice hotel in Houston, Tex.

Fraternal Order Of Police Seek More Enforcement

The members of the Fraternal Order of Police of the Maryland State Police and the Department of Natural Resources of the State of Maryland have asked Governor Mandel to take immediate steps to provide additional law enforcement personnel for the Maryland State Police and the Law Enforcement Division of the Department of Natural Resources.

The FOP pointed out that most of the counties in the State have less than two law enforcement officers on patrol during the evening and night shifts. Because of this shortage of law enforcement officers, it has become impossible to effectively deter crime, to investigate major crimes which have already occurred, to provide highway safety, and to protect the natural resources of the State of Maryland.

The FOP further stated that the situation has become so critical that it is often impossible to answer even emergency calls, or to provide back-up protection in less than 25 to 30 minutes.

The FOP, through the State FOP attorney, Benjamin R. Wolman, further stated that there is an immediate need for at least 200 additional Maryland State troopers and not less than 100 additional law enforcement officers in the protection and preservation of the prized natural resources of the State.

Can't Eat It...

"You can't eat socialism, nor swallow it!" This was stated this week in an advertisement of Warner and Swasey company, makers of precision machine tools, appearing in U. S. News and World Report. That is so true.

In Russia it took 39 million farmers to feed their country and they still had to import 100 million bushels of American wheat. But the United States needs only 3½ million farmers to feed the entire nation, and feed us better, and still produce a surplus to export. How? Highly productive machinery developed by American manufacturers and well used by American farmers working to make a profit.

In South America it takes 25 million farmers to feed their 191 million people; in Africa 97 million to feed their 351 millions. Socialist nations in both continents depend on capitalist America to keep them alive.

The Russians and others may enjoy their ideology, but it isn't very filling until capitalism in search of profit comes to the rescue. So says the balance of the advertisement. Needless to say, we concur.

Deer Kill Total Has Reached 520

The total deer kill for the seven-day season which officially ended last Saturday evening, reached 520, according to Ed Golden, district wildlife manager, which is some sixty shy of last year's figure. The total still could change.

During the final three days of the season there were 19 reported on Thursday, 13 on Friday, and 61, on Saturday. These were divided as follows: Mt. Top Tire, 10, 4, 11; Johnny's Bait House, 3, 3, and 7; Walt's General Store, 1, 1, 16; Hetz, Grantsville, 1, 4, 22; Savage Inn, 1, 1, 5.

The totals for the five checking stations for the season included 86 for Walt's at McHenry; 170 at Hetz' store, Grantsville; 159 at Mt. Top Tire in Oakland; 29 at Savage river inn; and 76 at Johnny's Bait House, Deep Creek Lake.

There is a possibility that two more legal buck hunting days will be made available for the many hunters who were unable to get into the woods on account of the severe storm.

William Jabine, public information for the Department of Natural Resources, said Monday that an emergency regulation had been proposed adding two days in this county to the deer hunting season. These days would be Friday and Saturday, December 20 and 21, according to the Wild Life Administration. Jabine said the kill had been 25 to 30 percent less than last year. He said the secretary has approved of the proposed regulation and the administration had approved the measure. An executive and legislative review committee had yet to act on the matter, but its approval was expected.

Approval Given

It was announced by Mr. Jabine that the legislative and executive review committee had approved the additional days of Friday and Saturday, December 20 and 21.

The committee warned however, that any person who was successful in getting a buck during the regular season, would not go hunting for an additional buck during these two extra days. The regulation of one buck per season was still in effect.

Ralph Burnett Is Sworn In Tuesday

Mr. Burnett had served as assistant state's attorney under Fred A. Thayer, who served as state's attorney for the past several years. Mr. Thayer was not a candidate for reelection this past November, when Mr. Burnett was officially elected.

Mountain Top Is Recovering From Big Snow Storm

The Mountain Top is slowly returning to normalcy following the big snow storm, and utility troubles are mostly cleared up. State and county roads are all open with mopping-up continuing. About 4 inches of new snow fell Monday and into early Tuesday. The first sub-zero temperature since about two seasons ago was registered last Friday.

Schools in the county were closed four days, Monday through Thursday due to the storm. This, according to a Board of Education spokesman, reduces the allowable snow days for the school year to zero.

Electric power has been restored to most users. Telephone service interruptions due to the storm should have been cleaned up by yesterday, according to a C & P spokesman.

According to information from the SHA, all roads are bare and only widening operations are continuing in places. The snow emergency due to the big storm was lifted Friday afternoon. It was placed back into effect Monday morning and lifted yesterday morning due to the new snow. County roads are all open ac-

Potomac Edison Official Makes Storm Report

Potomac Edison's Western Division manager, E. L. Ewald, this week thanked customers for their patience and understanding during the recent snow emergency. Mr. Ewald is manager of the division that includes Garrett and Allegany counties.

He called it the worst storm in recent history "and certainly one of the worst damaging to our lines and other facilities." An estimated 23,500 customers in the two-county area were without service at varying times.

Ewald said "we know it is an inconvenience to be without power for even a short time. The longer the power is off, the greater the inconvenience becomes. But customers who were without electricity for periods varying from several hours to several days, expressed their understanding and showed patience and restraint as our crews worked as long as possible to restore power."

In addition to line crews based in the two counties, about 128 PE personnel came to the region from Frederick and Hagerstown, in this state, Luray, Madison, and Winchester, Va., and Waynesboro, Pa. To supplement PE crews, outside contractors furnished 64 linemen and tree trimmers to assist in the restoration efforts. Altogether there were about 200 men brought into the area.

Our regular fleet includes many four-wheel drive vehicles, but it was necessary to bring in about 75 other pieces of equipment, including two M-113 personnel carriers from the Greencastle Army Reserve Center manned by four civilian employees, six snowmobiles, six four-wheel drive heavy-duty pieces of equipment, one

Island Creek Coal Has Christmas Fete

Over six hundred persons, employes of the Alpine and North Branch Mines of Island Creek Coal company, and their children attended a Christmas treat affair held Sunday afternoon at Bayard elementary school gymnasium in Bayard, W. Va. The event was especially for all children of the employes.

A gift and a candy treat was procided for every child attending, along with refreshments for the parent. An appearance by Santa Claus highlighted the afternoon event with his personal conversation with most of the younger children.

Fran Nickler, Island Creek Coal spokesman, rated the event "a tremendous success."

Incoming Telephone Line Is Installed

The Department of Health and Mental Hygiene had just installed a new incoming line on the health department switchboard, 895-5900, which will permit calling between the switchboard and any telephones in the Grantsville, Frostburg and Cumberland exchanges at local call rates, it was announced by Dr. William Pope, deputy state health officer.

Incoming calls at the switchboard can be routed to all health department units in Oakland, he said.

FIRST THE OATH, then the work began for county commissioners at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Commissioners' office in the Garrett County courthouse. From left to right are Richard Davis, clerk of the Circuit Court, who administered the oath; new Republican commissioners George Edwards and Don Bender; and Democrat commissioner Wayne B. Hamilton. Following the oath-taking, which includes an affirmation in the belief of God, the commissioners got right down to work, beginning a series of appointments in the county. Present at the ceremonies were Mrs. Bender, Mrs. Edwards and daughter, and Mrs. Hamilton, and Brooks Hamilton

Potomac Edison Seeks Restraint on Electricity Use

Despite the coal strike settlement Allegheny Power System companies, which include The Potomac Edison Company, are still appealing to all customers for restraint in the use of electricity.

The appeal is directed to individual residential users, commercial establishments, industries, and municipalities, according to company officials.

Coal stockpiles at some APS stations are nearing a dangerously low level since deliveries to power stations were cut off in mid-November as a result of the national strike in the coal industry. Practically all APS generation is coal-fired.

Company officials pointed out that even after the miners go back to work it will take from 10 days to two weeks for substantial deliveries to arrive at most power stations.

Officials said that the response to this appeal for voluntary restraint, and actual delivery of coal to the stations, will determine whether any other steps will be necessary. Allegheny Power has instituted internal power conservation measures to help extend coal supplies.

All customers are asked to eliminate all non-essential uses of electricity and, to the extent possible, reschedule other uses to off-peak hours—late evening or early morning.

APS companies serve about one million customers in parts of five states—Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, and Ohio.

Letters Mailed For Christmas Treat Donations

Letters have been mailed to business places and individuals soliciting contributions for the annual Christmas treat fund, sponsored by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce.

The annual treat will be held on Saturday afternoon, December 21, at 1 o'clock, on Second Street when the treat will be distributed to some two thousand or more children of the area.

Some $650 will be needed to pay for the treat, officials indicated. The committee in charge includes Charles L. Bruner, chairman, William E. Hesen, William Stemple, members of the Oakland Boy Scout troop and members of the National Guard.

Mr. Bruner announced this morning that the committee already had received $531 toward the desired goal.

Shopping Hours Set

Christmas store shopping hours in Oakland were announced recently. Beginning Monday, December 9, stores will be open every night until 9 pm. They will close at 5 pm. Tuesday, December 21, and open as usual Thursday, December 23.

The house decorating contest will be sponsored again this year by the Merchants and Businessmen's Association of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce. The contest will be non-electric. Prizes will be presented to the winners.

Snowmobiles Prove Worth In Emergency

Snowmobiles were recently pressed into service and as emergency vehicles and proved their worth.

Last week a woman was taken from Finzel to Frostburg after she became ill.

Another snowmobile trip from the Finzel area was also made last week by a young woman who is employed by the C. and P. Telephone company in Cumberland.

To Conduct Farm Census in Area

The 1974 Census of agriculture now being conducted by the Bureau of the Census will bring up to date farm statistics collected for the year 1969 when the last farm census was taken.

James McHenry, county extension agent, pointed out that cooperation from every farm operator is needed in order to insure an accurate measurement of change in this county. Farm business records are in be used in filling out the report form, but when records are not available, reasonable estimates are acceptable. He stressed that the Census Bureau must have a good report from each operator if county records are to be complete and accurate. The report forms are to be mailed out about January 1, and should be filled out and returned as early as possible, he said.

Mr. McHenry said nothing was revealed in the published reports that might disclose information about an individual operator. The data is combined into county and state totals that provide benchmarks for keeping up with changes in farming. The Census of Agriculture, taken every five years, is the only source of statistics on agriculture that are comparable, county by county, on a nationwide basis.

Mr. McHenry said the 1969 census counted 781 farms in this county. Four hundred four reported selling $2,500 or more of agricultural products, and 32 reported sales of $40,000 or more. The market value of all agricultural products sold amounted to $7,161,151, an average of $17,733 per farm.

Oakland Man Is Slightly Injured Yesterday Morning

An Oakland man was slightly injured yesterday morning when his car slid into the back of an Oakland town truck.

John Olin Durst, Jr., Mt. Lake Park, was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he had been taken by the Southern Rescue Squad.

Donald L. Stewart, Oakland, was backing a cinder spreading truck of the Town of Oakland, up an alley spreading cinders. As Stewart was crossing Third street he saw the Durst car coming toward him and stopped when Durst was about 100 feet away. Durst slid 60 feet but still hit the back of the truck, going under it as far as the windshield.

Chief Percy L. Lawton of the Town Police investigated.

Durst was said to have a cut on the forehead.

In Preparation, Issue of Dec. 26

Endeavoring to get the word out early that advertisers and correspondents should be thinking of sending in their material one day early the week of December 20, The Republican is inserting this notice in this week's issue.

The Christmas greeting issue will appear on Thursday, December 19. The following issue, December 26, will appear as usual on Thursday the day after Christmas, but in order to prepare ahead of time and be able to get one run ready for publication early Tuesday afternoon, December 21, it is being requested that material be turned in early.

So advertisers, correspondents and all others who desire to send items that week should make an effort to send one day earlier than usual.

Chief Judge Hamill Hears Two Juvenile Cases Last Friday

Two cases were heard in Juvenile court by Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill last Friday, one youth was found to be in need of supervision, the other delinquent.

A 16-year-old was found to be a delinquent minor by reason of breaking and entering and grand larceny. Items taken included beer, soft drinks, electric drill, electric saw, $91 in currency, and food.

The youth made no contest of the charges. He was sentenced to the Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene and to be delivered to the Maryland Training School for Boys until discharged by due process of the law. It was further ordered that the parents make restitutions of $19 for a broken window.

A 14-year-old male was found to be in need of supervision by being illegally absent from school for 21 days as of November 19. He is to be placed in a proper foster home by Social Services and to attend school regularly.

Gas Company Asks For Higher Rates

Columbia Gas of Maryland last Friday asked the Public Service Commission for new gas rates that would increase a typical home heating customer's bill an average of $2.25 a month. A non-heating customer's bill would go up an average of 68 cents a month.

Columbia asked that the new rates go into effect Jan. 6, 1975. Affected would be 29,500 residential, commercial, industrial and municipal customers of the gas company in Allegany, Garrett and Washington Counties.

The request would add $1,683,000 to the company's revenues and leave Columbia $857,000 after taxes.

W. C. Deems, Lonaconing, area manager for Columbia Gas of Maryland said, "the additional revenues are needed to offset the effect of increase in operating costs, taxes, materials and supplies, wages and higher interest rates."

Columbia last filed for a general increase in gas rates in May, 1971, and was allowed a [illegible] in April, 1972.

Garrett National Declares Dividend

The Board of Directors of the Garrett National Bank announced at its regular meeting held on Thursday, December 5, that a cash dividend of 35 cents per share would be paid for the last six months of this calander year on December 31, to all stockholders of record on November 30.

This makes a total of 70 cents per share paid for the year 1974. Considering the two for one stock split completed during the first half of this year dividends paid would be equivalent to $1.40 per share paid in previous years or an increase of 15 cents per share paid to the stockholders during the current year, according to Maurice Brookhart, vice-president and cashier.

Legislators Plan Public Meetings

A series of public meetings has been scheduled in the various communities of the county to provide a forum for the public to express interest in legislation to be considered in the forthcoming General Assembly beginning January 8. The meetings were arranged by State Senator Edward Mason and Delegate DeCorsey Bolden, representing legislative district 1-A.

The itinerary follows.

They will meet with the County Commissioners on Monday, December 16, in the court house at 9:30 a.m., and then at 10 o'clock for Oakland residents in the grand jury room of the court house at 10 a.m.

Friendsville, second floor of the town hall, at 1 o'clock the same day. Accident, fire hall, 2 p.m.; Grantsville, fire hall, 3 p.m.

Tuesday, December 17, Deer Park, new fire hall, 10 a.m.; Kitzmiller, community building, 1 p.m.; Bloomington, fire hall, 7 p.m.

Firemen Elect Officers For 1975

Members of the Oakland Fire Department, at a regular meeting last evening, elected officers for the coming year. They included:

Stanley Savage, chief, Allen Murray, 1st assistant chief, Milton Pike, 2nd assistant chief; Harry Beeghley, captain; James Rook, president; Doris Updyke, vice president, Nordeck Shafer, secretary, and James Helbig, treasurer. The three members of the standing committee are Harold Schell, Don Butler, and Allen Naylor.

Two new members were received at last night's meeting, Donald W. Smeell and James Stanton. Membership now stands at 41.

Oakland firemen answered an alarm about 7:15 last night when the automobile of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bishoff, 4th street, was on fire. The blaze was out on arrival of the firemen. Damage was slight.

The date of the annual Buckwheat Cake and Sausage Dinner has been set for Wednesday, February 5, it was announced.

Lowest average life expectancy is 25 years for males born in Gabon, Africa.

Commissioners Are Sworn In, Begin Duties

Wayne Hamilton Is Elected Chairman of the Board For the First Year

Clerk of the Court, Richard L. Davis, administered the constitutional oath to the newly elected county Commissioners Wayne B. Hamilton, Don S. Bender and George C. Edwards in ceremonies in the Court House on Tuesday, December 10, for a four-year term.

First order of business was to elect a Chairman of the Board. With nominations opening for Mr. Edwards and Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Bender supported Mr. Hamilton's nomination in order that he and Mr. Edwards could have "the chance to become acquainted with the duties and responsibilities of the office for the benefit of the county." Mr. Edwards pointed out the tradition to elect the highest vote-getter to the chairmanship and expressed a desire to serve as the chairman. He also stated that there is a unique situation with the new Board of County Commissioners with one Democratic incumbent and two newly-elected Republican members in a primarily Republican subdivision. The final vote was two for Wayne Hamilton, one for George Edwards for a period of one year. The Board agreed to hold elections for the chairmanship at the end of one year.

In other organizational activities, Mr. Bender will serve as Chairman of the Garrett County Roads Department, and as the Commissioner representative to the Historical Society. Commissioner Edwards will serve as commissioner-member to the Community Action Committee and Social Services Board. Commissioner Hamilton will continue to serve as the Commissioner representative to the Garrett County Planning Commission.

The Board will be attending an orientation meeting for newly-elected county officials sponsored by the Maryland Association of Counties today and Friday. One main purpose of the meeting is for county officials to become acquainted with state agency personnel and functions.

45 Wild Turkeys Killed in County

The official 1974 fall wild turkey harvest for the three Western Maryland counties was 188. Garrett county reported a kill of 15, up from 37 last year; Allegany had 130, down from 196; and Washington county recorded 13, down from last year's 30.

This fall's low turkey harvest was the result of less than excellent hunting conditions and reduced population of turkeys, according to Ed Golden, district wildlife manager. He said the first week of the season was unusually dry, making stalking difficult; and hunters were plagued with cold rain and snow the last week.

Lower populations also resulted from reduced reproductive success caused by cold, wet springs and early hatches.

He said the annual ups and downs are a normal part of any wildlife population and usually, the populations respond with increased reproduction.

Ninety wings were collected from successful hunters. These wings were analyzed for various population indices.

BIG RACK OF HORNS — One of the biggest rack of horns exhibited for a number of years, was displayed by Allen Fratz, 38, of Accident, after he successfully bagged a 32-point, 176-pound buck last Saturday, the first day of the season, about a mile from the town.

Fratz is petroleum manager for W. H. Fratz and sons, of Accident, and he got his buck along Turney Hollow, near the Texas Eastern gas compressor station. That was before the big snow which greatly curtailed the ability of hunters to get into the woods. Mr. Fratz brought the horns to Oakland on Friday afternoon where he, the buck, and son Dewayne Fratz, were photographed.

Several Injured In Recent Mishaps

Several persons sustained injuries in recent accidents around the county Janet Lee Cooper, RD 1, Gormania, sustained injuries in a one-vehicle mishap the evening of November 23 when rounding a curve on the Sand Flat road. The operator was apparently replacing a tape or adjusting a radio as she approached a curve about two miles north of Deer Park and did not know the curve was there. Her car ran off the left side of the road, over an embankment, overturned and came to rest on its wheels. Trooper Georg charged her with negligent driving She was taken to the hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad.

Pearl Elizabeth Lane, Bradley Manor, Oakland, was driving west on Md. Route 135 the afternoon of November 23, when a 1967 Ford pulled onto Route 135 from a driveway entrance and failed to yield the right-of-way to the Lane car To avoid the Ford car, the Lane car began to skid, slid off the road and struck the parked, unattended car of Dale Collins, The Collins car was in turn pushed into the parked, unattended pick-up of William O Ferguson, Mt Lake Park

Trooper C. H Hinnant charged Dale Collins with displaying tags issued to another vehicle

An unknown vehicle and operator, northbound on Rock Lodge road just north of U S Route 219 the afternoon of November 23, failed to keep to the right of center of the road and struck Carmella Mae Kish walking on the shoulder of the road facing traffic. Damage To Shrubs, Trees Extensive

The damage to Western Maryland's vast forestland as well as home and farm landscaping from the devastating weekend 30-inch snowfall appears to be tremendous in volume. The dollar value of the damage is difficult to estimate

According to one Maryland Forest Service ranger, the crushing weight of the wet, heavy snow appeared to affect in some degree nearly every tree, the timber buckling under tons of snow on the branches

The storm appeared to have taken a heavy toll on the soft-wood trees, as well as the faster growing brittle species. The hardwood timber apparently sustained the least damage These types of trees are the 15 heavily found oak specials, hickories, spruce, fir, sugar maple, beech and walnut.

Shrubbery and ornamental trees throughout the county suffered heavy damage, and whether or not these shrubs would return to normal stand could not be known at this time. The weekend rain cleared the trees and shrubs in most instances, before the Monday storm struck. The snow of Monday's storm was extremely light and did not add to the already extensive damage cording to Paul DeWitt, County Road engineer. He did say evidence operations are continuing. He also stated bottom snow was difficult to remove as plow blades had a tendency to ride up over it, rather than cut into it.

As the snow fell or melted from trees it revealed just how many branches had really been broken off. One large maple tree in Oakland had four, 10 to 12 inch branches broken from it.

Skies were mostly cloudy Thursday and fair weather prevailed Friday. Saturday was cloudy with rain by late afternoon. Sunday was about the same. Snow showers began before dawn Monday with flurries continuing through Tuesday morning with a light breeze blowing. Tuesday afternoon skies were clear. Yesterday there was variable cloudiness.

Temperatures averaged 6 degrees below normal. High averaged 37 degrees with the highest being 45 degrees last Saturday and 44, Sunday. It remained below freezing Monday and Tuesday during the snow flurries. Morning lows averaged 11.4 degrees with Friday's one degree below the lowest since mid February 1973. It was one degree above the day before. With the exception of a 51-degree reading Sunday, all low readings since have been in the teens.

Light westerly winds were blowing from Sunday through Tuesday morning.

There was still 7 to 9 inches of snow on the ground yesterday. Milder temperatures yesterday melted some of the snow and ice.

The November summary follows. Statistics are based on information given by Logan Weber, local observer for the National Weather Service.

Nevertheless ended up with temperatures just one tenth degree below normal. Highs averaged 50.6 degrees, normal 50.6, with the highest being 72 degrees on the 2nd. The mercury remained below the freezing mark two days at 31 degrees on the 15th and 28 on the 24th. Low temperatures averaged 28.5, just normal, with the lowest being 2 degrees on the 25th. The mercury dropped below the freezing mark on 20 days of the month. The mildest day was on the 4th with 53 degrees.

Most all the precipitation during November fell as snow. Total precipitation amounted to 2.13 inches or 1.01 inches below normal. Snowfall on the other hand amounted to 10.6 inches, 3.4 inches above the normal of 7.2. The heaviest snowfalls were 3 inches each on the 14th and 21st and 2 inches on the 24th. The heaviest rain day was the 12th with .57 inch.

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks:

What is the status of National Health Insurance legislation?

Hearings on National Health Insurance are now underway before the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee.

It seems to me that the recent fuel shortages have highlighted the fact that our Nation's resources are not inexhaustible. Yet everyday, consumers throw away valuable resources in their trash cans. How about telling citizens where they can find information on the importance of recycling?

A new publication from the Environmental Protection Agency suggests what consumers can do about recycling household wastes. You may order a free copy of "Recycling and the Consumer" by writing Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Could you please explain Medicare?

A worker and his wife can get Medicare at 65, even if one or both continues to work full-time. Medicare hospital insurance helps pay for inpatient hospital care and for certain followup care. Medical insurance helps pay the cost of doctors' services and many other medical items and services. Medicare is now available also to people under 65 who have been getting Social Security disability checks at least 24 consecutive months, and to insured workers under 65 or members of their family who have severe kidney disease and need dialysis or kidney transplants. When you become eligible for a Social Security check you have hospital insurance automatically at 65 and pay no premiums. People who are not eligible for a Social Security check at 65 need credit for some work under Social Security, or they can get hospital insurance at 65 by paying a premium of $36 a month. To get medical insurance, eligible people pay a premium of $6.70 a month. This premium is never more than half the cost of the insurance and balance is paid by the Federal government. Specific information on this subject is available from your local Social Security office.

I understand that, under law, I can check my credit rating. How does this work?

Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act you can discover your credit rating, dispute any wrong information and remove the incorrect information from your rating report. For full details on your rights I suggest you order a copy of booklet #046A, "Fair Credit Reporting Act", from Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

MD-4 tank-wire stringer, two Unimings, one Weasel, two track vehicles, 25 company vehicles from other areas, 27 contractor vehicles.

Line crews worked daily from daylight until after dark and were assisted by 83 other employes in the Western Division. Some were used as scouts, guides, messengers, and to deliver material, to answer phones and to dispatch crews.

Helicopters were used to patrol lines and assess damages. Attempts were made to bring in helicopters Monday, but flying conditions made it impossible for them to get through until Tuesday afternoon. Two, and at times three, were in the area until Saturday when flying conditions halted their operation.

While service was restored to all but a few scattered customers by Sunday night, there is still a tremendous amount of storm damage to be repaired. A major project is getting two transmission lines back in service. One is a 138,000 volt line from Albright, W. Va., to Ridgeley on which there are several wood structures damaged. The most serious problem is the 500,000 volt line from Hatfield's Ferry near Masontown, Pa., which passes through this area, to Dnubs, near Frederick. There are eleven steel towers in this line that crumpled from the sheer weight of snow and ice which accumulated to an approximate diameter of 19 inches in the affected area. These conductors have a breaking point of approximately 50,000 pounds and one of them did break. Outside contractors are working on these transmission lines.

Northern Defeated By Meyersdale Hi

Northern High rallied to send the game into overtime but Meyersdale pulled out a 62 to 58 victory in the extra period on Tuesday night.

The Huskies led by Dave Bender's 25 points, had a 25 to 23 edge from the floor but made only eight free throws to 16 for the winners.

Polenski had 29 points and Robertson 14 for the winners. Buddy Fauber tallied 10 for Northern with Thomas 2, Frazee 2, Teats 3, Yoder 4, O'Brien 2, Russell 8 and Schrock 2.

Making Christmas Gifts?

No one needs to be told that Christmas is just around the corner. If you haven't done so before, this may be the year to make Christmas gifts. There's still time especially if quick-to-make items are selected.

A handmade gift carries with it a special message of thoughtfulness. Make your gift washable so it is long-lasting and easy on the budget of the recipient and whose budget can't stand a boost.

Make a list of relatives and friends you want to remember. Then tailor a gift to suit their needs and tastes. Let your imagination go to work.

Pillows can be a pleasure for a grandmother, college girls or small fry. It's all in the design. For the older generation, a plump, back-pleasing pillow with zip off cover for laundering ease can add comfort when sitting in bed or viewing TV. Use appliques or embroider a design to personalize the gifts.

For teens, pick patterns that zero in on their special interests, such as sports. Or cater to a young girl's femininity with lots of ruffles and frills. For the youngsters "pillow pals," soft and cuddly animals or doll faces are sure to make a bedtime hit. Washable yarn, rickrack and left over fabric can be used to fashion all sorts of whimsical characters.

Browse through magazines for additional ideas to adapt. It also pays to use washable stuffing or pre-formed pillows for easier cleanability.

Similar themes, colors and patterns can be used for coordinated pajama bags, shoe holders and wall decorations. Other sewing projects might include curler bags, yarn keepers, cosmetic and lingerie cases, wrap-up tool totes for car storage, cozy, free swinging caftans for everyone, tennis racket covers embellished with appliques or embroidered initials, long hostess aprons and matching kitchen small appliance covers.

For those who like to crochet or knit, there is a wealth of ideas for gift-giving: mittens, caps, scarves, socks, sweaters, vests, stoles, headbands, and a variety of coverlets and afghans. Just be sure to choose washable yarns and tailor the article to the person receiving it.

Observe 50th Event

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Lohr honored their parents with an open house in celebration of the couple's 51st wedding anniversary. The event was held at the home of the couple at Deer Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Lohr were married December 10, 1924 at the Lutheran parsonage in Oakland by the late Rev. David M. Funk.

The couple has two daughters Mrs. Philip S. (Rebecca Ann) Lowe, Newark, Del. and Mrs. D. Jay (Mary Jean) Yoder, Hopewood, Pa. also one grandson and one granddaughter.

Approximately 100 relatives and friends attended from Baltimore, Hyattsville, Riverdale, Silver Spring, Hagerstown, Cumberland, Winchester, Elkins, Fairmont, other parts of Pennsylvania, Deleware, and Virginia and Bethlehem, Fields, Palestine. Greetings also were received from many states including Washington, Colorado, Arizona, Alabama, Louisiana, and Germany.

Many local friends attended and sent greetings.

Mrs. Dorothy Simpson and Mrs. Winifred Poe served at the refreshment table which was decorated with a huge gold and white 4-tiered cake with two gold floral arrangements. Beckie Lowe and Jeanne Yoder welcomed guests and attended the register.

2 Minor Accidents Noted

Two recent minor motor vehicle accidents at opposite ends of the county were noted in the records of the State Police, Oakland.

Virgil W. Sines, RD 2, Swanton, was driving north on the Savage River road the morning of December 1 as Benny J. Honaker, Beltsville traveling south failed to keep to the right side of the road. Honaker struck the Sines car headon. There were no apparent injuries. Trooper C. H. Hannant charged Honaker with failing to keep to the right.

Carl F. McCrobie, Star Route, Friendsville was traveling south on State Route 560 in Loch Lynn the night of December 2. James H. Weeks, Mt. Lake Park backing from an alley into Route 560, failed to note the McCrobie car and the two collided. Trooper Hannant charged Weeks with improper backing.

Two Get Probation In Larceny Charges In Court Monday

Two were placed on probation Monday having been found guilty of larceny at a recent trial in District Court. Another pleaded guilty of disorderly intoxication and was fined by Judge Lewis R. Jones.

Charles Stark, Oakland, and Roger Keiper, Deer Park, were found guilty of larceny at a trial September 24 and a presentence investigation was ordered. At a hearing Monday both received a two-year suspended sentence. Each was placed on probation for three years and to make restitution of $105 each.

The conditions of probation were somewhat different in each case. Stark is to cooperate with the Department of Parole and Probation in developing satisfactory home and employment plans, he shall be regularly employed, accept referral to such agencies as may be directed by the Department and follow programs developed for him. Keiper is to seek and maintain fulltime employment, not visit any places of bad reputation, and have no association with known criminals or individuals of like reputation. If employed in Pennsylvania supervision is to be transferred there.

Two persons have been charged with disorderly intoxication at a restaurant on U.S. Route 40 on November 8.

At a trial last Thursday, Regis Ray Mason, RD 2, Grantsville, pleaded guilty of the charge and was fined $50 and $10 costs. A 60-day jail sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for one year and to seek alcoholic counseling and to follow the program.

Roy Dewayne Bittinger, also of RD 2, Grantsville, pleaded not guilty on the same charge. He was placed on probation without verdict for one year.

Three persons who received bond reviews Monday were still being held in the Garrett County Jail yesterday on the charge of larceny. The bond set at $5000 November 11, for Astor D. Gibson, Roanoke, Va., was to remain the same amount at a review Monday.

Harold A. Haddix, Kitzmiller, charged with robbery with a deadly weapon, had bond originally set at $5000 and was also to remain the same according to the review Monday.

Edwin Alan Lewis, RD 1, Oakland, has been charged on two counts, breaking and entering and larceny. Monday his bond was set at $3000 with 25 percent cash required.

The cases of Lewis and Gibson are being transferred to Circuit Court. Haddix will have a preliminary hearing set for December 16 and this case will, also, possibly be transferred to Circuit Court.

Three other cases were dismissed or stetted.

The charge of a worthless check against Ruby Lou King, Oakland, was dismissed as restitution had been made.

A charge of assault on his wife by John B. Townsend was dismissed as the wife would not testify.

A charge of a worthless check against Samuel Glotfelty was stetted as it is to be paid as a loan.

Masonic Lodge Elects Officers

John William Wolfe was elected worshipful master of Oakland Lodge No. 192, A. F. and A. Masons, at a regular meeting on Tuesday evening. He will succeed Donald P. Thorn, who served during the past year.

Other officers named were Lewis Marks, senior warden; John O. Durst, Sr., junior warden; Robert T. Hoffman, secretary; and George H. Hanst, treasurer. The two latter were reelected. Other officers are appointive and will be named soon. Installation will be held Tuesday, January 14.

Attending the session Tuesday night were Homer Michael, deputy grand lecturer, and Lewis Biggs, deputy grand inspector, both of Westernport.

Wheat Yields Will Be Set

The basic provisions for proven wheat yields are continued under the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973, says Darrell Martin, Chairman of the Garrett County ASC Committee.

Farmers may elect to establish a yield for their farm based on actual production rather than use the yield established by the county committee on a judgement basis. The base period for establishing 1975 farm yield for establishing 1975 farm yields is 1968, 1969, 1970, 1971, and 1972. Chairman Martin states that wheat must have been produced on the farm in each of these five years and you must present reliable proof of production. If you intend to prove your yield in subsequent years, current year production evidence must be submitted along with evidence for the most recent years. Production evidence is limited to a record of dispositions such as bin measurements, sales, or warehouse receipts or warehouse ledger sheets.

In order to assure consideration, a farmer should file a written request by December 31st to be timely considered before being notified of the 1975 farm wheat yield.

New Federal Law On Student Records

Recently new Federal legislation entitled, "Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974", was signed into law by President Ford. Basically this law requires all school systems to maintain maximum privacy of student's educational records and to permit parents or legal guardians access to their child's records.

Parents or legal guardians of children attending public schools in Garrett County have always had the right to review their child's record with appropriate school personnel, according to Dr. William Buser, County Superintendent of Schools. Although this policy has been in effect in the county, the new law requires local school officials to establish specific guidelines for parent review of the records, release of the record to community agencies and parental challenge of the record's contents.

Procedures for full implementation of the law are presently being established by local school officials and by Maryland State Department of Education personnel.

In addition, school personnel are meeting with various community agencies and local employers to review the law and to establish procedures that will ensure proper transmittal of school information to such groups, Dr. Buser said.

Parents or guardians having any questions concerning this law may call their respective principal or the Supervisor of Pupil Services at the Garrett County Board of Education.

THE LIBERAL

He likes people, a lot of them,
Short and tall, thick, and thin,
The only ones he cannot stand,
Are those who are opposed to him.
Like those Greeks of mythical lore,
By enchanting voices drawn ashore,
And there to find, to their dismay,
Bones of victims on the beach did lay,
And they who called with such appeal,
Looked on them as another meal.
Now hear the chant of the liberal's song,
"We're liberal" he sings all day long.
Liberal in thought and philosophy,
And with others money and property;
Personal liberty is to them a flaw,
For which they'll make a binding law,
And with many a tricky and sublid word,
Compress us into a thundering herd.
And we, like cattle, upon which others feed,
Are devoured by them who give such lead,
And lead they do, at our expense,
To captivate within their fence.
With liberal song they chant and sway,
And take our private rights away.
For the whole world has got to be free,
If they have to bind us all you see.
Now, whenever again I hear,
The liberal likes me so very dear.
I ask myself sincerely,
Is it to make a meal of me?

Lakers Win Friday, Lose on Saturday

Garrett Community College Lakers won one and lost one in last week's play.

The Lakers won from Chesapeake 67 to 65 while they were defeated by Cecil CC by an 80-64 score.

In the first game last Friday, Mike Davis made two points on foul shots in the closing minutes of the game to win over Chesapeake.

Coach Dennis Fearnow's Lakers fell behind early but tied the score at 21-all and never trailed after that.

Oren Yoder led the Lakers with 18 and sparkled on defense. Mike Saturday scored 14 and tied a school record with 19 rebounds. Dan Shifko chipped in with 13 and Dave Curtis had 12.

Garrett led at halftime 32 to 29, and played without their big man, John Raszka, who is suffering from a sprained ankle.

Chesapeake held a 28 to 27 margin in field goals but the game was decided at the foul line where Garrett had 13 for 21 compared to 9 for 18 by Chesapeake.

In the second game Saturday night The Lakers gave host Cecil CC all it could handle in the first half but bowed out in the second half the Cecil team winning 80 to 64.

They were within 7 points of the C-Hawks at intermission, 31 to 27, but the bigger and more powerful Hawks gained control in the second half after the Lakers got into foul trouble.

Sophomore Raszka, who was second in scoring and rebounding, is still nursing a sprained ankle. Mike Saturday, Garrett's freshman paced the Lakers with 19 points while Oren Yoder added 14, Shifko 11 and Dave Curtis 10.

Garrett could manage on a 28 for 74 night from the floor, just 55 percent after shooting 52 percent from the field in the opening win last Friday.

Trees Can Put Money In Pocket

Trees are not only nice to look at or sit under but can actually put money in the pockets of homeowners, according to "Maryland Forestry", newsletter of the Maryland Forest Service, Department of Natural Resources.

In its fall issue now being distributed the lead article points out that, according to scientifically conducted surveys "homes of the same design with a tree setting have values ranging from 5.8 percent to 17.7 percent higher than their treeless counterparts."

The study, conducted by Dr Brian R. Payne, an environmental forestry researcher with the U.S. Forest Service two years ago in Amherst, Massachusetts, and recently published, shows that both home owners and realtors estimated value of homes in the $38,-500 category with trees to be $45,-300, a 17.7 percent increase.

While other value categories varied considerably between the two higher percentage figures calculated in the report, a median increase of 8 percent across the board is indicated. In Maryland, the newsletter article states, which in 1972 had a total assessed real property value of $15 billion, this could mean as much as and probably more than a billion dollars in increased realty assets.

Storm Experiences Keep Popping Up

Accounts of what took place during the recent storm for various persons continue to appear in newspapers, but one of the most interesting appeared in the Baltimore Sun of Tuesday, under the heading "Rock Music Doesn't Help in Snow on Keyser's Ridge." It was written by Isaac Rehert, staff writer and concerned a family from Baltimore, Ben and Bette Levin and their daughter Judy, who had spent Thanksgiving with a son and daughter-in-law in Athens, Ohio, and were enroute home Sunday afternoon.

They ended up at Keyer's Ridge and spent the night in their automobile with cars lined up ahead and behind them.

They were finally extricated the next day about 11 and got as far as Grantsville, four miles away. There some 300 to 500 had gathered in the fire hall. They stayed there until 8:30 that evening when one-way traffic was opened to Frostburg and beyond. They were high in their praise for the people of Grantsville, the firemen and rescue squad. They got to Baltimore at 2 a.m.

Solar Eclipse

Friday, December 13, is Solar Eclipse Day. If the weather is good, a partial eclipse may be observed. There will be no dimming of sunlight observable to the unaided eye; however, a properly exposed film will show changes in the illumination of the sun. The eclipse occurs as the moon passes between earth and sun, partially blocking the light of the sun as its shadow falls on the earth.

Do not look directly at the sun. Its heat and light will permanently damage the eyes. Use an indirect means of observation such as a pinhole camera or the projection of an image from a telescope or binoculars on a white surface. Also be careful with your telescope, since the heat of the sun when focused might damage the lenses of the instrument.

First contact of the moon with the sun will occur at 9:30 a.m. The maximum of the eclipse will occur at 11:00 a.m. Last contact occurs at 12:30 p.m. Total observation time is three hours on Friday morning.

● New moon occurs at 11:43 a.m. local time. This is shortly after the maximum of the eclipse. This week moon set varies from 4:12 p.m. today to 9:53 p.m. next Wednesday.

Wednesday the moon will be 405,060 kilometers (251,750 miles) from earth. This greatest separation of earth and moon during December is called an apogee of the moon.

● Saturday at 5:00 a.m., the maximum of the Geminid meteor shower occurs. Fifty meteors may be observed each hour at that time. More than the usual seven meteors per hour might be observed on both Friday morning and on Sunday morning before sunrise.

● Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn are visible during the week. Barely above the southwest horizon, Venus is visible at sunset. Mars, on the opposite side of the sun, is very low in the south-east sky at sunrise. Jupiter is among the stars of Aquarius near the middle of the south sky at sunset. Saturn rises about two hours after sunset with the stars of Taurus.

● Sunset tonight is at 4:54 p.m. It occurs nine hours, forty-six minutes after sunrise. Wednesday there are four minutes less daylight. Sunrise will be five minutes later while sunset will be one minute later than it is today.

VISIBLE PLANETS

Mars, Jupiter and Saturn are visible. Mars rises shortly before the sun rises. It is to be the southernmost star. Jupiter is among the stars of Aquarius. It sets before midnight. Saturn rises with the stars of Gemini, about two hours after sunset.

A NEW MOON FOUND

A faint object has been found to be orbiting Jupiter at a distance of 124 million kilometers (77 million miles). This thirteenth satellite of Jupiter was discovered during September by Charles Kowal with the 48 inch Palomar Schmidt telescope.

MSTA Program Outlined at Dinner

The proposed legislative program for the Maryland State Teachers association was outlined briefly Monday night at the annual dinner meeting of the Negotiating team of the Teachers association with MSTA officials, and other guests, at Cornish Manor.

Presenting the proposed program were Charles Wheatly, MSTA executive secretary, and Jack Downs, MSTA representative. They explained a pamphlet, "Prescription for Learning," which concerned students, parents, teachers, state government, and citizens of the state.

The MSTA officials had visited several elementary schools on Monday with Eugene Flinn, president of the Garrett County Teachers association, and completed their visits to other county schools on Tuesday before returning to the Baltimore and Annapolis area. Attending the dinner also were Betsy Moyer, MSTA president; Tom Shaffer, western Maryland representative.

Present also: Teachers Carl Everly, William Crone, Robert Boal, Judith France, Eugene Flinn, Harold Humberson, Melvin Schwing and Linda Samee. Others attending were William Goldsborough, member of the State Board of Education, Dr. William Buser, county superintendent of schools; Mrs. Diane Thayer, member of the county board of education; DeCorsey Bolden, House of Delegates; Richard Maroney, president of the retired teachers; Thomas Butscher, radio station, and George Hanst, Republican office.

The House of Representatives voted to bar federal programs from using funds for school bussing to gain racial balance.

Insurance FACTS

In most states a motorist who seeks to recover his losses in court, rather than settle out of court, must prove that responsibility for an accident lay entirely with the other driver. But it often is difficult to establish precisely what happened in the split second of collision. If the defendant's lawyer can show that the plaintiff bears even a small fraction of the blame there will be no reimbursement at all. It turns out that nearly 45 — of all persons seriously injured in auto accidents have great difficulty recovering anything from the liability part of their insurance coverage.

Local Resident Finds Need For Pure Water To Be Universal During Russia, Europe Tour

Underground water, as opposed to polluted streams and rivers, is as vital to the health and livelihood of the millions of people in Russia, Western Europe and England as it is to most of the United States, according to John and Leah Brenneman of Accident, recently returned from a 22-day trip to England, Holland, U.S.S.R., West Berlin and Switzerland as a part of the 1974 National Water Well Association Leaders' People-to-People Program.

The People-to-People effort was started by President Dwight Eisenhower as an effort to promote better understanding among people throughout the world. Some 34 persons from 14 states and Canada were members of the NWWA delegation.

NWWA represents some 100,000 persons in all phases of the ground water industry in the United States and many foreign countries.

Mr. Brenneman studied ground water projects and research facilities near London, visited an ultra-modern water treatment plant at Rotterdam, went to "Friendship House" for technical discussions in Moscow and compared various drilling and well screen techniques with Soviet experts at the U.S.S.R. Hydro-geologic Institute.

Leningrad's municipal water works, which withstood 290-days of bombing by the Germans during the "Seige of Leningrad" was another technical stop on the trip of some 11,000 miles.

West Berlin's "Wasserwerke" employs one of the most extensive systems of wells of any major city in the world and was studied for a full day. Berlin is particularly concerned about groundwater recharge and making sure that clean, fresh and pure water continues to be available from wells, regardless of the increasing pollution of surface water supplies, Mr. Brenneman said.

Modern, bomb-proof waterproof waterworks structures in Zurich, Switzerland, along with an elaborate system of mountain tunnels and pipelines, plus extensive new well construction and recharge studies, were also considered by the NWWA group.

The final technical stops before the group returned to the United States November 9, was at the Department of Hydraulics of the Federal Institute of Technology in Zurich and at a unique well construction project at Emmen, Switzerland.

Mr. and Mrs. Brenneman left the group at the end of the tour in Zurich and toured Denmark and Norway. They spent a week with a friend, Navy Chief Duane Findley in Oslo, Norway, where Mr. Findley is working at the U.S. Embassy.

Mr. Brenneman is Western Regional Vice-President of the Maryland Water Well Association and has been a delegate for a number of years for the State of Maryland to the National Water Well conventions held in the United States. He is senior partner of Brenneman Well Drilling with his sons Larry and Dan, as junior partners in the family business.

The Use of Snow Fences Up Again

Would snow fences have kept roads open?

That question is being asked in several quarters since the area has finally dug out of the 30 inches of snow which piled up in Garrett and western Allegany counties.

The red picket fences which for years have lined highways in Western Maryland are gone on state highways, a feature of the administration's snow fighting program.

Only in this county which has an unusual proportion of rural roads, are snow fences being used.

John D. Bushby, district 6 engineer for the SHA, said he first began phasing out snow fences along state highways 15 years ago. He is convinced that compared to the expense, storage problems and manpower hours involved in erecting and taking down the fences, the benefits just aren't worth it.

In this county the situation is different because of the vast rural scene and the total mileage of hard roads.

Paul DeWitt, administrative engineer for the county roads department, said the county has an estimated 150 miles of snow fences and the fences are an important part of the anti-snow program here.

In the state system, last year, erecting snow fences cost the SHA $265,000. While engineers in SHA have the option to continue using the fences if they want, the SHA is still encouraging the phasing out of all of the fences in the future.

Because of the difficulties besetting roads crews during last week's storm aftermath, some people apparently believe that the no-fence policy should be reassessed.

"If the fences had been up there along the treeline to the north, the twenty-foot drifts would be out there, not here in the middle of the road," a snow plow driver commented. Mr. Bushby felt results would have been the same. He said the snow was wet and heavy and drifting problems were not encountered until the second day after the snowfall.

Mr. DeWitt said the county places its fences to ward off snow drifts caused by westward driven winds, but this storm had an easterly wind which caused the drifting problems.

But he said that because of the county's rural terrain and the many miles of back roads, the county can't afford to scrap its snow fence program, which carries a $30,000 annual budget.

Mr. Bushby feels there is more equipment than ever before for the SHA to use. It is more modern and has increased effectiveness. He also noted that the use of radio communication has now made it possible to dispatch crews quickly if big trouble hits a certain highway section.

Issues Reminder in Christmas Seals

Fearing a decrease in this year's local Christmas Seal Campaign, Mrs. Jennie Graham, Honorary Christmas Seal Chairman for Allegany-Garrett County, has announced that reminder letters are being mailed out to all past contributors who have not yet answered their Christmas Seal letters. "At this point, we are so close to meeting last years amount," said Mrs. Graham "that we felt we would be remiss if we didn't remind the public at this busy holiday season."

Christmas Seals are still available for persons wishing to use them.

Gets Certificate Of Appreciation

Courtney R. Tusing, President of The First National Bank of Oakland, received a certificate of appreciation showing the completion of two years of service on the Fifth National Bank Regional Advisory Committee. The certificate was presented by James E. Smith, Comptroller of the Currency, from Washington, D. C., at the fall meeting of the Advisory Committee held November 21 through the 23rd at Sea Island, Georgia.

The Committee meets twice each year with the Regional Administrator of National Banks, Richmond, Virginia, and a representative of the office of the Comptroller of the Currency to evaluate the quality of the bank examiners' work as it relates to the needs of banks and the public. It strives to keep the examination processes in step with the times and responsive to the ever-changing world of banking. Regulatory authorities seek reports and recommendations on banking policies and practices from the Advisory Committee. The committee is composed of bankers from the five-state Fifth National Bank Region. Tusing and a Frederick banker represented Maryland the past two years.

GOD'S WAYS

Lesson for December 15, 1974

Background Scripture: Luke 1:39-55; John 1:1-5, 9-18.
Devotional Reading: Luke 2:8-20.

William Cowper wrote a hymn, the first two lines of which put into descriptive words the experiences of many of God's children: God moves in a mysterious way
His wonders to perform;
He plants his footsteps in the sea
And rides upon the storm.

Rev. Althouse

Sometimes we are awed and thrilled by these "mysterious ways," and sometimes we are baffled. This is particularly evident when the way God chooses to work seems quite at odds with the choices we would make under the same circumstances.

Why me?

The beginning of the Christmas story in Luke is a good example. For long centuries the people of Israel had waited for the coming of God's Messiah. If we were to have devised the scenario of that coming, it would certainly have been one of great pomp and ceremony.

But God chose one of his "strange ways" to bring all this to pass. He chose, not the royal household of Herod or the lineage of the priesthood, but a simple woman and her carpenter husband from the unpromising town of Nazareth of Galilee. How "strange" of God to do it that way!

Today you can visit the obscure little village, Ein Kerem, a few miles outside of Jerusalem where it is believed that Mary visited her kinswoman Elizabeth. In the courtyard of the Church of the Visitation Mary's joyous hymn, "The Magnificat" ("My soul magnifies the Lord . . .") is inscribed in forty-one different languages.

Mary's response to Elizabeth's startling proclamation, "Blessed are you among women . . ." (Luke 1:42), seems to be a combination of joy and wonder. In a sense she is asking: "Why me?" Why should something of this magnitude be given to a "handmaiden" of "low estate"?

Put down the mighty

In a moment of great inspiration, Mary seems to apprehend, if not comprehend, some of the purpose behind God's "strange ways." God has a habit of scattering "the proud in the imagination of their hearts," of putting down "the mighty from their thrones," and exalting "those of low degree" (1:51,52). What he has done with her in blessing her, so God is continually doing.

Behind this "mysterious way" of God there is a purpose: "He has helped his servant Israel in remembrance of his mercy" (1:54). It is the merciful grace of God that is constantly confounding and amazing the mind of man. It is his gracious love that goes far beyond the limitations of man's reason and imagination.

That is why God's ways must seem forever to man to be both strange" and wonderful!

MEDICINES NOW ARE MORE HELPFUL
Not so long ago we had very few drugs that could always be depended upon to give positive help. Usually, relief from pain or discomfort, till the disease subsided, was the expected help.
But, now we have potent medicines, obtained only after a physician's examination and by his prescription, which really offer prompt relief and usually a speedy cure. It is now unnecessary to suffer from any repeated discomforts or pains.
YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the people of Garrett County:

From November 3-15, eighteen International Development Interns, from the Agency for International Development of the State Department in Washington, trained in Garrett County.

As a group, we would like to offer our sincere thanks to the citizens of Garrett County for all the cooperation and hospitality with which you answered our questions and offered your time. We realize that our suggestions for Garrett County's development may be of minimal significance in view of the County's overall development plan, but time constraints did limit our ability to produce more comprehensive projects. However, we all came away from Garrett County with more than our training purpose accomplished; it was our privilege to have lived among you and become friends with so many of you as you opened yourselves to us.

We would especially like to thank Mr. Marshall Rickert of the Planning Commission for his guidance and suggestions and hope that anyone interested in our field projects contact him for information. The areas of our research are: Mobile Health Care Unit, Forest Industries, Commercial Trout Fishing and Maple Syrup Cooperative.

Thank you again to all those who made our stay a truly valuable experience, both professionally and personally.

Myersville, Md. 21773
December 6, 1974

Dr. William H. Buser
Superintendent of Schools
Dear Dr. Buser,

On December 1, having driven to my parent's home at Deep Creek Lake, from Myersville, Frederick County, and finding a real snow storm coming in, my husband and I turned around and headed back for Myersville. Seven hours later we found ourselves at Route 40 Elementary School. It had taken 6 and ½ hours just to come from Grantsville to this point, a distance of a few miles.

A former teacher at this school Mr. Friend, now a resource teacher with the Garrett County System, and his wife called the Superintendent of Schools and received permission to open the school to all the stranded people in the automobiles who had been parked sometimes three to four abreast or even sideways on the road from Grantsville. They opened the school. Everyone from a one mile radius on the road trouped into this school. This including quite a variety; snow, water, dogs, cats, crying babies, elderly, holiday travelers, and weekend hunters. The Friends and several volunteers cooked hot food, sandwiches, coffee, milk and ice cream in a short time. Things were going well until the electricity went off. Someone on a snowmobile left and got candles. Other young people in the area had snowmobiles, and they ran errands, and checked out everyone. Mr. Friend even made coffee over a big candle in a metal pitcher, all night long. However, with several hundred people, parents, grandparents, babies sleeping on tables, floors, everywhere, things were not too calm. Despite all of this, people were very neighborly and full of compassion. Very few people knew anyone in that building when they went in, but before the night was over everyone had made some new friends, especially the person with a flashlight in the dark hours or the person with a snow shovel when we returned to our cars. Everyone pitched in, even the young people worked like us "older folks" (everyone over 20).

Morning finally came. Again those good folks prepared breakfast from scratch. Many people had been working without rest through the night trying to help us (now man this included the State Road Crews, the Maryland State Police, and the National Guard. The teenagers, and a few elderly (those older than 20). (Several people were in the 70-89 age group.) What a tremendous job they did to move 25 inches of fallen snow! Thank God for such faithful workers, especially the people who live on the Long Stretch Mile on route 40.

All our lives, my husband and I have worked with people, but the snow storm proved to us that people in this day and age are indeed "Good Samaritans". We would like to thank those living in Garrett County, The Maryland State Police, the National Guard, the faithful men with the roads crews, the kids, Mr. and Mrs. Friend, the Superintendent of Schools, and all those people who helped and stood together to help other people.

Last, but not least, we would like to thank the custodians, teachers, principal and cafeteria staff of Route 40 Elementary School. When we entered it was so clean and the classrooms were beautifully decorated. I was snooping while looking for a pay telephone. I do hope they didn't have too much to clean up in this beautiful school as a result of our stay. I know a bit about schools as I went to Oakland High School, graduated in 1947, and have been an elementary school secretary for 13 years in Frederick County. My husband knows about snow storms as he has been driving tractor trailers for 25 years in many states, and he thinks this was "one heck of a storm".

Thank you again, friends in Garrett County.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Lucille Wiles

Dear Sir:

I am 37 years old. At one time I had moments of glory. Now I am sick and despondent. I would appreciate it so much if you would kindly publish my letter in your newspaper and request your readers to send me a card or letter to help cheer me up, because I can't find the thrill I once knew. I wish I could be what I was, when I wanted to be what I am now.

I wonder why things happen the way they do? Why are there so many shattered memories of what could have been?

Well, at any rate, in this troubled world of ours, I know that somewhere there is a lot of good in a lot of people, and to this end there is never a shadow of a doubt. Thank you very much for taking time out from [illegible] to read my letter.

Dear Editor:

During the past week many Garrett county residents and travelers from other areas were striken by a snow storm. As a Grantsville resident I can't describe the strange feeling I had when I walked down the dark streets where no traffic was moving and the only light was an occasional licker of a candle in a house. It was as if the world had stopped.

With no electricity, heat, or telephone, what were we going to do? My questions was answered within a very short time because the Garrett County and State Road crews were trying to clear the roads, a task made more difficult because of the abandoned vehicles. Employes of Potomac Edison as well as the C. and P. Telephone company began their massive task of repairing the fallen, snow covered wires. We really owe these people a "thank you" for doing their job as well as they did under the circumstances. Besides these people, there is another certain group of people who deserve a very special "thank you" for a very special kind of people they are; the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, the Grantsville Volunteer Fire department and all the volunteers who gave their time to help those in need in a very trying time.

As I think of the events of the past week I realize how grateful I am to be a part of this county where people still care about people.

Edith Manst

P.S. When we appreciate something someone has done for us, I feel we should tell them this, is my reason for writing the above.

NO WONDER THE POWER WAS OFF — Scenes such as the ones above, at the intersection on Sang Run Road leading to Pocono Sand Company, were all too frequently following last week's abominable snowstorm. Power crews worked day and night in the county to restore power to scattered areas. Residents in Sang Run got electricity on Saturday, residents in the extreme north-western part of the county finally got power on Monday, more than week since service was interrupted. A heavy 30-inch snowfall toppled trees and pulled down wires all over the tri-state area, adding insult to injury to residents whose roads were block-ed and telephone lines were downed by snow.

Rams Spoil Bruce Home Debut 72-62

Southern High Rams pulled away from Bruce High in the final period to register a 72 to 62 victory over the Bulldogs in the season opener for both cage fives last Friday night in Westernport.

The Rams held the upper hand in the nip and tuck contest through most of the first three periods, before outscoring the Bulldogs 24 to 15 in the concluding eight minutes of action.

Southern led at the quarters 19 to 11, 34-30, and 48-47. Tom Panther led three Garrett cagers in double digits with 20 points. Kevin Liller tossed in 19 and Mark Griffiths came off the bench to add 13.

Jim Wills led Bruce with 21 points. Terry Fahey got 14 and Bob Pence had ten for the Bulldogs.

The Rams actually won the game at the foul line, meshing 17 of 27 attempts to eight of 16 by Bruce. The Bulldogs matched Southern from the field with 27 goals.

In other scoring: Panther got 4, Lewis 8, Shotwell 6 and Bosley 3. For Bruce Shaffer had 5, Riley 8, Brinegar and Ahern 2 each.

Childhood Memories Of "Old" Oakland's Christmas Are Recalled

Today the whole world seems to be yearning "for the way we were," so as one's preparation for the holiday season [illegible] the mind clicks back to the recollections of childhood Christmases past. I think that many of my own fond memories of my Old Oakland Christmas may be enjoyed by other Republican readers.

As a country child in Garrett County, just after the turn of the century, the big trip "to town" [illegible] Christmas was [illegible] Days of work [illegible] occasion. Fat turkeys had been prepared for the customers and were in big shiny, zinc tubs setting in the running water of the Spring, in the milk house troughs, where the sparkling water kept them chilled and moist, but unfrozen. Fresh sausage, liver pudding and "pon hos" had been prepared in the nights after the hog butcherings had been completed and the white, firm lard settled in big crocks and jars, ready for weighing out. Slabs of fresh spareribs and rolls of roasting tenderloin of pork were also ready to take to customers, as were jars of fresh mince meat.

Finally the day came. It started early, about five [illegible] when the sounds of my parents voices mingled with the [illegible] fresh stovelire smoke floated [illegible] stairs from the kitchen, as breakfast got under way by lamplight. Really, the anticipation of the days excitement took away part of my appetite. Soon the big hob sled with clean, fresh, fragrant straw in its bed, and the sleigh bells jingling on the horses, Sally and Lizzie pulled up to the back gate. Bliss Hahn was driving, and high in the back of the sled, sacks of fresh oats were piled to drop off at Alvey Kelley's Livery Stable. The big spring seat was near the front of the sled. My father and Mr. Hahn would ride there. Big laprobes and blankets were spread over the straw and warmed brick were put in as all of the produce that was to go to market was loaded in the back of the sled. Last, Mama, my sister Margaret and I got into the sled behind the seat, snug in the robes. We stopped at The Little Red House where Mrs. Hahn and Bob, who was then a tiny child, joined us, and off we went. The sun was barely up over Sollar's Woods, it was very cold and the snow was quite deep.

In about 20 minutes we reached Oakland, which at that time was reached by crossing [illegible] then we picked up Aunt Mollie Gonder, and her box of delicious Christmas cakes that she always took to her girlhood friend, Mrs. Gilmor Hamill. As she visited and left her gift we took the produce ordered for the Season by The Semmes and Gilmore Hamill's and others I recall that Semmes had a special building where his hams, turkeys, and other game were hung to age and to keep chilled. After several stops we picked up Aunt Mollie and back down town we went.

There were the stops at Mr. Townshend's and Mr. Creutzburg's stores. They smelled so good, and it was fun to watch the coffee grinders work, and to see Mr. Creutzburg, in his big white apron, cut the meats on his big, clean butcher block. We bought some groceries there and then climbed the tall steps to Townshend's. Then over to Hart's dry good store, where Mr. Hart unrolled the good-smelling bolts of yard gonds for measuring, and where another raft of amazing things made memories, the Victorian Thread cases, the bolts of laces, brands and the buttons were of mending wonder. Next there was a stop at Hyde's Jewelry, where the happy and affectionate welcome of Mrs. Hyde was a joyous interlude.

We stopped next door at Sturgiss Pharmacy where Heinz was serving hot cups of "the new" bouillon, made from cubes. They were just being put on the market.

The store stop that seems and landed in wonderland. . . many round tables arranged with seemingly endless displays of colorfull china, glass nther Christmas trade dise. Here I bought glass dish for a nicke for my mother, and the Rev. John M. sister and me each a plate, their advertizing that year.

Another stop at Bakery, for the now ent coconut strap can with my hand firmly father's we went to Harness Shop. Oh, the table smell of the new leather, the unfr awe-someness uf that horse-[illegible] graced Mr. shop! Then we walked ove big's Mill where Mr. I waiting with the sled rode up to Aunt Molli where we got warm, cups of hot tea and sa her most delicious C cakes and cookies. Gold Ownership

Congress earlier this fall voted to restore the right of Americans to own gold — a right we have been denied since it was abridged by President Roosevelt in 1933.

Throughout recorded history gold has been honored as a standard of value. Because of its universally accepted worth, it is especially desired in this era of soaring inflation when paper currency of no intrinsic value and shrinking spending power is blithely printed to cover the deficit financing of government.

Despite the recent action of Congress, however, voices are still being heard on Capitol Hill urging the delay or scuttling of the right to gold ownership. Ostensibly, a delay is needed to pass new Federal regulations to protect potential U.S. gold buyers from unprincipled international wheeler-dealers. The anti-gold ownership rhetoric surrounding the calls for delay, however, suggest that the real intent is to kill the new law.

"... unless something is done between now and December 31 (the day before the law becomes effective) we will see in a matter of months the wreckage of our fiscal and monetary system," said Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez (D-Texas) in a recent speech. Gonzalez also paraphrased William Jennings Byran, suggesting that we are about to "see our American people truly crucified on a cross of gold."

The following day, Rep. Steve Symms (R.-Idaho) rose in the House to challenge Gonzalez. "The American people will not be crucified on a cruss of gold," said Symms. "The only people crucified by the right to own gold are the deficit spenders."

"We fought long and hard for the simple return of a basic, constitutional right which is our only protection against the legalized counterfeiting practiced by this government," Symms added. "The financial policy of any welfare state depends on the politicians' ability to deficit spend, confiscating wealth through the ravages of inflation. Only two things stand in the way of the kind of double-digit inflation we see today — an enlightened, enraged citizenry, and the right to own gold."

While gold ownership may not be quite the panacea suggested by Symms, it is an important move that is needed — and needed now — as a first step toward restoring the confidence of Americans in the stability of our economy. Only such confidence can lead the economy back to good health.—U.S. Press Asso.

Consequences Of Storm Reviewed By Commissioners

Board of Commissioners Monday after a four-year term in office, spent an all-day session reviewing consequences of the snow storm on county residents, the County Roads Department and the emergency measures that were taken last week Under the chairmanship of Commissioner Earl Opel, the County Roads Department followed the standard snow removal plan and in addition, was able to assist the local power companies in plowing areas to get to broken power lines.

The Roads Department, Commissioner Opel said, will assist county residents on private road only, in emergency situations, such as making way for power companies much time is lost at the Roads Department office with requests from residents to have private driveways plowed with county equipment. These requests, Mr. Opel said, must be denied so that the county roads can be properly maintained throughout the duration of a storm.

With 75% of county residents out of electrical power, some residents for over a week, Commissioner Wayne Hamilton contacted Public Service Commission officials and government officials in Pennsylvania to get assurance that all county electrical users would have service restored at the earliest possible time.

Commissioner Hamilton also talked with the State Troopers office and State Highway Administration officials about developing an action plan for emergency situations such as the 3-day tie-up on U.S. Route 40. Trooper Tucker, representing the State Troopers' office, will meet with the Commissioners and County Road officials as well.

In other action, the Commissioners received a notice of grant award in the amount of $42,000 from the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, Division of Emergency Medical Services, for development of an Emergency Medical Services plan for Garrett and Allegany Counties.

The Commissioners also received a lease agreement with the Maryland Department of Transporation for the loan of two buses to the county Commissioners to initiate the Garrett Bus System before the first of the year.

On Tuesday, Commissioners Wayne Hamilton, Don Bender and George Edwards were sworn-in for a four-year term after receiving their commissions from the Governor of Maryland.

The new board will meet officially on Monday for a legislative meeting with Senator Ed Mason and Delegate DeCorsey Bolden. The elected officials will then meet with the public in the Grand Jury Room, Court House.

Public Hearings For Regulations on Wildlife Planned

Public hearings on wildlife regulations will be held more than a month earlier than customary in 1975, Wildlife Administration Ralph Pitely of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources announced today. The Wildlife Administration also will return to the system of holding separate hearings in the Eastern and Western Zones.

First of the hearings will be held in mid-March, tentatively, in Cumberland. At that time proposed regulations governing hunting and trapping seasons and bag limits for the 1976 Fiscal Year will be discussed.

The second public hearing will be held in late March in the Tawes State Office Building in Annapolis. Immediately after this hearing, the proposed regulations will be given final review by the Wildlife Advisory Commission.

The proposed regulations will be submitted to the Secretary of Natural Resources for review and adoption on April 1, and the notice of adoption of the regulations will be published in the Maryland Register, issue of April 16. The regulations become effective, as in the past on July 1.

SPORTS Go-Round

by Larrie Weaver

Ever been on a foxhunt? Here is some of the jargon: first of all, the dogs are called foxhounds. The fox is not shot, but killed by the hounds. The horses, not the people, are known as "the field", and are headed by a huntsman, sometimes the master of the foxhounds. The sport is a traditional one. It is primarily attractive because of the horsemanship involved.

If you have ever been caught on the road with a flat tire you know just how aggravating an experience this can be; but did you know that DEL BORING TIRE SERVICE INC., 258 N. 3rd St., 334-8178 offers complete road service. Thanks Extended

Thanks were expressed in many areas for help during the recent snowstorm.

The most recent one comes from George F. Comp, Jr., director of the county Civil Defense and Emergency Planning.

He wanted to extend his thanks and appreciation to the following for their efforts and cooperation during the snowstorm that occurred here December 1: the fire companies at Grantsville, Accident, Friendsville, Mellenry and Oakland, to the many individuals who assisted, some of whom we may not be directly aware of; and to the utility companies that worked to restore services to the county. He wanted also to thank the American Red Cross, members of the local national guard and a unit from the Hagerstown area that brought a supply of blankets to the civil defense office on Monday, December 2, office on Monday, December 2, and the two Rescue Squads Southern and Northern.

Merry Christmas

THE REPUBLICAN

Christmas Wonder . . .

In a doubting, darkling time, let us remember light. Let us realfirm the good things, examine the purity of a child's smile, ponder the warm mystery of love and those strange tethers that tie us to each other. Let us acknowledge joy, innocence, generosity — and rejoice that, after all, they still exist in human hearts.

Let us take delight in fun and feasting, and the guileless nonsense of toy and tinsel — we need it, all of us. Let us sing our songs sincerely, of peace and brotherhood, and let us try to live by them. — Marion Gough in House Beautiful, which appeared in 1970.

And let us think of the true meaning of Christmas, and what the birth of Jesus Christ signified for the human race — redemption for all who believe and seek forgiveness.

Accountability Program Gives Status Of Student Achievement

A school survey of the current status of student achievement in reading, writing and mathematics, among students of the 3rd, 5th, 7th and 9th grades, in connection with a school accountability and assessment program in Maryland, was released this week to parents of the children tested, and a full report will be sent to the state for inclusion in a report to be given to the upcoming state legislature at Annapolis.

The survey showed a favorable comparison of Garrett county students with students in other schools of the 24 subdivisions. A similar testing program for the same grades which will begin next April will show the standing of Garrett county students with others of the state, for the current year.

Most states now have accountability programs and Maryland's educational Account-

Two Extra Buck Days Announced

Garrett county hunters who were unable to get out in the woods doring regular deer season, on account of the deep snow, will have an opportunity to get another try this Friday and Saturday, December 20 and 21.

William A. Jabine, spokesman for the Department of Natural Resources, said that the legislative and executive review committee had approved the additional days last week. Jabine said only 520 bucks were killed doring the regular 7-day season, compared with 608 for the previous year.

Jabine said the small kill could result in an over popolation of deer in the county and lead to starvation of some deer this winter.

The extended season will apply in Garrett county and hunters who already have killed their one buck for the season, cannot legally kill a second one, Jabine stressed.

Area public schools will close this Friday, December 20, for Christmas vacation. Elementary, high school and kindergartens will reopen Thursday, January 2.

Northern Coaches Injured in Wreck

Northern High School basketball coach Thomas Vent may not be able to return to his duties at the school for a month, due to injuries he sustained in a two-car collision Monday, December 16, about 8 a.m.

He and his passenger, Andrew W. Reed, 28, of Grantsville, were injured while driving west on Route 40 to the high school.

Their car was struck by one operated by David E. Butt, 23, Oakland who was eastbound. According to Maryland State Police, Butt lost control of his automobile on the slushy, slippery highway, crossed the center line and collided headon with the Vent auto.

Vent sustained a broken femur, which required surgery, a broken jawbone and deep facial lacerations. He was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital.

Reed suffered minor injuries and was treated and released at the hospital. Butt refused treatment, State Police reported.

Mr. Reed will assume the head coaching position until Mr. Vent returns. He will be assisted by John Braskey, a former Northern standout basketball player, who will also assume Vent's classroom duties.

Phone Company Seeking Rate Hike, 22 Percent

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company has asked the state Public Service commission for a 22 percent increase in local rates, including doubling the traditional dime public phone call.

The increase, if granted would raise the phone company's annual gross revenues by about $65.6 million.

Inflation was given as the reason by James J. Jacobs, vice president of the company.

The amount of the increase in basic monthly rates for Oakland customers would be $1.50 for individual line residence service, and $2.95 for a main business line.

C&P vice president James J. Jacobs, said "The most striking growth is in the extent to which people use the telephone. We're now connecting over 100 million calls a day in Maryland, twice as many as just ten year ago.

Rates would go up in the following categories:

Public phone calls, from 10 to 20 cents;

Installation charges would be increased about 20 percent;

Need Early Copy For Dec. 26 Issue

Advertisers, news correspondents and others are asked to get next week's copy in a day early, even though the December 26 issue will be published at the regular time. However, since Christmas falls on Wednesday, it will be necessary to get the first run off the press by early Tuesday afternoon, so that all employes may properly celebrate the holiday.

Today's issue contained the usual Christmas greetings from all our advertisers, so the December 26 issue will really be the New Year's issue.

So we stress the fact that all advertisers, correspondents and all others who desire to send items for next week's issue should make an effort to send one day earlier than usual to insure their publication.

Allocations Of Natural Gas Being Reduced

New Regulations To Go Into Effect Next Month

Reductions in allocations of natural gas to large volume industrial customers of Columbia Gas of Maryland will go into effect next month as a result of continuing deterioration of the nation's available supplies of natural gas.

William C. Deems, area manager for the gas company said, that commencing with the January billing period, allocations of natural gas to 15 large volume industrial customers in Maryland would be reduced 10 per cent below normal.

He said this curtailment is necessary at this time in order to keep current with Columbia's changing supply picture.

"Any change in the latest percentage of curtailment will depend upon temperatures experienced in our service area, the amoont of gas conserved by our costomers, and possible fur-

Loan To Sanitary Group Approved

Farmers Home Administration has approved a loan of $156,300 under the Rural Development program to the Garrett County Sanitary Commission to extend water and sewer lines to the Broadford School and a recreational area operated by the commission.

The loan will be repaid in 40 years with 5 percent interest.

Loans for water and sewer projects supportive of rural community development are made under the Rural Development Act of 1972 by the Farmers Home Administration, a Department of Agricolture rural credit service. Benefits of the program are made available without regard to race, color, creed, sex or national origin.

Legislative Issues Given Consideration By Commission

County Again Seeks Funds For Savage River Bridge Near Bloomington

Sen Ed Mason and Delegate DeCorsey Bolden met with the County Commissioners Monday to discuss local needs to be presented at the up-coming Legislative session.

After the failure of the Savage River bridge bill proposed to the General Assembly last session the funding for this project will be included in the bond bill for next fiscal year, according to Del. Bolden.

The representatives also discussed the possibilty of lifting the ceiling on equipment purchased by the Garrett County Roads department, since Garrett is the only county in the state with a limit on funds to be spent on road equipment in any one ye issioner Edwards pointed o a built-in ceiling on Ro epartment equipment purc ocurs through the budg process, and Commissione ation added that if the depart overspends that amount, a bond issue would be sought which would go to referendum, to give the voters the final say. Del. Bolden said he felt a ceiling of some amount should remain in effect.

The commissioners also discussed the equipment to be purchased for the Solid Waste Management program with co-directors of the project, Paul DeWitt and Edgar Harman.

Mr. DeWitt recommended to the Board that they approve purchase of the side-loading method rather than the front-end loading fork truck. He said a truck that can pull up to the site and load refuse and move on without backing up would be safer, and that the front loader would be more costly to maintain due to the additional weight on the front axle of the vehicle.

The Commissioners then directed the Solid Waste Management bureau to solicit quotations on the equipment needed to implement the program. Funding for this project, from the Appalachian Regional Commission, expires on June 30, of next year.

Representatives of the Maryland State Troopers, State Highway Administration, County Roads department and Civil Defense met to discuss alternate snow emergency plans and implementation to help eliminate

John Evans Begins Sheriff's Duties For County Monday

John Evans, Jr. assumed the duties of sheriff of Garrett County shortly after 11 a.m. Monday, and will head a six-man squad of deputies to conduct investigations and serve warrants.

Franklin G. Finch was also sworn in as a deputy, and will serve as new chief deputy for Mr. Evans.

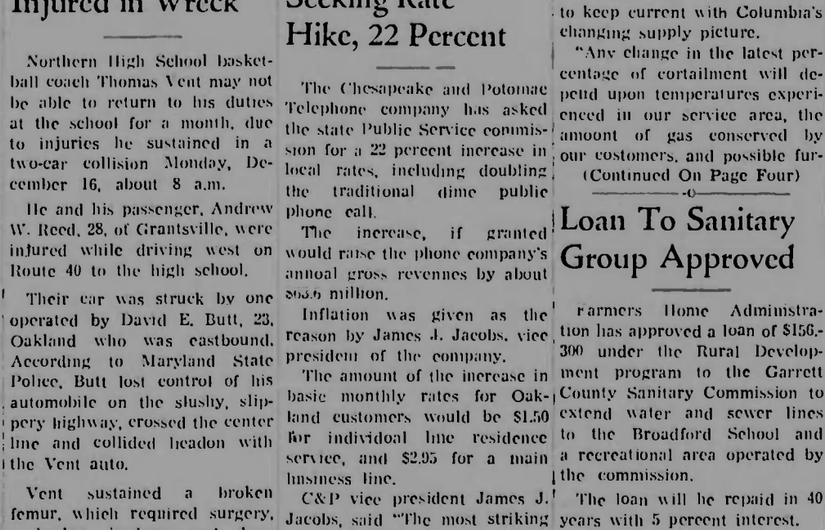
Deputies currently on the staff include Robert L. Finch, William Ferry, Van Evans, William Bernard, and David Livengood.

Deputy Robert Finch and his family have moved into the living quarters at the jail in Oakland, and he will serve as warden of the facility. His wife Kathy will be parttime cook and also serve as matron when one is needed. The full time position of matron, formerly filled by Mrs. Marge Duling, has been eliminated in an economy move by the new administration.

All deputies will be in the uniform of the Garrett County sheriff's department and will drive marked cars while on duty. They will later be assigned areas of the county to work in, according to the chief deputy.

Two additional deputies may be hired in the near future.

Left to right are, Verna Harvey, chapter chairman; Ruthvan Morrow, executive committee member and past vice chairman; I. Lynn Beckman, treasurer; D. Lester White, executive director of the campaign, and Mrs. Hazel Margraff, Accident, Mothers' March chairman in that area who has been working with the March of Dimes for over 25 years.



NEW SHERIFF JOHN EVANS, JR., center, and new chief deputy Frank Finch, right, took their oaths of office Monday morning shortly after 11 o'clock in the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the circuit court. Administering the oath is Clifford DeWitt, deputy clerk, in the absence of Mr. Davis. A few changes have been inaugurated by the new sheriff, and other changes are in the planning stage, according to Sheriff Evans.

ability Act of 1972 called for a school by school survey of the current status of student achievement in reading, writing and mathematics. Some 218,309 students were tested in the state, measuring the skills of the students in those four grades. The instrument used was the Iowa Test of Basic Skills, also the Cognitive Abilities Test, according to Albert Ringer, director of curriculum and instruction for the county Board of Education. Mr. Ringer has been a member of the state advisory committee on the accountability program.

Using data from these tests, grade level expectations were computed for each pupil, each school in the county. As a further refinement, each school's expectations were modified by a statistical formula that applied the variations in socio-economic and environmental conditions for that school.

Since these factors vary from school to school, test interpretation should not include comparing one school with another, but only each school with that school's Maryland expected score, it was pointed out.

Similar standardized test data already have been released by several counties of Maryland, but the recent snowstorm delayed the Garrett program for several days.

The program in this county was given to 1,784 students, 424 in the third grade, 450 in the fifth, 503 in grade seven and 407 in grade 9, out of a total enrollment of 1,812, or 97 percent tested.

Initial effort of the Accountability program was to have the state identify local goals. Currently goals and objectives are being developed for all the schools of the county to improve skills and curricular offerings.

The relation of achievement by skill areas to Maryland norms were shown by a chart which indicated the standing of the schools in this county for reading, language, and mathematics.

In reading 69 percent of the schools in grade three, 73 percent of the schools in grade 5, 83 percent of the schools in grade 7 and 66 percent of the schools in grade 9 scored above the state norm; in mathematics it was 69 percent of schools in grade 3, 66 percent of schools in grade 5, and 83 percent of schools in grade 7 and 66 percent of the schools in grade 9 scored above the state norm.

The test showed the nonverbal ability of Garrett county youth was similar to that of the remainder of Maryland. The test also showed the youth of the county scored lowest in the enrricular area of language and its usage, as compared to reading and mathematics.

Mr. Ringer made several recommendations to further improve educational programs and services, that language arts resource teachers be provided for all schools, mathematics resource teachers be provided resource teachers for elementary and middle schools, workshops for teachers, that special trained teachers be employed for secondary schools to teach basic reading, language arts, mathematics skills to youth below grade level; that more research be made at grade 5 level to ascertain whether this assessment projects a true picture of what is occurring to the educational achievement of youth; and that the state provide additional money to local subdivisions to provide for these unmet needs.

The study also provided socio-economic status data, taking into account the education of the mother and income of the father.

Mr. Ringer pointed out that the results of the assessment did not tell whether the program was moving forward, backward or standing still but that the second year of the state assessment program would give the fact needed to make that kind of judgment.

Asked how these analyses would be used Mr. Ringer said "where one school score is high and another of similar characteristics is low, the qualities that are seen to be a success in the one school will be implanted in the other.

Girl Scouts Have Party

Area Girl scouts held a roller skating party at the invitation of Mt. Lake Park Brownie Troop, 116, last Thursday evening at the Tri-R Roller Rink.

To the surprise of most, many apparent beginners managed to stay on their feet. About 50 girls took part in the skating. Refreshments were served and the party concluded with the Friendship Circle and singing of Taps.

"Christmas Goodies"

Before you buy the goodies you'll be baking, go over the recipes and make a list of needed ingredients you may need to replenish your spices. Spices should have a bright lively color in appearance and a pungent aroma. Pour a small amount into the palm of your hand, close and allow the spice to warm, sniff the aroma and you can tell if it has lost its strength.

Nuts are usually cheaper in the shell, but buying them shelled saves time, labor and storage spaces, as a rule it takes 2½ to 3 lbs. of nuts in the shell to make 1 lb. nutmeats.

The Quaker Oats Company came out with tested cookies recipes for saving sugar.

TOP HAT COOKIES

Makes about 2 dozen.

¼ cup butter or margarine, soft, ¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar, ¼ cup granulated sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, ½ cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked, 12 large marshmallows, cut in half, six 0.5 oz. chocolate bars, cut into 24 pieces.

Heat oven to moderate (375). Beat together butter, sugars, vanilla, salt and egg until thoroughly blended. Add flour; mix until well blended. Stir in oats, drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased cookie sheets. Flatten with spatula. Bake in preheated oven (375 F.) 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from oven; place chocolate piece and half of marshmallow on top of each cookie. Return to oven and bake additional 3 minutes.

MAPLE SYRUP COOKIES-Makes 3½ dozen.

½ cup shortening, soft, ¾ cup maple-blended syrup, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspoon almond extract, 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1-½ teaspoons baking powder 1-½ cups quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked; ½ cup chopped nutmeats.

Heat oven to moderate (375-F.). Beat shortening until fluffy; gradually add maple-blended syrup, beating well. Blend in egg until light, add vanilla and almond extract. Sift together flour, salt and baking powder; add to creamed mixture. Stir in oats and nutmeats. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased cookie sheets. Bake in preheated oven (375 F.) 12 to 15 minutes.

future snow tie-ups as experienced two weeks ago.

Potomac Edison representatives Edward Ewald, James Stitt and Hugh Denison met with county officials to review their operations to restore power to county residents following the recent snowstorm. Mr. Ewald said that Potomac Edison was not accepting liability for losses incurred by subscribers during the outage.

In looking for a means to aid county residents in recovering some of their losses, the Commissioners met with Extension Service personnel, the Farmers' Home Administration and ASC representatives.

Aid to farmers in the form of loans would be available, it was stated, but no grant money is awarded in Maryland for this purpose. Maryland's Secretary of Agriculture, Y. D Hance, supported that position, but added that he was exploring a means for recovery at a federal level. Mr. Hamilton spoke with Secretary Hance on behalf of county residents and particularly county farmers because of their expressed concern to look for a source to overcome the financial setback they experienced as a result of the snow storm and electricity failure.

Commissioners Edwards and Hamilton met with the town council of Grantsville and their engineering consultants, Rummel, Klepper and Kahl to discuss the possibility of obtaining Appalachian regional commission funding to correct the high mineral content in the water supply for Grantsville. Commissioner Hamilton attended the meeting in the capacity of president of the Tri-County Council, along with a staff member of the council, Benjamin Barry.

ther changes in the gas supply picture," the gas company spokesman said.

"Increased curtailment from some non-affiliated pipeline suppliers that bring gas from the Southwest and a greater than anticipated decline in deliverability from producers that sell gas directly to the Columbia Gas System have resulted in a reduction in the amount of the gas the System has available to meet customer needs. This general decline in available supply is not being offset by the development of new supplies from the Southwest in spite of concentrated supply procurement efforts by the Columbia System and its suppliers," he said.

"Columbia is urging all of its customers to reduce their gas consumption," Mr. Deems said. "Every cubic foot of gas our customers can conserve will help ease the burden on these industrial customers and help protect the jobs of those who work in affected industries.

up about 8 percent, with a new one-minute minimum for most such calls.

Other proposed changes include a 7½ cent charge for each message unit over the allowance for measured residence service and 8 cents for business service, a monthly rate of $1.30 for a residence extension and $1.75 for a business extension: and increases of about 22 percent in private line and extension line services.

The new rates could go into effect as soon as January 17.

In applying to the Maryland Public Service commission, C&P said that it required additional annual revenue of $63.6 million (about $32.3 million after taxes) to meet its commitment to provide customers with the best possible telephone service.

Record Number Of Unemployment Claims Last Week

Approximately 15 percent of the county's labor force is now unemployed, according to the Department of Employment Security office in Oakland.

Last week, 1,375 persons filed unemployment claims, the largest number ever recorded in one week. The number on the unemployment rolls usually takes a seasonal increase at this time of year, but never before have so many been out of work, according to Charles L. Briner, manager.

Construction and road work is at a standstill, and will probably remain so until February or March.

The coal strike has also caused some non-union miners to stay off their jobs, and these men have also filed for unemployment, he added.

An additional 250 new claims will be filed next week, when one of the county's large companies closes down for two weeks due to high inventory stocks.

The eight employes at the local Employment Security office are doing their best to keep up with the flow of new claims Mr. Briner said. One new employe has been hired to help cope with the work load. All unemployment checks are mailed from Baltimore through a computer system

Many employers are not hiring due to the general state of the economy, but there are some job openings for highly-skilled workers, it was stated.

Area Gets More Snow This Week

Snow and more snow fell with six more inches being dumped on the area during the past week. Temperatures have averaged just about normal for the past week. Roads were reported to be snowcovered but passable this morning.

State Highway Administration reported that all roads were snowcovered but passable and they have 40 men and 24 pieces of equipment clearing and sanding this morning. The County Roads Department spokesman said roads are in the same condition but some equipment breakdowns are slowing up some clearing of roads.

The sun has shown very little this week as there was some clearing late Saturday and Tuesday afternoon. Otherwise skies have been cloudy. Half an inch of snow fell late Friday and early Saturday morning. Since the storm started Tuesday afternoon, about six inches of snow have fallen and snow is continuing this morning. There was a light wind blowing yesterday morning but only slight drifting.

Daily highs have averaged 36 4 or about 3 8 below normal with highest being 39 degrees last Thursday. The mercury got no higher than 27 degrees yesterday. Lows averaged 24.1 degrees or 3 9 below the normal. The coldest was Sunday with 15 degrees and 16 this morning.

Although winter weather has prevailed for several weeks, winter officially does not begin until 12:57 a.m. Sunday. This is considered the shortest day of the year being 8 hours and 46 minutes long. This is called the Winter Solstice when the sun is at its farthest point on its journey south. Days will now begin to get longer.

Recent Accidents Injure Some; Many Due To Snowstorm

Some persons were injured in recent mishaps and some wrecks were due to the snow storm. They occurred in scattered parts of the county.

William Holt Bricker, Riverdale, operator of the car, and his passenger, John C. Vitelliss, Gaithersburg, were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a wreck at 1 a.m. December 1 on U.S. Route 219 near Rock Lodge road.

Bricker was driving south on Route 219 as Elwood Felty, Uniontown, Pa., also slightly injured, was driving north. The two cars hit headon, the road surface was snowcovered and the centerline of the road could not be determined. Trooper J. L. Foley investigated.

Dewey E. Keller, Kitzmiller, was slightly injured in a two-car mishap late the evening of December 3, on the Kitzmiller road just north of the Vindex road.

Keller was traveling south and slid off the roadway to the left and into a snowbank, causing some damage to the vehicle. Vernon D. James, also of Kitzmiller, following the Keller car, began sliding on the snowcovered road and struck it. Trooper Hinnant Investigated.

Roy W. Turney, Beaver Falls, Pa., was slightly injured in a one-car accident as he proceeded north on Route 219 near Keyser Ridge. He became sleepy, failed to stop, crossed U.S. Route 40 and collided with the guard rails on the north shoulder. Tfc. C. D. Skidmire made no charges.

Several other apparent non-injury accidents were noted.

Wilford G. Lucas, West Hamlin, W. Va., was proceeding south on Route 219 near the Mattingly Hill road the afternoon of December 7, as William P. Angland, Keyser, W. Va., was driving north. Angland made a left turn into Mattingly Hill road. Lucas was unable to stop and struck the Angland car. Trooper G. A. Berkebile charged Angland on two counts, failing to grant the right-of-way when making a left turn and operating a vehicle without a permit in possession.

Richard A. Rowlett, Laurel, and Paul N. Frazee, Elder Hill, Friendsville, were traveling east on Md. Route 135 just east of Oakland the morning of December 3. Rowlett came to a sudden stop on the traveled portion of Route 135 without giving any signal. Frazee, due to the snow-covered highway, was unable to stop and hit the Rowlett car in the rear. Trooper Foley charged Rowlett with stopping on the traveled portion of the highway.

Wayne A. Skidmore, Silver Spring, was in the process of parking on Deep Creek drive just past midnight December 8. An unknown operator driving the car of Stanley R. Patterson, Sistersville, W. Va., traveling south bound failed to note the vehicle parking, from apparent inattention, collided with it and then failed to stop. Trooper Hinnant investigated.

The car of Joseph H. Young, Jr., Pittsburgh, was parked, unattended on the northbound shoulder of Route 219 the morning of December 5. Roy J. Riffle, Rt. 42, Friendsville, hit the Young car in the left door area. Riffle stated he fell asleep. Trooper Foley charged Riffle with negligent driving.

Clyde D. Yoder, Springs, Pa., was traveling south on Route 219 near the Sand Flat road the morning of December 5. A car driven by Warren C. Teets, RD 1, Oakland, pulled from a drive and attempted to go south on Route 219, pulling into the path of the Yoder car. Tfc G. D. Broadwater charged Teets with failing to grant the right-of-way from a private drive.

Teddy L. Kitzmiller, RD, Accident, was southbound on Route 219 just south of Bumble Bee road about an hour after the above accident and attempted to slow for a vehicle ahead. In doing so, Kitzmiller went across to the left lane and struck the oncoming, northbound pick-up driven by James C. Stephens, RD 1, Oakland. Tfc. Broadwater charged Kitzmiller with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Milton E. Feather, Eglon, W. Va., was driving west on U.S. Route 50 at Md Route 396 the afternoon of December 7, as Wilford C. Dempsey, Jr., Richmond, Va., was headed east. Dempsey made a left turn into the path of the Feather car at the intersection. Tfc. Ronald Lewis charged Dempsey with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Richard A. Towers, Grantsville, was traveling south on Fairview road near New Germany road as Allan J. Ehnemus, Jr., Severna Park, was driving north. Both vehicles came in contact with each other's left side, the road being very narrow. Tfc. Dale K. Williams made no charges in the mishap which occurred December 7.

Charles R. Lykens, Oxford, Pa., was stopped eastbound on Route 40 due to the snowstorm and traffic. James M. Wood, Thurmont, traveling west, lost control of his car, went to the left side of the road and struck the Lykens car. Tfc. Broadwater investigated.

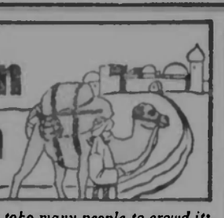
The car of James F. Schoen, Rockville, was parked along Rock Lodge road just east of Route 219 the morning of December 7 headed west. The car was struck in the right front by an unknown vehicle that failed to stop. The description of the vehicle is known. Tfc. Lewis investigated.

Michael D. Sweitzer, RD 1, Oakland, stated due to fog, he was watching the yellow line and failed to notice a snowbank where the exit ramp went off of U.S. Route 48 just east of Beall School overpass. He ran onto the snow and overturned. Trooper Ronald Georg charged him with operating an unsafe vehicle. The accident occurred just past midnight December 8.

Harry D. Swank, Boyds, in a pick-up, was headed south on the Frantz road just north of the Accident-Bittinger road the afternoon of November 29, as John B. Forrester, Jr., Baltimore, was driving north. They met on a sharp curve with both vehicles in the center of the road. Both swerved but Swank ran off the road and struck a tree stump. Trooper Georg investigated this one also.

Ricky L. Moon, RD 1, Gormania, driving a tractor-trailer, had stopped in the lane of traffic on Route 219 near Rock Lodge road the afternoon of November 29 to allow traffic to clear the narrow Deep Creek Lake bridge. Ronald W. Schrock, also of RD 1, Gormania, following in a truck, applied his brakes but a brake line broke with brakes failing and ran into the rig. Trooper Georg made no charges.

Christmas in Bethlehem



Bethlehem is a little city, and it does not take many people to crowd it; but, besides being the birthplace of Jesus, it is the birthplace of Israel's great warrior-king, David.

When the thoughts of the civilized world turn to Bethlehem, many wonder how the people there keep this greatest religious holiday. Very few American children can visit the little city, yet a number of travelers from America and Europe come to the Holy Land every year. Travelers want to be among those who crowd the streets on Christmas Day.

The Church of the Nativity has been built in Bethlehem. It is because of this that Christians in the "City of the Nativity," rejoice and proclaim "peace on earth" and "good will toward men."

A procession of bishops, priests and people form in the square in front of the church. Each is dressed in his most gorgeous robe. Christmas Day in Bethlehem is not the Christmas Day we know; it is full of religious ceremonies, and when these are over young and old go back to their accustomed life. Christmas to them is much the same as any other day of the year.

Who would not be glad to spend a Christmas eve and day where He who made the glad day possible was born?

B.P.W. Has Christmas Dinner December 12

Members of the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club met last Thursday evening at the McHenry House, Wisp, for the annual Christmas dinner and gift exchange.

President Mary Hipp presided over the brief business session.

Ada Mae Welch, program chairman, made ribbon roses for each person present, assisted by Mrs. Joanne Raynovich.

Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus dolls made and donated by Mrs. Lucille Shorh went to Dr. Jean Shaw. The centerpiece was awarded to Mrs. Hipp.

Among the 20 members and guests present were two prospective members, Mrs. Bonnie Cowen, Accident, and Patty Schenk.

Next month's meeting will be at the Oakland country club, when the group will hold its annual Young Careerist competition. That will also be guest night for members.

Tennant Transferred

Cecil Tennant, a foreman for Potomac Edison company, and formerly with the Monongahela Power company, has been transferred to the Winchester, Va., division of the same company, as of January 1, it was announced this week by Hugh Denison, area supervisor for PE. He will hold a similar position in Winchester.

He is being replaced by G. William Baker, Cumberland, who will move to the area with his wife and two children.

Mrs. Tennant, teacher of home economics at Southern High school, plans to complete her teaching year before moving to Winchester.

Gen. W. B. Saxbe was named ambassador to India.

FELLOW CITIZENS — TAKE A MINUTE

The troubled times we are now facing will be handled differently by different people. Depending upon your background and attitudes upon life, you alone will answer how you personally will handle the situation at hand and in the future.

May I offer some suggestions which may assist you — whoever you may be — whatever your age: Think of the guy who has it worse than you — you could be worse off. Do the other man a good deed -- without the thought of when he will help me. Write a letter NOW, to a government "leader" and insist that he cut taxes — so we can survive to pay our taxes. Talk to your neighbor about what his problems are and how you can help (it's possible that you can better write a letter for him to someone in Government.

The only possible way we can break the back of inflation is to reduce Government spending. The many hours of research I spent in the past campaign can benefit you — the figures are still there and they can be used by you. Our men in County government here will listen IF THEY HEAR FROM YOU. They know where I stand — we must cut budgets — we must reduce spending. You can tell them. Letters will help. Once you write and a miracle doesn't happen, don't give up and say I tried. Keep writing letters, keep talking, use your phone — call them.

This country didn't get great by quitters. Quitters never win. Let's face the task with an attitude of we will make it, we won't give up. Buckle down to the task — whatever it is: Let's pull together, we'll make it through these times and be stronger for it. Don't let the doomsday people into your ear or eyeball. Remember you can't keep a good man down.

One final thought for now, remember the Man upstairs. It doesn't cost you anything to spend a minute Thanking Him for what you do have.

Fort Hill Edges Southern 68 to 62

Previously unbeaten Southern High went down to the wire Tuesday night but the Rams still became the third victim for the Sentinels of Fort Hill at Cumberland.

Overcoming a height disadvantage with a stubborn defense the Oakland team trailed the Sentinels by only four points at 66-62 with two minutes left in the game. Fort Hill went into a safety slowdown and Sentinel guard Dudiak drew an intentional foul at the 1:20 mark. Dudiak hit the first of two tries. Fifteen seconds later the Rams were again forced to foul and Wormack again made one of two tries, putting the Sentinels ahead by six points.

Turning the tide for the Sentinels in the final moments were Dudiak and Lyle Peck.

Struggling inside against Peck were Southern forwards Kevin Liller and Allen Lewis. This combination competed successfully inside against Fort Hill. Scoring-wise Liller had 19 of the Rams' 29 points in the final quarter and Lewis hit for five.

After trailing 28 to 21 at the half Southern held on and ended the third period down 49 to 43. Both squads scored 19 points in the final period. Southern held an 8-5 edge in fourth quarter field goals, but at the foul line the visitors hit only 3 of 10 free throws. Fort Hill had nine of 21 in the last period.

Guard Tom Panther was second in scoring with 17 points but fouled out in the final period. Liller was high for the Rams with 20 points and Lewis had 12. E. Panther had 6, Griffith 2, Shotwell 5 to complete the scoring.

In the Junior Varsity contest Fort Hill rolled to a 60 to 15 victory over the Southern's 10th grade.

The Rams will play Elk Garden on the Oakland court on Friday evening.

THE HOLLY and THE IVY

The Holly and the Ivy,
When they are both fully grown
Of all the trees are in the wood,
The Holly bears the crown.
O the rising of the sun,
And the running of the deer,
The playing of the merry organ,
Sweet singing of the choir,
The Holly bears a blossom
As white as any flower:
And Mary bore sweet Jesus Christ
To be our sweet Saviour.
The Holly bears a berry
As red as any blood,
And Mary bore sweet Jesus Christ
To do poor sinners good.
The Holly bears a prickle
As sharp as any thorn:
And Mary bore sweet Jesus Christ
On Christmas in the morn
The Holly bears a bark
As bitter as any gall:
And Mary bore sweet Jesus Christ
For to redeem us all.
The Holly and the Ivy
Now both are full well grown
Of all the trees are in the wood
The Holly bears the crown.

Merry! Merry! Merry! Ring Christmas Bells

Ringing around the world and across the ages, bells are a part of the traditions of Christmas.

Zurich, Switzerland, has long been recognized for beautiful bells. Every Christmas Eve, the Zurich bells ring out loud and clear, calling families to church.

This same tradition is repeated in thousands of other cities, where chimes and bells ring out at midnight from the steeples and spires of churches.

Bells contribute to the sights as well as the sounds of the holiday season. They are a popular decoration and are used as ornaments on trees.

It is said that bells inspired Clement C. Moore to write his famous poem, "A Visit from St. Nicholas." The inspiration came from listening to the merry jingle of bells on his horses' harness, as he drove along on a frosty winter night.

ANNIVERSARY

The anniversary of the birth of Jesus Christ is the greatest festival of the year, and is one of the few religious events observed by all His followers. Indeed, to all Christians the birthday of the Messiah shares with Easter the distinction of being one of the two most solemn events of all history.

I LIKE YOURS, TOO . . . Dolls and cuddly things bring smiles to young ladies on Christmas morning. Each Christmas brings memorable moments, often captured for posterity with the new camera dad found beneath the tree.

Hanukkah Pre-Dates Christmas

Among the holidays at this time of year is the Jewish celebration of Hanukkah. Because Hanukkah is generally celebrated in December, it is sometimes referred to as the Jewish Christmas. As at Christmas, gifts are exchanged, candles are lit and it is a time of rejoicing.

Even though there are similarities in the customs celebrated at Hanukkah and Christmas, their origins and meanings are entirely different and Hanukkah predates Christmas.

Hanukkah is an eight day festival commemorating the military and spiritual victory of Judas Maccabaeus and his army over the King of Syria, who attempted to crush the Jewish faith in one God. Hanukkah, derived from the Hebrew word meaning dedication, is also called 'The Feast of Dedication' and "The Festival of the Lights." It always starts on the 25th day of the Jewish month of Kislev. Because the Jewish calendar is based on the moon rather than the sun, the Jewish holidays fall each year on varying dates of the solar 365-day calendar.

Menorah

On the first evening, a Hanukkah candelabra (menorah) is placed on a windowsill so that it can be seen by those who pass outside. The special menorah used at Hanukkah time holds nine candles, one for each of the eight days and a center called shamash. The shamash is used to light the Hanukkah candles.

At sundown, on the first day, the head of the household lights the first candle while the other members gather around. New candles are lit each evening and the number is increased by one, until on the eighth night eight Hanukkah candles are kindled in addition to the shamash.

Children usually receive money, called Hanukkah gelt, from parents and friends on the first day of Hanukkah, and adults often exchange gifts. In a few families, gifts are given each day of Hanukkah.

Hanukkah is often spelled Chanukah because of the difficulty in transliterating the word from Hebrew to English. The "ch" or "h" beginning of the word is a sound that comes from the throat. It is pronounced "hah' nuh-kah."

Writes Letter To Morgantown Editor

Dr. I. A. Wiles wrote a letter to the editor of the Dominion-Post at Morgantown, and sent a copy to The Republican, giving an account of his forced sojourn at Accident during the recent snowstorm, praising the Accident volunteer fire department, police and highway departments.

His letter is similar to others published in The Republican within the two weeks, and is too long to be used in full this week.

He stressed the marooning of the modern day Thanksgiving Pilgrims. He said the arrival of the mass of humanity could have been the beginning of tragedy at Accident but the volunteer firemen, volunteer ladies and others made it an experience entirely devoid of panic.

He described the firemen courteous, dedicated, unpaid, humanitarian. He suggested that purses be loosened to provide funds for volunteer fire companies. He termed the experience one which he did not enjoy but one which confirmed his belief in the greatness of human beings.

He closed with this comment: "Mr. Editor, there is light. It is generated by human beings and requires no wires for transmission. Don't you suppose that it has been there all of the time. It just needed to be turned on."

THE MISTLETOE

The custom today of giting a kiss of love or peace beneath the mistletoe, although a relatively modern one, is derived from the fact that down through the centuries the mistletoe has been recognized throughout the whole world as a symbol of lasting peace.

Ancient Europeans considered the mistletoe a magical medicine. They carried it about with them for health and luck, and believed it a cure for ulcers and epilepsy as well as a charm promoting fertility.

Mistletoe traditions are said to have begun with the ancient Druids. They attributed great power to the plant. It was supposed to prevent disease and keep away witches. Mistletoe means "all heal."

Yough Area Strip Mine Law Offered

The Department of Natural Resources proposed regulations yesterday to severely limit strip mining operations along the Youghiogheny river in this county.

William Jabine, a department spokesman, said the regulations established by James B. Coulter, Natural Resources secretary, would virtually prohibit open pit mining in a scenic corridor consisting of all land visible from the river.

It would also set several conditions which would have to be met before mining would be allowed in a larger scenic buffer zone, an area ranging from one to two miles on either side of the river.

Jabine said the regulations will automatically go into effect after sufficient time is allowed for public response, unless Coulter decides to change them.

The scenic corridor consists of all land on either side of the river visible from the opposite bank, disregarding the screening effect of trees and other vegetation.

In the area, the regulations would prohibit any mining unless the applicant "demonstrates to the satisfaction of the bureau that the proposed mining operation would have a negligible effect on the fundamental character and [illegible] values of the river and [illegible] corridor."

The department included the exception because of advice that a flat prohibition, which would prohibit even digging for coal with a hand shovel, would be more vulnerable to legal challenge without it.

Mining would be permitted in the larger buffer zone only if the applicant satisfied the bureau of mines that there would be no undue effect because of the size of the operation, proximity to the river or proximity to other man-made changes.

It also must show the operation would not significantly affect the scenic, wilderness, archeological or recreational values of the area.

The bureau also would have to take into effect items as generation of dust and noise and the availability of technology to lessen the impact of the operation and to restore the area to its original state.

Jabine said it would be the responsibility of the applicant to satisfy the bureau on each of these standards.

The question of mining in the Youghiogheny River area was raised when Hopwood Strip Mine, Inc., applied to mine coal along the river.

Coulter first indicated he would deny the application but reversed his stand when an investigation showed the land to be mined lay outside the scenic river zone.

The hearings, to be conducted by the Water Resources Administration, Maryland Department of Natural Resources, will consider proposals of Cobra Fuels, Oakland, for a permit covering effluents from sediment traps collecting strip mine drainage to Milters Run and a tributary of the Youghiogheny River; Laoc Coal Company, Oakland, for effluent from a sediment pond to the Youghiogheny; Ponderosa Coal Company, Friendsville, for similar discharges into a tributary of Buffalo Run; G&S Coal Company, Bayard, West Virginia, for discharges to Folly Run, Elklick Run, Laurel Run and Jennings Run, all southwest of Bloomington;

Southern Menu Is Peas, Rice

It is a tradition in the South to eat black-eyed peas and rice on New Year's Day—for good luck. One source says the Romans associated the spots, or eyes, with death and used the beans as a sacrifice. You may not believe in Hopping John's ability to bring luck, but you can believe in its ability to save you money. Recipe follows:

1 cup dried black-eyed peas
¼ pound smoked bacon or salt pork, cubed
1 red pepper pod, crumpled
3 cups cooked rice
1 onion, chopped
Salt and pepper to taste

Cover peas with water; soak over night. Next day, add more water along with the onion, salt pork or bacon and red pepper and simmer until tender, about 1½ hours. Stir in rice, heat thoroughly and serve.

Fireplace Adds To Holiday Atmosphere

For many families, the holidays would be incomplete without a fire in the fireplace. However, a small fire is just as cheerful as a roaring one—and much safer.

Most people prefer wood logs, although coal or charcoal can be used, especially in small fireplaces with grates. Hardwoods make the best wood fire. Scrap lumber or softwood create too hot a flame and can cause sparks to fly out the chimney. This may be a fire hazard to your roof or nearby trees.

If a fire is not out before you retire, push the logs in to the rear of the fireplace or stand them securely into either corner. Be sure the fireplace screen is securely in place. At Christmastime, DO NOT burn wrappings from presents in the fireplace, flames may flare into the room.

Forget, forgive, for who may say that Christmas day may never come to host or guest again..

— WILLIAM MURRAY

The Christmas spirit brings home to us—or should bring home to us—the profound Biblical truth that "It is more blessed to give than to receive." Anything that inspires unselfishness makes for our own ennoblement. Christmas does that. I am for Christmas.

— B. C. FORBES

I love Christmas but I'm glad it comes but once a year.

— WILLIAM FEATHER

Letters To Editor Must Be Signed

Every so often the editor is compelled to tell over and over again the rules and regulations in regard to letters to the editor.

In the first place, they must be signed by the writer, not a typewritten signature, but in the writer's own handwriting. It can't be from a "concerned" person, "interested student," "worried taxpayer," or some organization. Writers must be responsible for what is said, and the editor must know who is saying what.

On our masthead is the stipulation that letters to the editor must be kept brief, in most cases no longer than 200 words. They should stick to one theme and not ramble all over creation. Sure, there are lots of troubles in the world, but confine remarks to one topic.

We have received unsigned letters recently that are distorted and without any factual foundation. These unsigned messages are usually consigned to file 13—the wastebasket.

So this is a reminder once again under no circumstances will a letter to the editor be used if it does not have the signature of the writer.

Energizing The Economy

Though it is labored a "lame-duck" Congress because many of its members were defeated at the polls or plan to retire this year, the 93rd Congress continues to exercise responsibility for consideration of legislation. It is not at an end. An important work facing the incoming 94th Congress is the task of energizing the economy. How to accomplish this objective is the question. The country needs a great deal more consensus. There are a few. But more attention should be given to the people country and its people comes who bear heavy responsibilities as employers and producers of goods and services. These are the people with practical knowledge of how the economy works.

It is unfortunate that the views of businessmen aren't solicited more often, for today's businessmen are articulate about the problems facing our country.

A case in point is the recent statement supplied to President Ford by William B. Johnson, chairman of IC Industries.

Mr. Johnson pointed out that the "economic strength of the country is the people who create it. Government can only regulate it, tax it, or destroy it. Any economic unit which consumes more than it produces will get poorer; those dependent upon it will suffer."

Mr. Johnson observed that "Governments are not producers of goods; they are consumers, service-oriented, and represent a kind of overhead function to the country as an economic unit."

These are basic economic truths which often are lost sight of by both federal and state legislators. Hopefully, the realities facing the nation will compel Congress to acknowledge the validity of the economic facts cited by Mr. Johnson.

In his statement submitted to the President, Mr. Johnson spelled out what needs to be done to increase production in this country and, thereby, to whip inflation. His No. 1 recommendation — and it should be on everyone's list — was for a balanced budget or surplus in fiscal year '75. Indeed the objective of a balanced budget or a surplus should be the objective of every state government as well.

In addition, Mr. Johnson proposed new incentives for the people at this difficult time. He proposed incentives to save, such as "tax exemptions for interest on savings." He proposed incentives to invest, such as reform of the capital gains taxes. Finally, he stressed the need for incentives to produce.

As a parallel program, Mr. Johnson recommended that the federal government stretch out, substitute, defer or discontinue costly national programs which do not produce goods, such as environmental investments, subsidies which raise prices new from production. Any economic unit which consumes more than it produces will get poorer; those dependent upon it will suffer."

SUE'S CHRISTMAS ... PIXIE FELT MOP COMFORTABLE IN JEANS

Yule Charity Rackets Are Now In Season

Sharp operators, of course, are active throughout the year. During the holidays, though, they step up their efforts to take money from their victims. It is too often that their reasoning and their schemes are highly effective. They know that Christmas shoppers carry more money than usual and that a heightened spirit of generosity prevails during the holidays. Even those who are generally cautious are more vulnerable to gyps at this time.

Swindlers capitalize on perhaps millions of dollars a year intended for worthwhile causes. Charity racketeers use any number of schemes including door-to-door appeals, questionable "religious" organizations, nonexistent "handicapped" groups, to name a few. "Christmas donations" for a local hospital or church are common, but some donations never reach the intended beneficiary. Be very wary of unknown organizations making charity appeals; they may or may not be legitimate and you should demand credentials of solicitors.

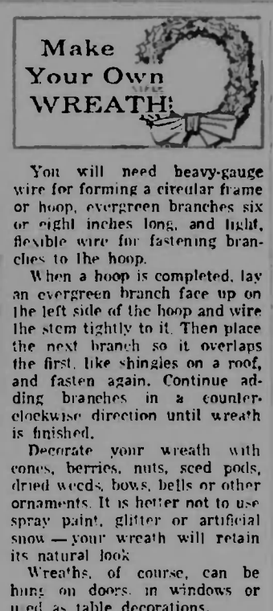
Legislation, and regulatory agencies were created to combat these problems.

There are common sense proposals which should appeal to reasonable legislators in both the 93rd Congress and 94th Congress. Indeed the country won't get out of its current economic predicament until the nation's legislators understand the need for concentrating on programs which encourage production of goods.

There isn't anything wrong with America's economic system. But, at the moment, it isn't being allowed to work. The amount of government "overhead" is colossal. The first task of Congress should be to reduce that overhead.



You will need heavy-gauge wire for forming a circular frame or hoop, evergreen branches six or eight inches long, and light, flexible wire for fastening branches to the hoop.

When a hoop is completed, lay an evergreen branch face up on the left side of the hoop and wire the stem tightly to it. Then place the next branch so it overlaps the first, like shingles on a roof, and fasten again. Continue adding branches in a counter-clockwise direction until wreath is finished.

Decorate your wreath with cones, berries, nuts, seed pods, dried weeds, bows, bells or other ornaments. It is better not to use spray paint, glitter or artificial snow — your wreath will retain its natural look.

Wreaths, of course, can be hung on doors, in windows or used as table decorations.

Frosty Is Part Of Happy Christmas

The clownish snowman of song and story — who led the youngsters such a merry chase — conjures up pictures of appled cheeked children with mittened hands and colorful scarves, building an icy figure on the front front lawn. Cast-off clothing, coal for eyes, a carrot for a nose, and a broom tucked jauntily underarm complete the masterpiece.

Legend has it that a snowman has a life of his own after nightfall, and comes to the aid of woeful youngsters when needed. One unhappy young boy, finding two lumps of coal in his stocking, tiptoed out the door and stuck them in his snowman's face. Miraculously, the figure came to life and smilingly invited him to a broomstick ride. Over hill and dale they flew, enjoying the sights and sounds of Christmas Eve merrymaking. The boy returned home enchanted with his trip. A dream? Perhaps! — Snowmen, like parents, think no child should be unhappy at Christmas.

EIGHT ASSOCIATIONS

First and foremost in Christmas is its religious significance. The other seven are: burning the yule log, the Christmas tree, the Christmas carol, the greeting card, the Christmas stocking, hanging the mistletoe, and Santa Claus himself. Since that was written a quarter of a century ago the world has changed, but these symbols remain unchanged.

COLORFUL PLANTS

These colorful little plants are fairly inexpensive and bear fruits that look like ornaments on a Christmas tree. The fruits will last for weeks if you give plants bright light, cool temperatures, and water when needed — Christmas Peppers and Jerusalem Cherries.

Christmas Clubs Aid Holiday Shoppers

If the holidays find you short of cash, there are a number of ways to get it. The bank Christmas Club may or may not be the best way.

Christmas clubs were invented sixty three years ago and their memberships keep growing. The Christmas clubs and Chanukah clubs in 1973, returned three billion in savings to their members and would have returned more if the banks that offer them paid out even the same interest they offer on their lowest paying savings accounts. Some banks do pay interest, under pressure. So, if the Christmas Club is your way of having cash on hand at Christmas time, it is surely worth your time to check the banks for the one that does pay interest.

Many banks, particularly those compelled by local competitive forces to pay interest on club accounts, maintain they don't make money on Christmas Club memberships. But they do hope that by coming to the bank fifty times a year to make Christmas Club deposits, the member will be tempted to open a regular account or apply for a loan.

BOUNCING AND BUMPING ALONG, snowmobile racers at Sunday's racing at Sky View near Swanton round the next-to-last turn before the home stretch. Racing began at noon at the P.S.S.A.-sanctioned race, with over 100 sleds registered and many more brought into the area for riding or as extra racing machines. Approximately 500 persons watched the races despite a bitterly cold wind and sub-freezing temperatures. Another P.S.S.A. sanctioned race will be held at Sky View February 9.

Impractical Solution

Everyone alive has to breathe, and no one favors dirty air. Thus, the Clean Air Act of 1970 was passed for the purpose of achieving acceptable levels of ambient air quality by 1975. This simply means high air quality at ground level where people breathe.

The nation's electric utility companies support this objective, but oppose the means which the federal Environmental Protection Agency has chosen to achieve it. Sulfur emissions, under present rules, must be removed from electric generating plant flue gases, even though they may be emitted from stacks hundreds of feet above the ground and have no appreciable effect on the quality of the air at ground level. Such low-sulfur stack emmissions cannot be achieved except by burning scarce and high-cost, low-sulfur fuels or through the installation of sulfur oxide removal equipment, known as scrubbers. U.S. electric companies have spent more than $300 million in search of a practical solution to the sulfur emission problem. Scrubbers that work and which themselves do not contribute further to environmental problems may someday be developed.

In the meanwhile, much of the nation's vast coal reserves are banned from use in power plants. Low-sulfur, imported fuel oils must be burned in generating stations in many parts of the country at high cost to electric power consumers. The Environmental Protection Agency itself estimates a 17% increase in the cost of electricity to the consumer just to cover the use of sulfur removal devices in generating plants. Other authorities predict a 20 to 30 percent increase. Continuing inflation will boost these costs.

Congress should take action to clarify the meaning of its clean air legislation and permit the use of the nation's coal supplies in power plants designed and located in such a way as to meet ground level air quality standards. The alternative will be to aggravate fuel oil and natural gas supply problems, increase dependence on unreliable foreign supplies of these fuels and add electric power to the energy shortage already plaguing the nation. Clean air we CAN afford. Rigid and impractical methods of achieving it, we CANNOT.

Elderly Drummer Is German Custom

A very old German custom is to have an elderly man, with a drum attached to his neck and resting on his stomach, lead a procession around the house after the Christmas dinner. The drum major marches into each room to frighten away any witches and to prevent them from returning the following year. Finally the group goes to the children's room, which is opened with great ceremony. In the center of the room stands a large Christmas tree, illuminated with candles and laden with gifts for the boys and girls. A huge Janus head or Jack-o-lantern is placed in the center of the tree, lighted with candles so that flame and smoke issue from its mouth, nose, eyes and ears. Then the children make for the tree and soon strip it of the gifts. The older members of the family also exchange gifts and join in the boisterous play with the children.

Holy Night Flower Is Poinsettia

Mexicans tell the story of blood falling on the ground from the broken heart of a young girl and from each drop, a poinsettia plant grew. The poinsettia, traditional flower of the Christmas season, was known to the Mexicans as "Flor de la Noche Buena" — Flower of the Holy Night.

The Yuletide emblem was discovered by Dr. Joel Roberts Poinsett, a native of Charleston, South Carolina, in 1928 while he was U.S. minister to Mexico and the flower was given his name.

Dr. Poinsett sent some cuttings of the plant to Robert Buist, a Philadelphia nurseryman, who specialized in collecting new plants. He named it "Euphorbia poinsettia" and later it was classified in botanical terms, Poinsettia pulcherrima.

The poinsettia has become one of the most popular Christmas emblems. Many people enjoy a gift of the potted plant and pictures of it appear on Christmas cards and ornamental wrappings.

Snapdragon Is Christmas Game

"Snapdragon" is associated with Scandinavian fire rites and initiation rituals, and was played on Christmas Eve. A quantity of raisins was placed in a large shallow bowl with brandy poured over then lighted. The players tried to grab a raisin by plunging their fingers into the flames —at the same time the Song of The Snapdragon was sung:

Here he comes with flaming bowl,
Don't he mean to take his toll
Snip! Snap! Dragon.
Take care you don't take too much
Be not greedy in your clutch
Snip! Snap! Dragon.
With his blue and lapping tongue
Many of you will be stung,
Snip! Snap! Dragon.
For he snaps at all that comes
Snatching at his feast of plums
Snip! Snap! Dragon.
But Old Christmas makes him come
Though he looks so fee! fa! fum!
Snip! Snap! Dragon.
Don't 'ee fear him, but be bold—
Out he goes his flames are cold
Snip! Snap! Dragon.

'Le Jour de Noel' For French Children

In France the Jour de Noe'l or Christmas Day is exclusively for boys and girls. Centuries ago the custom began of telling children how "le petit Jesus, Sauveur adorable, Le nuit de Noel" was born in a stable and the children came to believe that on Christmas Eve the heavens would open and Le Petit Noel would come down to bring them presents, if they were good children. In more recent times Le Petit Noel has been replaced by Le Pere Noel — Father Christmas — a heavenly personage who has charge of distributing toys and good things to well-behaved children. In many parts of France the children believe that Le Pere Noel has a companion, Le Pere Fouettard — Father Spanker — who carries a load of switches, a few of which he leaves for those children who have not been good.

Double Sweet Gift For Special Friends

Double a gift of homemade sweets by gift-packing it in always welcome kitchenware, colorfully trimmed and tied. Line a tall, clear-glass pitcher with paper, fill with goodies and top off with a bouquet of straw flowers and Christmas balls you've fitted with pipe cleaner stems. Or: stuff a large skillet with cookies and candies, cover and tie with jumbo yarn. Or: tissue wrap homemades and send them on their way in a wire salad basket or an apothecary jar you've lined with shiny medallions. Or, choose a red teapot for small sweets. Or: load a many faceted mold, turn it onto a wooden platter and secure with yarn.

Bright coffee mugs make perfect totes for sweets and are welcome in any home. Fill them with plastic-wrapped homemade sweets and top handle with a big bow.

Use a set of measuring cups as a sweet-gift container. Fill each of the cups with homemade candies or bite-size cookies. Prewrap them in plastic wrap before filling the cups. Then overwrap cups with plastic wrap or shiny foil and tie cups together at handles. Trim with paper flowers or tree ornaments.

OPEN LINE

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks;

What provisions have been made in the proposed Ways and Means tax bill concerning oil and gas revenues?

Major changes include (1) repeal of the percentage depletion allowance, (2) imposition of a temporary five-year excise tax on the "windfall" increases in the price of crude oil unless the resulting revenues were plowed back into developing new resources, and (3) curtailment of the use of the foreign tax credit in ways that are most beneficial to international oil companies.

I understand there is now a regulation in effect requiring banks to give prospective home buyers closing costs in advance. Is this correct?

Yes. Under an amendment to the Truth in Lending Act, a consumer buying a home must now be given the closing costs at the time the creditor makes the loan commitment and not at the actual closing, as required previously.

Does the Federal government maintain information files on refining companies who will be selling gold to consumers after January 1, 1975?

As you know, the Department of Treasury has announced that as of December 31, 1974 the Federal restrictions on the purchase, sale and ownership of gold by private U.S. citizens will be lifted. Information concerning buyer-investor experience with specific companies may be obtained from your nearest Better Business Bureau. Information concerning refining companies may be obtained from the Department of Treasury, Office of Domestic Gold and Silver Operations, 15th and Pennsylvania Avenues, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20220. The Treasury Department informs me, however, that after December 31, such companies will no longer be required to submit such information to the government.

Did you vote to override the President's veto of the bill providing tax relief to certain 1972 flood victims?

Yes, I voted to override the veto and allow the flood disaster victims to exclude from their taxable income up to $5,000 of payments they received in settlement of damage claims. The override, however, was defeated.

Can you send me any literature on purchasing skis and related equipment?

The Consumer Product Safety Commission publishes a free booklet entitled "Skiing and Skiing Equipment" which includes shopping tips and safety guidelines. For your personal copy drop a card to Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Insurance FACTS

To decide how much life insurance you need, ask yourself how much you would like to invest per year in the savings element of this type of insurance. First, decide what the total amount is that you would like to save each year, then decide upon the proportion of the total you would like to see put into life insurance policy type savings. Remember that if you use a five year renewable type of term insurance instead of a savings type life insurance, you may be losing money in the end.

When you do business with GONDER INSURANCE AGENCY, 203-205 So 2nd St., 334-3343, we'll make sure that you won't lose money. It was a tiny park in a small town. But I thought the tree was the biggest Christmas tree in the whole world!

A scent of evergreen and snowflakes mingling still comes back to me, and I remember looking far to the top where a huge star sparkled against a black velvet sky, I wondered if God were looking down, admiring our star.

Yes, God was there—in the heart of old Mr. Cunningham, his banker's dignity stuffed in a red flannel suit, and in the blue fingers of Miss Lucy, coaxing carols from a wheezy organ. He was there in baskets of food brought by the Ladies Aid Society and in neatly stitched quilts made for the orphans by the Women of the Church.

Today, more than ever, people need to learn the love of God from the warmth of their fellowman. Your church teaches faith through works. Go to your church and know the joy that comes from helping others.

THE DIMENSIONS OF CHRISTMAS

Lesson for December 22, 1974

Background Scripture: Matthew 1:1 through 2:6; Luke 3:23-38; Galatians 3:23-26.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 9:2-7.

Past.
Present.
And future.

These are the timeless dimensions of Christmas.

"WHILE SHEPHERDS WATCHED THEIR FLOCKS BY NIGHT . . ."

Rev. Althouse

There is the dimension of the past. Christmas is linked to history: Christ has come!

Even the first Christmas was linked to past history. When Christ was born in Bethlehem there was fulfilled the prophecy of the past: "Behold, a virgin shall conceive and bear a son . . ." (Matthew 1:23). The people of Israel had waited for the messianic prophecies of the past to be fulfilled. Thus, to the writers of the Gospels, the birth of Jesus was not an unrelated incident of the present, but an event linked with the heritage of Israel.

The writer of Matthew emphasized this historic dimension in setting forth a lineage of Jesus that linked him with David and Abraham. In doing so he holds up God's plan for all to see: the birth of Jesus is the culmination of Israel's hope through the ages.

No less for us there is a past dimension of Christmas, a looking-back to the messianic heritage of Israel and to the Christ event itself. This holy season also evokes memories of past Christmases that we have experienced.

As with Ebenezer Scrooge, there is a "Ghost of Christmas Past" for all of us.

"Be born in us today"

There is also the present dimension of Christmas. Christmas is nothing if it is not linked to the present: "Be born in us today."

The very name of the Nazarene emphasizes the present-tense: "Jesus," meaning "God saves." And the name ascribed to him through the prophecy of Isaiah, "Emmanuel," means "God with us." Christmas always speaks of what God is doing today. The past event of Christmas must be a present reality in our lives if it is to be more than a mere commemoration.

So, there is also for us a "Ghost of Christmas Present," a dimension of the "now" into which Christ comes today. And if Christmas is present-tense as well as past, we must acknowledge the implications of this for our lives. As Paul says: ". . . now that faith has come, we are no longer under a custodian; for in Christ Jesus you are all sons of God, through faith" (Galatians 3:25,26).

"O Come, O come, Immanuel"

There is also the dimension of the future. Christmas stretches from the past, through the present into the future. Christ has come, he is here, but he is also yet to come! There is a fulfillment for which we must wait just as the people of Israel waited for that first advent.

Past. Present. Future. All these intersect in Bethlehem's manger.

JOYOUS CHRISTMAS

Christmas should be a holiday of Joy—in observance of its joyous origin, joyous in its expressions of good fellowship and cheer. The spirit of Christmas is best caught in the crinkle of a smile or the twinkle of an eye. Christmas is tradition, preciously cherished or brightly born. It links the anticipation of a child with an adult's reassuring comfort in a long-familiar ritual of goodwill. Each year Christmas repeats its message of peace and goodwill. A joyous holiday, spiritually and secularly. Rejoice! Have the merriest Christmas ever.

THE GIFT OF A FLOWER LEGEND

French legend tells how the Christmas rose came into being. A little girl accompanying the shepherds on their way to see the Christ Child was sad because she had no gift to offer. The Angel Gabriel appeared, and, taking pity on the child, caused a beautiful white rose to spring from the ground. Overjoyed, the little girl picked the bloom which she took as a gift to the Infant Jesus. Red and white blossoms are traditionally used — the red for joy and laughter, the white symbolizing spiritual calmness and purity.

Events Above The Mountain Top

Paul S. Frank, Jr.

Sunday, the sun will stand overhead above the Tropic of Capricorn. This ends its apparent southward journey. The midday sun is at its lowest position in the sky at this time. It is only 25 degrees above the southern horizon at noon. Slowly the noon sun will begin to rise as the sun begins its northward journey on Monday.

The phenomenon of Winter Solstice occurs as the earth moves around the sun and because of the tilt of the earth's axis. It occurs at 1:00 a.m., Sunday morning, this year.

Also on Sunday the maximum of the Ursid meteor shower occurs at 8:00 p.m. The best observing time is during the early morning hours. Only fifteen meteors may be seen per hour during the two days the shower occurs.

Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn may be seen among the stars this week. Venus sets about one-half hour after the sun sets. Mars rises as morning twilight begins. It is near the star, Antares, but is only half as bright as Antares. Look in the southeast about an hour before sunrise. Jupiter is the bright object near the moon tonight. It is among the stars of Aquarius. Saturn rises about two hours after sunset. It is among the faces of Gemini.

As one faces the setting sun on Saturday, the First Quarter moon will be one-fourth of a turn to the left. The First Quarter Phase occurs at 2:43 p.m. Saturday. Moonset varies from 10:50 p.m. tonight to 3:49 a.m. on Wednesday. It occurs later each day.

Daylight remains the same during the week. Sunrise was at 7:33 a.m. this morning. Sunset will follow nine hours twenty-three minutes later at 4:56 p.m. Wednesday sunrise is at 7:36 a.m. followed by sunset at 4:59 p.m.

Let's Analyze Santa Claus

Every year about this time somebody starts analyzing Santa Claus.

The concept of Santa has been criticized as a jolly fat man. He is said to set a bad example because overweight people are not happy, or at least not as healthy as skinny ones.

Now comes a professor of anthropology who points out a curious contradiction in the Santa Claus legend. He says we live in a society that is based on the mass production of goods by highly specialized machines. The goods are purchased with money and the desire for the goods is promoted by massive advertising.

Once a year, the professor says, we insist that the toys distributed to children emanate from the Santa Claus workshop in the North Pole. We tell children that their toys are delivered by reindeer sled and through their chimney, and that their gifts were not bought by Mother and Father but by a mythical gentleman of extraordinary outward appearance.

Equalizer

The professor states that adults use Santa Claus as an equalizer in a world that is really based on interpersonal competition and in which goods and power are won by the more successful from the less successful. At Christmastime, family financial priorities are rearranged so that "Santa Claus" can give an electric train to a poor child who in the real world would have to be content with much less.

Paragraph Opinions

"We've never been to Russia and we've had little correspondence to or from that country—hence we know little above the Soviet mail service. But it can't be much. Here's a surprising note in the news saying the Russians are turning to America for help in improving the efficiency of their mail handling. It develops the Russians are not asking the U. S. Postal Service for advice but are requesting assistance from a private American firm that manufactures automated mail-handling equipment. If we have technology that will help the Soviet mail service, why isn't it helping ours?—Everett, Wash., Herald.

"You would think he had some kind of magic wand, Aladdin's lamp, rabbit's foot or four-leaf clover. We're talking about President Gerald Ford. It's alarming how so many people feel that he can solve all of our problems. There are those who think that all that's needed to end inflation is for the President to give some kind of order. We think it stems from big government and the fact that so many people have grown to depend upon it rather than upon their own resources."—Bentleyville, Pa., Courier.

Planning Council Discusses Health Funds Legislation

A comprehensive health planning bill, which if passed by Congress would mean renewed funding for the Health Planning Council of Appalachian Maryland, was the topic for discussion at a quarterly council and board of directors meeting at Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland.

According to Rev. Joseph Chukla, president of HPC, council members were addressed by Leonard E. Albert, Baltimore, concerning the bill which has passed the Senate and is due for a vote in the House of Representatives.

Rev. C. Chukla present funding under the federal health planning program accounts for approximately 15 percent of HPC's total budget. The remaining 85 percent is contributed by Appalachian Regional commission. Renewal of funding for ARC is one to be considered by Congress next June.

Approved at the meeting were three new appointments to HPC's environmental health advisory committee and one new appointment in the health facilities advisory committee.

The three new members on the environmental health advisory committee are Mrs. Paul T. Calderwood and Dr. John G. Warnick, this county and Rev. W. Shelby Walthall, Hancock formerly of this county. The new health facilities advisory committee member is Charley B. Miller, Friendsville.

The board agreed to begin preparations for public meetings that would be held in order to find out from county officials and members of the public what their most urgent health needs are and to answer questions about HPC's operations.

Accompanying the choir will be Mrs. Dixie Otto, organist, and Mrs. Beulah Mae Folk, pianist.

Immediately following the program, the Springs Mennonite Youth Fellowship will present a live and moving nativity scene in the church parking lot.

The public is invited to both activities.

The Consumer Price Index went up 9 percent in Oct.

Edibles Favorite Yule Decoration

Cookie Christmas trees in America were first mentioned December 28th, 1881, by Simon Snyder Rathvon of Lancaster, Pennsylvania. He told in the Lancaster weekly newspaper how children ate the trimmings right off the tree.

Decorating the Christmas tree with edibles isn't a new idea. It's been done for years. Early American Christmas trees were generally adorned with foodstuffs, including pomander balls made of apples stuck with whole cloves and tied on a string, strands of fresh popcorn, little dolls fashioned from corn shucks, clusters of pine cones and acorn and gingerbread cookies.

The Pennsylvania Dutch decorated their trees almost entirely with edibles. They simply ate from the tree through the holidays, dismantling it by the Twelfth Night. Norwegians baked a different cookie for each day of the season, but the Swedish thought it bad taste to overdecorate, especially at Christmas.

In Europe

At Christmas in Europe only the finest ingredients are used so the quality will be best for the Christ Child.

In the old days, doughs were used symbolically for blessings also. Doughnut dough for Epiphany, for instance, was tied in a white cloth and "baptized" by Syrian cooks in a fountain in the name of the Trinity. Then it was hung in a tree for three days to ferment without benefit of yeast. From this, small dough were made and placed where food was stored, furnishing "miraculous" leaven for the coming year.

The Dutch shaped their cookies in wooden molds before baking. Others rolled them out before cutting them and baking them. The cookies were sometimes used for wall decorations.

Women's League Studies County School System

Tentative plans for conducting a study of the Garrett County School system were presented to the Board of Education at a regular meeting last Thursday, December 12, by Mrs. Dorothy Leighton, president of the League of Women Voters and other members of the league.

To date, the League has worked with Albert R. Ringer, director of curriculum and instruction; Dr. Jerome J. Ryscavage, director of administrative Services; and Dr. William H. Buser, county superintendent of schools, to gather preliminary information about the school system. The League indicated a desire to prepare an informational service bulletin about the county school system and Mrs. Leighton said they may have some recommendations for school board consideration at the completion of the study.

Dr. Buser indicated that the school system would work with the League, but hoped that the demands placed on the staff would not be so demanding that they would interfere with other important activities.

Reviews Building Program

In other business the board of education reviewed the building program report as presented by Dr. Ryscavage and received information on the extension of the Title I program as previously approved by them if funds became available.

In personnel matters the Board approved the appointment of Doris Opel as a fifth grade teacher in Dennett Road school, effective December 9, and Mrs. Cynthia Kolbe as a kindergarten teacher in Accident Elementary, effective January 2. In other action the board approved a leave of absence for George C. Edwards, teacher at Northern High and recently elected county commissioner under provisions of the Board's policies and procedures and the negotiated agreement.

The board received word that Alford Carey, executive director of the Interagency Committee for School Construction, had communicated to them that he planned to recommend to the Maryland Board of Public Works construction funds for the Northern Middle School.

The Board members were also informed on the "thank you" letters received by the school system in appreciation for help by school officials and the utilization of buildings during the recent snowstorm.

Copies of Graduation Requirements of Public High Schools in Maryland approved by the Maryland State Board of Education on November 27, this year, were also received and changes in graduation requirements were noted by the superintendent. These requirements will be implemented by principals, counselors, and school staff with the incoming freshmen in the 1975-76 school year. The school system will be planning ways of communicating these changes to the student body involved and parents of these students.

FOR UNTO US A CHILD IS BORN

There was in the days of Herod, the king of Judea, a certain priest named Zechariah, of the course of Abijah: and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elisabeth. And they were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord, blameless. And they had no child, because Elisabeth was barren; and they were both now well stricken in years. And it came to pass, that, while he executed the priest's office before God in the order of his course, according to the custom of the priest's office, his lot was to burn incense when he went into the temple of the Lord. And the whole multitude of the people were praying without at the time of incense. And there appeared unto him an angel of the Lord standing on the right side of the altar of incense. And when Zechariah saw him, he was troubled, and fear fell upon him. But the angel said unto him, Fear not, Zechariah: for thy prayer is heard; and thy wife Elisabeth shall bear thee a son, and thou shalt call his name John.

And thou shalt have joy and gladness; and many shall rejoice at his birth. For he shall be great in the sight of the Lord, and shall drink neither wine nor strong drink; and he shall be filled with the Holy Ghost, even from his mother's womb. And many of the children of Israel shall he turn to the Lord their God . . . . And Zechariah said unto the angel, Whereby shall I know this, for I am an old man, and my wife well stricken in years? And the angel answering said unto him, I am Gabriel, that stand in the presence of God; and am sent to speak unto thee, and to show thee these glad tidings. And, behold, thou shalt be dumb, and not able to speak, until the day that these things shall be performed, because thou believest not my words, which shall be fulfilled in their season. And the people waited for Zechariah, and marveled that he tarried so long in the temple. And when he came out, he could not speak unto them: and they perceived that he had seen a vision in the temple; for he beckoned unto them, and remained speechless. And it came to pass, that, as soon as the days of his ministration were accomplished, he departed to his own house. And after those days his wife Elisabeth conceived, and hid herself five months, saying, Thus hath the Lord dealt with me in the days wherein he looked on me, to take away my reproach among men.

College Defeats Charles 62 to 61

Mike Saturday, 6-6 freshman center for Garrett Community college, sank two free throws with 50 seconds left to give the Lakers a three point lead and ultimately a 62-61 JUCO conference victory over Charles College last Saturday night at LaPlata.

The win was Garrett's third in four games, all in the league, and dropped Charles record to 3-2.

Saturday scored 20 points and nabbed 19 rebounds to lead the Lakers in both departments. Rick Bazarnick added 15 points, six of them in the last few minutes to keep Garrett on top. John Raszka added 10 points and nine rebounds.

Biggest lead either team had was seven, by Charles county early in the game, and by Garrett, in the second half. Coach Dan Fearnow said Raszka scored four quick baskets in the early part of the second half to boost the Lakers to their biggest lead.

In other scoring for Garrett Slifko had 9, Yoder 8.

Farrar was Charles' leading scorer with 15. Wheeler and Brown had 12 each and Estep had 10.

Both teams had 16 field goals Garrett converted 10 of 11 free throws while Charles sank nine of 11.

The Lakers' next action will be Friday and Saturday when they host the Garrett Rotary Christmas tournament. Garrett will face Shenandoah of Winchester, Va., and Ceeil Community college will meet Penn State's Uniontown campus in the first round

A living tree is not as hazardous as one that has been cut. Cut a growing tree or try to purchase one that has not dried out from prolonged storage. If a tree is brittle and needles shed easily, this indicates the tree is drying out and may be hazardous.

Buy a fresh tree and keep it in water or wet sand outdoors until ready to use. Replenish water daily or when necessary.

Before putting up the tree, saw off the trunk diagonally at least an inch above the original cut. Place base in water-holding container and keep water level above the cut. Check water level daily.

Do not bring tree indoors until just before Christmas, and take it down as soon as possible.

Do not place tree near sources of heat such as hreplaces, radiators, air ducts, or where it may block the way out of a room in case of fire.

Don't rely on 'self-applied chemicals or solutions to flameproof a tree. Trees chemically treated with Underwriters Laboratories listed fire retardant compounds are satisfactory.

Use care in selecting artificial trees too; many plastic trees can burn. Use the type marked as made of slow burning materials. Those with built-in electrical systems should carry the UL label.

Metal trees are a shock hazard. Indirect lighting is recommended; however, if strings of lights are used, they should be checked for frayed cords or other defects.

Do not use wax candles or other open flame devices on trees.

Do not overload outlets with too many light strings.

Christmas

"Humble shepherds, tending their flocks by night, hearkened to the angels' glorious message of the Saviour's birth and came in from the fields and found Him asleep in a manger...and they adored Him. Wise Men, journeying from the East, followed the Star to Bethlehem seeking the newborn King to bestow on Him their gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh...and to worship Him. As we rejoice this Christmas, let us cherish the spiritual rewards of love and friendship, peace and contentment.
It is with heartfelt gratitude for your continued confidence, that we extend the season's best wishes.

A Look At The Center Street Open Education Classroom

The Open Education Classroom in Oakland room in Garrett County—how and what is it doing?

A flurry of pros and cons filled the county school system some four years ago when space problems created willy-nilly an open education classroom at Center Street School in Oakland.

For three years, two groups of first graders were taught in the room formerly labeled the all purpose room. This year, a third group of pupils has been added, bringing to 86 the number of youngsters in the room.

Three teachers, Mrs. Pam Livengood, Mrs. Pam Caruso and Mrs. Linda Fearnow, hold forth on their subjects daily beginning with homeroom exercises each morning.

Reading is next on the schedule, and all three teachers have directed reading lessons with small groups of children on different reading levels. While teachers and aides are busy with these lessons, other children do follow-up work in reading on their own. Mathematics is taught in the afternoon, with children again grouped according to their ability.

Mrs. Wilda Fitzwater and Mrs. Eileen Wahl serve as aides for the room. Mrs. Wahl works parttime in the opened room and the remainder of her day is spent assisting Mrs. Becky Sanders in her second grade room. Several parents also work as parent-volunteers in the room.

Another big help to the three teachers is Miss Lori Larson, a senior student at Southern High School, who comes daily to the opened room to work with children who need special assistance in a particular skill such as reading, math or writing. Miss Larson is one of ten young people from Southern who help in the various classrooms at Center Street because they like children, enjoy helping youngsters and gain valuable experience should they decide to go into teaching.

Following reading, which ends at 11, lunch, and recess, the children are taught social studies, science and language experience by the three instructors on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. This is a team-teaching effort with Mrs. Caruso teaching science, Mrs. Livengood language experience and Mrs. Fearnow social studies.

The team teaching method allows each teacher to concentrate and expand efforts on her particular subject, to better benefit the children.

On Tuesdays, art and physical education fill the afternoon and on Thursdays, the youngsters have music and library period.

Language experience is the name given to writing experience stories, such as "How I Spent Thanksgiving." Children are not grouped according to ability here so that more advanced children may aid the others by bringing out ideas and experiences they've had and thus stimulating the entire class.

In free time, children may use one of the learning centers placed around the rooms or may read in the corner set aside for comfortable reading. A System 80 machine is also available for time. The machine, one of two in the school, was brought into the teaching system here only this year and utilizes records and pictures to reinforce recognition of words and help in reading. The machines are rented for $80 a year, and schools purchase the records and tapes which go with it.

Many similarities with traditional walled classrooms can be seen, such as the learning centers and aides working in a particular area with children on a given task.

The main difference here is the children moving from one area to another and from one teacher to another in science, social studies and language experience.

Also, in the opened room, it is easier to group children according to their abilities in reading, without the fact group-ings being obvious in the regular classroom.

Working on their directed reading lesson at the open education room are, clockwise, Mrs. Linda Fearnow, Roberta Tasker, Gary Warnick, Norman Wazinski, and Brett Garner.

The noise level is very low, possibly not as high as in a regular classroom where children are more crowded. Children do not appear disturbed by groups around them as they concentrate on their own work.

Another benefit to students and teachers is that in the opened room, puzzles and art work can be left out, available for use at all times and not just for specified planned periods. Each child after completing an assignment, moves on to these centers.

Each child in the opened room is given a tote desk to carry papers and keep belongings in, since they move from desk to desk and area to area, and have no assigned seating arrangement.

Both Broadford Elementary School and Southern Middle School will be constructed with the open space concept, opening five years after the innovation of the program at Center Street.

The teachers in the room are all enthusiastic about open education, one saying that she feels more individual attention can be given here than in a traditional classroom.

With few exceptions, parents at the last PTA meeting seemed happy about the open education system and its benefits according to another teacher.

The kids—well they looked contented and busy. With children that more can parents or teachers ask?

Mrs. Pam Caruso, who has spent both of her teaching years in the open education classroom at Center Street, works with words with some of her class members. Other children work at assigned tasks by themselves or with aides while the teachers spend time with small groups within their classes.

LeeAnn Rollman is given a reading test by Lori Larson, right, as Miss Larson helps in the open education classroom at Center Street. Each day ten students from Southern High School come to the elementary rooms to assist teachers in giving children specialized attention, or, as in this case, to give tests while the teacher is busy elsewhere in the room.

Mrs. Wilda Fitzwater, in her second year as aide to Mrs. Caruso in the open education room, helps two children in reading. Children in the foreground are Melissa Stemple and Kim Cryser. Yes, that is a bed in the background, used by children as a cozy nook where they can curl up and read when their assigned work is finished.

New Vehicle Tags Will Be White With Red Lettering

Maryland's new registration plates for the next five years will have red numbers and letters on a white background.

Next year's licenses will bear three letters and three numbers instead of two letters and four numbers displayed on passenger cars and stations wagons now.

New registration plates for passenger cars and motorcycles will be issued on or before February 17, 1975.

The plates may be displayed on and after March 1, according to Charles F. Pfalf, deputy administrator for the Motor Vehicle Administration of the Maryland Department of Transportation, who said registration plates for all of the classes will be on sale April 1 and may be displayed on or after that date.

The registration plates will continue to be validated annually for five years in a licensing program which began in 1970.

Due to the limited number of combinations of the existing two-letter, four-number system, the Motor Vehicle Administration has adopted the uniform system of numbering plates as recommended by the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrations.

The three-letter, three number system allows about 15,000,000 possible combinations, which will more than serve the needs of Maryland residents in the foreseeable future.

Court Case Moved To Allegany Co.

A hearing on whether Joseph Kisselovich, 19, of Oakland, is still considered a defective delinquent has been moved to Allegany county Circuit Court, after Leonard C. Redmond, III, public defender from Baltimore questioned whether Kisselovich could get a fair trial in the Garrett County Circuit Court.

Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill signed an order moving the case to Allegany county. All of the records in the case arrived at the clerk's office in Cumberland last week.

Kisselovich was charged with breaking into Cogley's Barber shop on September 25, 1973, at 5 p.m. and stealing $95 and a $7 check.

The young man was found guilty on the two counts and was given a 10-year sentence by Judge Hamill on March 15. Judge Hamill said that he had reason to believe that Kisselovich was a defective delinquent and had him committed to the Patuxent Institute at Jessup for examination and evaluation.

Document Lists Responsibilities, Rights of Students

The final report to the County Board of Education on a document of student rights and responsibilities, as presented by E. Lloyd Robertson, supervisor of pupil services, and a representative group from the committee appointed to work on the document, was made at a regular meeting of the board last Thursday, December 12.

Members of the committee in addition to Mr. Robertson included Luther D. Parrack, Jr., principal, Southern High school; Cheryl Slagle, student, Northern High School; Brad Teets, student, Southern High school and Mrs. Beverly Trautwein and Mrs. Dorothy Leighton, parents.

Purpose of the document, according to Mr. Robertson, was to establish improved working relationships between students, school personnel and parents.

He said the committee believed this could be done best when all people recognized their responsibilities in the school situation as well as the rights which they have.

The document addresses itself to such topics as student attendance, extra-curricular activities patriotic and religious exercises, conduct, student expression non-school publications, school facilities, search and seizures, questioning on school premises, curriculum, student government, right of assemblage, student records, suspension and expulsion, and student grievance procedures.

The document is to be printed and made available to all students and school personnel for their use. Mrs. Diane Thayer, vice-president of the school board, encouraged the committee to plan activities that would make the experiences for other students, teachers, administrators and parents as meaningful as the one the committee of thirty people had who developed the document.

Herbert Harman, president of the board, in commending Mr. Robertson and the committee, said he believed the document would improve communications between the three groups. The document itself provides a procedure for being revised as changes become necessary.

American Freedom and Christian Responsibility

By Rev. W. H. Leake, Deer Park, Md.

THE FINAL HOUR, a new color/sound film will be shown at the Full Gospel Church in Deer Park on Sunday, December 22nd, at 7 p.m.

THE FINAL HOUR, produced by the Evangelical Christian Research Foundation, declares that the human race is on a collision course with its day of reckoning. The news media, science, and the Bible all agree — there is not much time left.

Two film crews covered 24,000 miles and 12 cultures ranging from jungle tribes to man's most modern centers to film the tragic condition of our failing world.

THE FINAL HOUR graphically portrays the realities of life on our declining planet and sensitively links those facts to the Word of God. Its message will alert people of our day to the vital spiritual needs of a world rapidly approaching "the final hour" and underscores the hope that Christians have in the message of Christ. You owe it to yourself to see this very informative and challenging Film. REMEMBER: Our nation and world is sick, the SYMPTOMS are CRIME, STARVATION, SHORTAGES, WAR, etc. The CAUSE is SIN. The CURE, more laws and govt. control over our lives nationally and internationally? Wrong! — these only treat the symptoms while ignoring the Cause. The CAUSE IS SIN — the CURE IS CHRIST. God's Word declares in II Chro. 7:14 "IF MY PEOPLE, WHICH ARE CALLED BY MY NAME, SHALL HUMBLE THEMSELVES AND PRAY AND SEEK MY FACE AND TURN FROM THEIR WICKED WAYS; THEN WILL I HEAR FROM HEAVEN, AND WILL FORGIVE THEIR SINS AND WILL HEAL THEIR LAND." I BEG OF YOU, PLEASE CALL UPON THE LORD WHILE THERE'S STILL TIME.

Two Hospitalized In Wreck Saturday

A two-vehicle wreck on Sang Run Road last Saturday at noon, hospitalized two persons. Several other persons were injured, some were treated and released from the hospital, as the result of number of other accidents last week. Many were storm-related.

Willie G. Friend, operator of one car, and one of two passengers, Deborah Friend, both of Friendsville, were listed as satisfactory in Garrett County Memorial Hospital Monday where they were admitted Saturday following the wreck.

Another passenger in the Friend car, Violet Hoye, McHenry, and Sheldon S. Whitacre, RD 1, Oakland, driver of the pickup, were treated and released from the hospital.

Whitacre was driving north on the Oakland-Sang Run Road, near the Mayhew Inn road, and Friend was traveling south. Friend failed to keep to the right side of the road and collided with the pickup head on. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged Friend with failing to keep to the right side of the road. The Southern Rescue Squad took all to the hospital.

James W. Santee, Belington, W. Va., was treated and released from the hospital after his small truck hit a snow bank on Route 560 and turned over.

Santee was southbound and in the process of passing an unidentified car when the left front wheel dropped off the pavement, causing him to hit a snow embankment. He lost control and the truck turned over. Cpl. R. J. Reed investigated.

Several other persons were injured but apparently not taken to the hospital.

Brenda L. Shank, RD 2, Oakland, driver of one car of a two-car mishap last Tuesday, received slight injuries.

Gary H. Duckworth, RD 1, Swanton, was backing onto State Route 135 near Chestnut Grove road last Tuesday evening. Brenda Shank was traveling west and did not notice the Duckworth car partially on the roadway and struck it in the left front end. Tfc. Dale K. Williams charged Duckworth on two counts, operating without a license and failing to yield the right-of-way from a private drive.

The operator and two passengers in one car of a three-vehicle mixup were injured last Monday afternoon on State Route 495 just east of Route 135.

Keith C. Louie, RD 1, Oakland, operator of the car, and passengers, Richard Davy and Carlton Smith, both of Oakland, were injured when the car in which they were riding hit two other large trucks.

Louie was northbound on Route 495. A snow removal truck driven by Michael L. Hinebaugh, RD 1, Oakland, was also northbound, toward Swanton, at a slow rate of speed. Louie, unable to slow down struck the rear of the truck, went across the road and hit a truck of the Potomac Edison, parked, headed southbound. Trooper Broadwater charged Louie with failing to reduce speed under existing conditions.

Virginia L. Dusic, Oak Street, Oakland, was slightly injured in a two-car mishap, also last Monday afternoon, on North Glade road near Route 495.

She was traveling west as Arthur G. Fitzwater, RD 2, Swanton, was driving east. Fitzwater was unable to keep to the right side of the road and attempted to turn left into a private drive to avoid hitting the Dusic car but the two collided. Trooper Broadwater investigated.

Several other accidents were injury-free.

Randall Bolinger, McHenry, was traveling south on Marsh Hill road about 1:30 last Saturday night when he noted the car of Ralph Sines, Friendsville, parked along the road. Bolinger applied his brakes but skidded into the left front of the Sines car. Tfc. Ronald Lewis charged Bolinger with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Another accident five minutes later on U.S. Route 40 just east of U.S. Route 219, north. Steven E. Beeman, Cumberland, was driving west on Route 40 when two ponies ran into his path. He was unable to stop and struck both. The animals belonged to William Dudley according to State Police reports. Tpr. G. A. Berkebile made no charges.

James R. Trump, Monongahela, Pa., was traveling south on Second avenue in Friendsville, the evening of December 12, as Philip O. Fisher, Friendsville, was driving east on Walnut street in a pick-up. Fisher was answering a fire call and failed to give the right-of-way to Trump. Fisher struck the Trump car causing Trump to lose control, drive to the right and hit a tree. Trooper Williams charged Fisher with failing to stop as required.

The car of Douglas R. Romesburg, RD 1, Oakland, was parked, unoccupied, on the traveled portion of an unnamed road Co. Rt. 340, near Kight road at 1 a.m. December 12. An unknown vehicle traveling south slid on the snow-covered road and struck the Romesburg car and continued on without stopping. The unknown vehicle was apparently being operated at a speed too great for conditions. Tpr. C. H. Hinnant investigated.

Ernest P. Tressler, Mt. Lake Park, was traveling north on Route 219 at the east end of Oakland the morning of December 11 and slowing for traffic ahead to make a left turn into a private drive. David L. Livengood, RD 2, Swanton, following, struck the rear of the Tressler car. Trooper Lewis charged Livengood with failing to reduce speed.

Charles S. Severe, Deer Park, was driving west on the Deer Park Hotel road just past noon December 9 as Sandre L. Harvey was driving east. Both met at a narrow spot in the roadway because of snow conditions and neither could stop in time to avoid a collision. Trooper Lewis investigated this one also.

Victoria H. Rand, Mt. Holly, N. J., came over the crest of a hill on Route 40 about a mile west of Keysers Ridge shortly before noon December 10. An unidentified vehicle was stopped in the lane of traffic and the operator of a car driven by Richard C. Tabb, Kearneysville, swerved to miss the vehicle, skidded on the snow-covered road to the left side of the road and struck the Rand car. Tpr. Ronald C. George investigated.

Christmas Land

Christmas in Switzerland is Christmas Land indeed. Everything glistens in the pure white snow, the air perfumed by the stately pine trees and sleigh bells sing merry melodies as the horses travel briskly over the mountain roads.

St. Nicholas has been succeeded in many parts of Switzerland by the "Christkindli", an angelic figure who travels over the land every Christmas Eve in beautiful sleigh drawn by six reindeer. The sleigh is heavily laden with Christmas trees, fruit, cookies and toys for the children.

In every home there is a Christmas tree around which the family gathers and sings carols while the youngsters play with their new playthings. In many of these homes, the head of the family opens the big Bible and reads St. Luke's about the birth of Christ.

In the country districts, Santa Claus does not make his visit on Christmas Eve but on December 6th. December 6th is the anniversary of the first St. Nicholas who had the custom of giving secret presents to the poor, and was especially kind to children. He lived in Asia Minor where he ruled as Bishop in the fourth century. In some rural areas the boys of school age arrange a parade with Santa Claus at the head of the procession. The marchers stop at various homes to collect small gifts, and sometimes go to neighboring towns for donations. In the evening they gather in town hall where the gifts are equally divided.

Santa Claus is also honored with impressive ceremonies on December 6th at Zurich where a giant St. Nicholas leads a parade of youngsters dressed in long white nightgowns and wearing masks and headgear. The boys blow horns and ring bells as they solicit gifts of toys and fruit from the spectators along the route of the parade.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor

I am writing to inform the people about strip mining in the Youghiogheny Valley. Some talk has already gone around, but the issues surrounding strip mining must be made public and clarified for the people.

Most of the officials concerned with planning, erosion and sediment control, and water resources say that they are awaiting the decision of State Secretary of Natural Resources Coulter before they recommend any local action. But this is a local problem. We need State studies and State law, but we do not need the State to act on a local problem. What we do need is time to study how the strip mining will affect the Yough—Friendsville's water supply and a natural wildlife haven. The majority of our County Commissioners are new. In their wisdom and common sense they must declare a moratorium on the granting of permits so that no action is taken in haste to ruin our beautiful countryside.

Seventy-five years ago when no such legal protections existed the mining of coal polluted the river. After the Crellin mines closed millions had to be spent to clean up the river. The Yough is clean now and we want to keep it that way. The situation is alarming--twenty new coal companies and forty new permit applications in the County in the past year.

If any strip mining goes on in the Yough corridor on either side of the river inside the ridge line, Maryland's last wilderness area will be in danger of destruction. Let us act now so our officials understand clearly our concern.

Sincerely yours,
James A. Ross

Dear Editor

I want to express my deep appreciation to the many wonderful people of this county who have been helpful and kind to me and my family during our "year of ordeal, 1974."

Special thanks go to the Southern Rescue Squad, Oakland Fire Department, doctors and staff of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. May God continue to bless the many fine people who live, work and share on the mountain top.

Sincerely,
Dick Bishoff

Dear Sir:

At the December meeting of the Mountain Lake Town Council, Councilman Jack Wilson exposed as illegal the reported plans of the Sanitary Commission to charge for putting water meters at homes that don't have them. This would rip off a third of the householders, including Oak Park and the Powles Addition, to the tune of $110 each!

It would be illegal because Article 43, Section 663 of the Maryland Annotated Code says very explicitly, "said meter being required to be placed on each water connection by and at the sole expense of the commission."

At the Council meeting Mayor Updike couldn't remember the Sanitary Commission planning to charge for the meters. A citizen who attended the Commission meeting had no problem remembering. At Commission meetings does the Mayor have a problem remembering he is also Mayor of Mountain Lake Park? This conflict of interest question just won't go away.

Never during two terms in office has the Mayor moved to protect the citizens with a contract between the Town and the Sanitary Commission covering water and sewage service. Protection is the right word. The flat fee charged for water connections is in apparent violation of the law, Article 43, Section 661, which bases the charge on width of the street, alley or right of way where the connection is made. Nor do we believe the Commission has used the front footage basis for charging for water lines laid (Section 657).

Poor Mountain Lake Park! Everyone wants to shear that poor lamb!

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President—National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

More than half the crime committed in America is committed by juveniles. The statistics regarding juvenile crime are terrifying for the future of our nation. Since 1960, arrests of juveniles under 18 for violent crimes such as murder, rape and robbery have increased 216 percent. Arrests for property crime, such as burglary and auto theft have increased 91 percent. Juveniles under 18 are responsible for 51 percent of the total arrests for property crimes, 23 percent for violent crimes, and 45 percent for all serious crimes.

In 1970, the financial cost was in excess of $1 billion. There is no way to estimate the loss in human terms to both the victims of juvenile crime and to the juveniles themselves. But the most startling statistic of them all is found in the fact that from 60 to 75 percent of all juvenile offenders become second offenders in crime. Many observers believe our nation's out-moded facilities and methods of handling first offender juveniles are largely responsible for this high percentage of repeaters. Nearly 40 percent of juveniles put in jail have committed no provable criminal act.

These are cold, hard, terrifying facts which portend great difficulties for the future of America. There are many legislative acts now being taken to correct some of the glaring inadequacies in facilities for taking care of the juvenile who gets into trouble with the law. Congress has passed The Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act of 1974 in an effort to do something about the problem. This Act has great bi-partisan support and will make available to State and local governments, as well as private non-profit organizations, vast amounts of tax money to provide facilities and personnel to deal with this growing problem. One of the main thrusts of the guidelines by which this money will be made available will be in the area of delinquency prevention and the reduction of the rate of crime repetition.

All of this is necessary and vital to deal with the situation as it now exists. But there is a real question of whether these techniques can get at the basic cause of juvenile crime. What can police officials, juvenile judges and custodial authorities really do about the circumstances in the homes of America which may be one of the major causes of Juvenile crime? Under our system of freedom, parents are not now and we pray will never be required by governmental authority to raise their children by a book of rules prescribed by a central authority. Yet, it has been admitted by the leading authority on the subject of child-rearing, Dr. Benjamin Spock, that his books on the subject which were accepted almost wholesale by parents of a generation ago, may have been wrong.

The nation is taking a new look at the "permissive" concept of rearing children, for we seem to have reared a generation, many of whom do not hold respect for any form of authority. In all fairness, the problems of the present cannot all be blamed on the "permissive" philosophy of child-rearing. There are many well-adjusted people from that generation and from that philosophy. Many parents who followed that concept were successful and some were not. It has been suggested by some of the "permissive" authorities that parents were confused by the technique and were not able to understand what it was all about and thus, confused their children by a mixture of "permissiveness" and "authoritarianism." Some have even gone so far as to suggest this is the cause of the great increase in juvenile delinquency today.

Christmas was proclaimed a holiday in Hawaii in 1862 by King Kamehameha IV. That same year the first candle-light service was held. Today the Nativity scene is much in evidence in Hawaiinn stores and at church and civic gatherings. Christmas carols have been sung with great enthusinsm ever since 1825 when an American missionary, Reverend Hiram Bingham, translated "Joy to the World" for the Islanders.

Evergreens do not grow on the Islands but every year thousands of Christmas trees are transported by ship from the Pacific Northwest. Often the trees are painted white to simulate the snow-covered trees Hawaiian children have never seen. They are trimmed with balls and tinsel just as on the mainland, but Hawaiian leis made of shells, nuts and flowers are added, too.

The Hawaiian greeting for "Merry Christmas" is "Mele Kalikimaha!" But this is only one of the many forms of greeting, for the Hawaiian citizens are of many races and tongues. They live on their beloved Islands in harmony, and at no time is this more apparent than at the holy season of Christmas when all unite in celebrating the birth of the Infant Jesus.

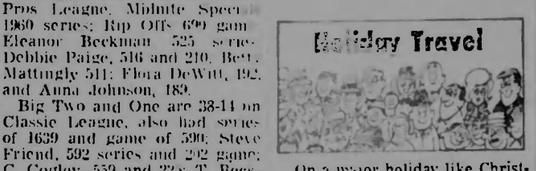
The boys and girls of our fiftieth state can only imagine what a snowy Christmas would be like. They often ent their Christmas dinner out-of-doors. Afterward, they take part in sports and games.

Treat:

Christmas Lizzies Are Easy

4 cups sifted, all purpose flour
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 cup butter, very soft
2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
4 eggs, beaten
¼ cup brandy
3 cups chopped seedless raisins
½ pound citron (or mixed candied fruit), chopped
8 cups pecans, chopped

Sift flour, cinnamon, nutmeg and soda together. Cream butter. Blend sugar into butter then add beaten eggs, blending thoroughly. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with brandy. Coat pecans, raisins and citron or fruit with flour and add to batter. Drop by level tablespoons on to a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate preheated 275 degree oven for 30 minutes. Makes about 10 dozen cookies which will keep for weeks (if you hide them) in an air-tight container.



On a major holiday like Christmas, most travelers leave for their destinations as soon as the work day ends the day before the holiday and return as close as possible to the end of the last free day. Crowds are always a part of holiday travel, no matter how you

Your best way to cope with crowds is to avoid them; plan your holiday trip for times when other people are least likely to visit. Decide well in advance of the holiday, when, where, and how you want to go. If you'll need hotel, motel, or transportation reservations for your trip, make them well ahead of time; otherwise you can't expect to have a choice or even be sure of getting accommodations.

If you're going by plane, remember to make your ticket reservations at least a month ahead of time. During major holidays like Christmas and New Years, even six weeks is not too far in advance, considering the great number of people making plans to travel then. Since airports are extra crowded during the holidays, it's a good idea to pick up your tickets in advance. However you travel, plane, train or bus, consider the circumstances that holidays often create for the carriers. Terminals are jammed, schedules are tight, and ticket agents are busy and frequently harried.

THE BUSY OVEN

..'Tis the season when ovens are working overtime baking both holiday goodies and party foods. If your oven tends to get a bit over-crowded this time of year, arrange baking pans so they do not touch each other or oven walls. Also, never put one pan directly above another one. This allows for freer circulation of heat, more even cooking temperature and better results.

France Goes Nuclear

Though it is impossible to turn back the clock to the time when man lacked the secrets of atomic energy, various groups are trying hard to bury the nuclear knowledge gained over 30 years.

For example, an organization called North Carolinians For A Better Environment recently called on Americans to "abandon nuclear power plants as a dangerous, unworkable method of generating electricity." It sends out scare letters containing a quanity of talcum powder that spills out when the envelope is opened. "Suppose it was plutonium?" asks the organization. "What then?"

Well, no matter how much talcum powder they distribute, North Carolinians For A Better Environment will have a difficult time convincing modern Americans that nuclear power should be abandoned. Throughout the world, advanced nations are building nuclear power plants.

The action of the oil cartel in quadrupling prices is causing advanced nations to step-up their nuclear puwer programs. France, fur example, is attempting an atomic leapfrog over the Arabs.

The Sunday Times of London recently reported on this, noting that France is "laying the foundations for Europe's most ambitious nuclear power program, intended to lift France right out of the energy crisis."

By 1985, said The Sunday Times, "France means to have more than 50 stations working, producing 50,000 megawatts of power. The expense is colossal, but between them they could then be saving France at least $3.6 billion a year of valuable foreign exchange that would otherwise have to be spent on importing oil." The Sunday Times observed that the French "seem to have found the logical answer to the energy crisis and then thrown every possible resource into it."

This is the way the world is going—no matter what is asserted by the anti-nuclear scare groups. These scare groups say that if power plants are shut down there won't be any possibility of a nuclear accident. But contemporary man can take that tack. He can't halt construction of jet aircraft because jets crash from time to time.

Modern man has to live with danger. Indeed man always has accepted danger as a feature of a developing human existence. In the case of nuclear power, the thing to do is promote nuclear safety, not stop nuclear power development.

As a matter of fact, the United States is striving to improve safety. Recently, the old Atomic Energy Commission was divided into two agencies. One will promote advances in nuclear power; the other will have responsibilities in the regulatory and safety areas. But this reasonable approach doesn't satisfy the opponents of nuclear power. The only thing that would satisfy them would be national rejection of nuclear technology. They would like the United States to shut down every nuclear reactor and dismantle the power generating facilities. The American people can no more afford such an action than they can afford discarding medical and communication technologies which also are among the pruducts of 20th century science.

OF VALUABLE
Real Estate

Situate, lying and being in Election District No. 10, Garrett County, Maryland.

Under and by virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, dated December 13, 1974, wherein Carl DelSignore was Plaintiff, and Russell G. Upole, Oscar Dale Upole, Harold H. Upole, Lulu Upole Weeks and Woodrow P. Upole, were Defendants, the same being No. 6536 Equity, the undersigned hereby give notice that they will offer for sale and sell at public auction to the highest bidder on at the hour of 11:00 A. M.

in front of the Court House in the town of Oakland, Maryland, all those pieces or parcels of land situate in Election District No. 10, Garrett County, Maryland, which are particularly described as follows, to-wit:

1—Part of the tract of land called 'Wilsonton', commonly known as the "Brant Place", which is known and designated as Lot No. 4 of the Subdivision of the said tract, made by Elizabeth P. Hubbard. BEGINNING for the said Lot No. 4 at a point in the middle of the county road which is South 63° East, 20 feet from a small white oak tree with three hacks and at the end of the sixth line of Lot No. 3 of the Subdivision of the said tract of land called "Wilsouton", and running thence with the seventh line of said Lot No. 3, North 63° West, 172.3 perches to a stake and stone pile standing in the ninth line of the land described in a deed from Charles M. Wilson, et al, to Russell S. Hubbard, dated November 23, 1903, and recorded in Liber No. 46, folio 329, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, and running thence with said ninth line and with part of the tenth line thereof, South 62.4 perches, South 45° East, 118 perches to the middle of the aforesaid county road, then with it, South 85½° E. 9.8 perches, N 66¾° E., 11.3 perches, North 53½° East, 16.1 perches, North 61° East, 9.4 perches, North 46° East, 26.6 perches, North 13¾° East, 15.4 perches, North 11° East, 24 perches to the beginning, containing 74.6 acres, more or less.

2—Part of the tract of land called "Rhinegrass", and part of Military Lot No. 173: BEGINNING at the end of the first line of said Military Lot No. 173, and running thence with the second and third lines thereof, West 89½ perches, North 89½ perches, and then by a straight line to the beginning, containing 25 acres, more or less.

The above described property is the same which was conveyed to George T. Upole by two deeds, the first from Elizabeth R. P. Hubbard, dated May 1, 1920, and recorded in Liber No. 77, folio 438, one of the said Land Records, and the second from Albert L. Lee, Treasurer, dated October 30, 1930, and recorded in Liber No. 102, folio 42, one of the said Land Records. The said George T. Upole departed this life intestate and title to said property became vested in his widow, Alta J. Upole, and ten children, to-wit: Russell G. Upole, Catheryn Upole Sines, Oscar Dale Upole, Albert Lee Upole, Harold H. Upole, Lulu Upole Weeks, Woodrow P. Upole, Helen J. Smith, Virginia Upole Leonard and Delia Upole Green. That by deed dated May 12, 1956, and recorded in Liber No. 197, folio 211, one of the said Land Records, said ten children of George T. Upole and their respective spouses, conveyed to the said Alta J. Upole, their undivided ⅔ interest in said property. That the said Alta J. Upole departed this life testate and by the terms of her Last Will and Testament, recorded in Wills Liber 11, folio 122, one of the Wills Records of Garrett County, Maryland, she devised said real estate to seven of her said children, to-wit: Russell G. Upole, Oscar Dale Upole, Harold H. Upole, Lulu Upole Weeks, Woodrow P. Upole, Albert Lee Upole and Virginia Upole Leonard. By deed dated June 18, 1974, and recorded in Liber No. 350, folio 195, one of the said Land Records, the said Albert Lee Upole conveyed his undivided 1/7 interest in said property to the Plaintiff, Carl DelSignore. By deed dated July 16, 1974, and recorded in Liber No. 350, folio 562, one of the said Land Records, the said Virginia Upole Leonard conveyed her undivided 1/7 interest in said property to the Plaintiff, Carl DelSignore.

Said property is improved with an eight room frame dwelling, 28 feet x 34 feet, with partial basement, but no bath, in fair condition, two barns, one 16 feet x 28 feet in good condition, and one 28 feet x 34 feet in fair condition, and a wash house 12 feet x 16 feet in fair condition. Approximately 27 acres of said property are cultivated fields and the balance is pastureland and cut over timber land.

The minerals under said 25 acre tract, the surface of said 25 acre tract and the surface of said 74.6 acre tract will first be offered separately. The surface of both tracts and the minerals underlying said 25 acre tract will then be offered as a whole. In the event the bids received when offered separately exceed the bid when offered as a whole, the three separate bids will be accepted. In the event the bid received when offered as a whole exceeds the total bids when offered separately, the bid for the whole will be accepted.

Terms of sale: ⅓ cash on day of sale and balance on ratification of sale or sales by this Court.

Upon motion duly made, seconded and unanimously carried the County Commissioners of Garrett County at their regular meeting of November 18th, 1974, resolved to close that certain former County Road which formerly led from Penn Point County Road to an area now flooded by the waters of Deep Creek Lake, and which, since 1935, has been replaced by an access road to the balance of Penn Point dedicated by Frederic C. Let Your Table Add To Holiday

Your centerpiece may reflect the folklore of the holiday or it may be a classic dinner table arrangement. It may also be a tableau of objects that display your awareness of beauty in all things. Lower your artistic sights, however, if your centerpiece starts to rise above 12 inches. In order for your guests to see one another, keep your centerpiece low — and your candles high so that they will not flicker annoyingly at eye level.

The size of your centerpiece will be geared to the size of your table, as will the space alloted for each place setting. If you have enough room, plates may be 30 inches apart — from center to center — otherwise 24; certainly never less than 20 inches, or your guests will really be rubbing elbows.

Lazy susans, pedestal cake plates, soup tureens, punch bowls, baskets or souffle dishes are likely candidates as containers for arrangements, as is any long rectangular container. A grouping of small potted plants, or large, fat blossoms floating in a shallow bowl makes an attractive arrangement.

A patterned tablecloth or colored tablecloth helps set a festive mood for the holidays.

THE NEW BORN KING

The little Drummer Boy was poor as the new born King
He had no gift to bring in His honor
"Shall I play for you on my drum?" he asked, and Mary nodded. The ox and the ass kept time, while he played his best . . . .
The Child was delighted.
He smiled at the little Drummer Boy and his drum.

Give Special Care In Toy Selections

Attention should be given to the proper selection of toys any time, but with the emphasis on toy buying at Christmastime, special care should be taken at this time of year.

A Division of Consumer Protection warns that children's games and toys can be as deadly as dynamite. Electrical toys can electrocute a child in a fraction of a second. And toys that use heat, can maim a child easily.

Do not select toys which have toxic substances, especially those painted with lead-base paint.

Be sure the toy is too large to be swallowed or put into a child's mouth and that it has no small parts that can come off and lodge in the windpipe.

Purchase toys that are not highly flamable. Avoid buying toys operated by alcohol, kerosene or gasoline.

Avoid toys with small, loose or sharp parts, rough or unfinished surfaces, cheap plastic or glass parts that can be easily broken, dangerous spikes or pins used to attach eyes, ears, etc. on dolls or stuffed animals. Also, avoid parts activated by a spring or motor that may pinch fingers or catch hair.

Reserve electrical toys for older children. If buying electrical toys, however, be sure it has been tested for fire and shock hazards and may be considered safe for handling.

Inspect toys for safety — before you buy!

Choose Right-Size Turkey This Year

Count on a half pound of whole turkey per serving, and that means about one pound per person if you want second helpings. Thus a 16-pound turkey will feed sixteen to twenty. But, if you want leftovers, buy a 20-pounder, which is a good size for taste and tenderness, too.

A 20-pound bird takes three to four days to defrost in the refrigerator, or about 12 hours in a sinkful of water. In either case, leave the turkey in its original plastic wrapper until it seems thawed. Then unwrap as soon as possible, and pull out the package of giblets from inside the turkey. Often these are still frozen, indicating that the inside of the turkey is also still frozen. Finish thawing either at room temperature or, if you are not in a hurry, in the refrigerator. Keep thawed turkey under refrigeration, since it spoils more rapidly than fresh turkey, and plan to roast it within a day, or at most two days, of thawing.

A pair-oared shell is a shell designed for two oarsmen, each man taking one oar only. The outriggers are seated one in front of the other, rather than beside each other. This makes a pair oared shell different from a double scull. A double scull provides room for two oarsmen, one in front of the other, but each man has an oar in each hand. The shell may or may not be equipped for a coxswain — one who steers the craft — and in Olympic games there are races at 2,000 meters for pair-oared shells.

FESTIVAL FOR GROWNUPS

Christmas in Italy is more a festival for grownups than for children. Families gather together on Christmas Eve and talk around the fireplace while they watch the "appo," the Christmas log throwing sparks up the chimney. Then they sit down to supper, the "cenone", there is no meat, for Christmas Eve is a fast day but there are dishes prepared in every way imaginable. The meal ends just before twelve when all go to midnight Mass.

May you be greatly blessed by the joyous spirit of the Christmas celebration.
Sincere thanks to all.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 98 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD. DECEMBER 26, 1974 | PER COPY 15c | NUMBER 43

America, 1975...

"America, the beautiful. America is a good land—not a perfect land—but a good land. With all its faults, it is still the great hope of mankind. The common people discovered it before the social scientists. The social scientists think of America as a problem. The people think it is a land of opportunity.

"America is a beautiful land. We might never learn this from our literature. A refugee from Europe said recently, 'When I read American literature, I thought America was made up of nothing but slums, factories, smokestacks and gasoline tanks, and miles and miles of trucks and dump heaps.' Careless Americans have created a pollution problem and American authors have rightly criticized, but no one had told this European about the grandeur of the Hudson, the lawns of our small towns, the beauty of our trees. No one had told her of the rock walls of Connecticut, the majesty of the Rockies, the autumn foliage of Indiana, the forsythia in the South, the redbud blooming along the hills of Missouri or the beautiful songbirds that we have everywhere.

"A nation that can overcome the difficulties of space exploration can overcome the problems of pollution, if it so determines to do so. America is a beautiful land, and most Americans are determined to keep it that way."

A good thought for reflection as we begin the year 1975. The foregoing was a yuletide greeting from H. G. Warp Company of Chicago.

House Confirms Nelson Rockfeller

Nelson A. Rockefeller was confirmed by the House of Representatives last Thursday night as the nation's 41st vice president.

By a vote of 287 and 128 the House capped six hours of debate and completed action on the nomination.

The Senate had approved the nomination last week 90 to 7.

Mr. Rockefeller was extolled as a man whose executive ability has been proved by years of federal service and by four terms as governor of New York. Opponents of the nomination critizied Mr. Rockefeller's gifts and loans to public officials and raised questions about possible conflict of interest based on the extensive financial holdings of the Rockfeller family here and abroad.

The oath of office was administered last Thursday evening by Chief Justice Warren Burger, for the first time in the history of the republic, neither the president nor the vice president was officially elected. Ford was appointed vice president by former President Richard Nixon when Spiro Agnew resigned in August, 1973, and Rockefeller was named last August when Ford was elevated to the White House.

Main opposition to Rockefeller, 66, came from liberal Democrats who said he was too rich to be vice president, and from conservative Republicans who though he was too liberal.

The confirmation came one day short of four months after his nomination, and marked 19 weeks to the day that the nation was without a vice president.

Voting for confirmation were 134 Democrats and 153 Republicans. Voting against were 99 Democrats and 29 Republicans.

Maryland has four Democrats and four Republicans. Byron a Democrat, voted for. Democrats against were Long, Mitchell and Sarbanes. Republicans in favor were Gude, Hogan and Holt. Republicans against: Bauman.

Inflation Affects School Supplies

As inflation has affected the costs of goods and services to all, it has also had an effect on the Garrett County schools in terms of shortages of supplies and materials, according to Dr. William H. Buser, county superintendent of schools.

Prices for things such as paper, over the past year, have increased anywhere from 35 to over 50 percent. The cost of basic school materials such as rulers, paste, and pencils has gone up anywhere from 10 to 20 percent. Materials which have a petroleum base, such as duplicator fluid, have increased most dramatically as a gallon of fluid that cost $1.05 in 1973-74 now costs as much as twice that amount, if it can be obtained. As a result, funds budgeted for supplies and materials do not go as far as they once did, he pointed out.

Probably just as important as the price increases, however, are shortages in the supply of materials from the manufacturers. Paper manufacturers, for instance, used to stock and sell all grades of paper. Now, though, they offer only the grades on which they make the most profit usually their most expensive grade. As a result of this policy, shortages in certain supplies have caused the schools to pay for materials when they can be found rather than pursue the normal procedure of allowing competition in bidding to supply

Economic Picture Favorable Here

The economic picture in Garrett County appears to be much more favorable than Allegany County, according to a report in last Friday's issue of the Cumberland News.

The unemployment rate in Allegany was placed at 15 percent at least, based on the number of persons drawing unemployment benefit checks at the Department of Employment Security Administration office.

Garrett County which traditionally has a higher jobless rate than Allegany, appeared to be in better shape.

Wayne B. Hamilton, chairman of the County Commissioners, said that he believed his county's employment picture was actually brighter than it was several years ago.

He said on April 1 of this year the county had a work force of about 2,400 more than it had on that date three years ago and aside from the usual seasonal layoffs, the county was maintaining that improved economic status.

Mr. Hamilton said in discussions he has had with Frederick and Washington County officials he had found a similar situation in those two subdivisions. He said one permanent factor was the stabilized economic pictures in the three counties in that all three had substantial agriculture industry, which generally remained on an even economic level.

The county's economy is about one-third each in the fields of agriculture, light industry and recreation. He said when one of the employment areas falls off, the other two are generally able to pick up the slack.

The revived coal mining industry has also benefited this county as has construction of the National Freeway and the addition of a couple of medium sized plants, such as Bausch and Lomb lens plant which has more than 300 workers and a new Deer Park sewing factory which provides roughly 125 jobs.

While Mr. Hamilton said he would like to see even more jobs in the county, he said he is happy that Garrett's problems are not presently comparable to the difficulties now hitting Allegany County.

Four Injured In Horse Shoe Run Collision Friday

Four Eglon residents were injured in a two-car collision at Horse Shoe Run, W. Va. Friday, December 20.

Injured were Mrs. Kathleen Evans, 53, Cindy Kitzmiller, 15; and Mrs. Evan's grandchildren Mark Lewis, 5, and Robert Scott Lewis 7. They were all transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

According to West Virginia State Police, who investigated, Mrs. Evans was driving on icy West Virginia 24 and had been spinning when her car came into a dry bridge, spun around and crossed the highway in front of a car operated by Danny Bolyard, 25, Tunnelton. Mrs. Evan's car was demolished, while the Bolyard car sustained $500 damage.

The Lewis children suffered facial injuries and one child also sustained a dislocated shoulder. Mrs Evans is suffering from multiple injuries, and remains a patient at the hospital.

A Mich snow sculptor did such a good job making a life-size Volkswagen, the police chief ordered it towed away.

Commissioners Review 5-Year Highway Plan

Maryland Route 42 And Youghiogheny River Bridge Have Top Priority

The five year plan for highway improvements and construction in the county were reviewed this week by the County Commissioners and the State Highway administration.

Having top priority in the county are Maryland route 42, from Hoyes to Friendsville, and the bridge over the Youghiogheny river. The latter is because of the National Freeway through Friendsville.

Included also in the plan as well, according to the Commissioners, is a portion of state route 135, at Wilson road, for reconstruction.

In the plan for base widening and resurfacing are Rock Lodge road to Dung Hill road on route 495, and portions of route 560. A total of 18.95 miles of state-owned roads is included in the plan for this county, it was stated.

The State Highway department holds a review session of the five year plan in each county annually, it was pointed out.

The State Highway administration notified the county commissioners that their study had revealed that no traffic controls were needed at the intersection of Bumble Bee road and U.S. route 219. The commissioners, on behalf of residents of that area, had requested the highway administration to try to find a solution to the number of accidents at that intersection. The study results stated that visibility is good on that road and the number of accidents was not large enough to warrant any traffic controls.

In other action the commissioners reviewed the design for the Savage River bridge. The commissioners are anticipating putting the bridge out on bids sometime this winter.

The commissioners also noted that the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene had approved the comprehensive water and sewage plan for the county. The plan is required to be updated annually.

Finally Gets Buck

After hunting for a buck during deer season for the past fifty years or more, Osborne Beckman, 79, succeeded in getting his first buck, a six pointer, the first day of regular deer season, in the Pleasant Valley section, near his home, route 2, Oakland.

The first shot did it, according to a daughter who reported the incident to The Republican office.

Over Nineteen Hundred Treated Sat. Afternoon

Some 1,920 children of the community were treated by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce at the annual Christmas treat, corner of Green and Second streets, in Oakland, last Saturday afternoon.

The weather was an extreme change from last season. Last treat in 1973 the temperature was below zero. This past Saturday it was above freezing and the sun was shining.

The Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce said that $725 had been raised for the treat, some $75 above that needed. The Chamber said that two additional gifts had been received for the treat program, by anonymous givers.

Persons contributing in addition to those mentioned last week include Stewart Funeral home Order of Eastern Star, Garrett Land Realty, Nu-Way Laundry, S. H. Pagenhardt, Chimney Corner, Loch Lynn Service Station, H-P Stores, of Md. Inc., Richard A. Morris, Elwood Groves, Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club.

Northern Squad Will Conclude Membership Drive

The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad will conclude its 1974-75 associate membership drive on January 15, 1975.

Persons who move into the area after that date will also be accepted.

The associate membership fees are $10 per family, $8 for couples and $5 for individuals. An associate membership entitles a person to free ambulance service to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Meyersdale Community Hospital, Frostburg Community Hospital, Sacred Heart and Memorial Hospitals, Cumberland, and reduced rates to other hospitals.

Membership cards may be obtained by telephoning James Wilburn, Grantsville, Mary Friend, Friendsville, or any member of the squad.

47 Deer Killed During Two-Day "Extra" Season

A total of 17 deer were tagged at the county checking stations during the final two days of deer season Friday and Saturday, December 20 and 21.

The total kill for the seven-day hunting season is now 567, as compared with 587 last year.

At Walt's General Store, 14 hunters checked deer; at Hetz's store, 14; Paul's Mt. Top Tire, 11; Savage River Inn, 7; Deep Creek State Park, none; Johnny's Bait House, 1.

Hunting pressure was heavy with many out-of-county hunters in the woods. The kill was lower than expected, possibly since many of these visitors were not familiar with hunting areas.

Quite a few deer had already lost their antlers, and the state deer biologist from Annapolis and the local wildlife police are cooperating to determine the cause for this unusual occurrence.

Winter Enters In True Form Sunday

Winter was ushered in, in true form with a 3-inch snow fall causing slick roads and one fatal highway accident Saturday. This added to the variety of weather with mild temperatures and some heavy rain Tuesday. Winter began at 1 a.m. Sunday.

Last Thursday's rain, amounting to .24 inch, gave way to clearing skies late in the day, but became overcast Friday afternoon. A 'snow watch' was issued for Friday night, but no snow was seen until the 3-inch fall began Saturday afternoon. Clouds began to break late Sunday morning. Skies remained variably cloudy until Tuesday when rain began to fall by mid-morning. Rain continued into Christmas morning with .56 inch falling. The mercury began dropping yesterday with some snow flurries before noon. Skies were then variably cloudy but being mostly so toward the end of the day. Some light snow flurries were falling this morning leaving only a trace on the ground. Total precipitation for the week, including snow, amounted to .99 inch. So far this winter season, 50.6 inches of snow has fallen, just about 10 inches less than the entire 1973-74 season.

Temperatures averaged above normal for the week due to mild readings Monday through early yesterday. After this the mercury began to fall, dropping about 20 degrees. The highs were Monday and Tuesday with 50 degrees each and 53, very early yesterday. The coolest day was Sunday when the temperature edged to just above freezing, at 33 degrees. Lows averaged one degree above normal, being kept that low by a 6-degree reading Monday and 11, last Friday. Temperatures did drop into the 20s or below every night.

Light breezes, fresh at times, were blowing yesterday. Otherwise the air was mostly calm.

Fire Damages A Trailer Monday Near Gnegy Church

Oakland Firemen with one truck and 23 men responded to a call to the trailer occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hebb just before 11 a.m.

The Hebbs had just left the trailer when a neighbor noticed smoke coming from it. Malfunction of the furnace was noted as the possible cause.

Two children of the Hebbs had just been left with the neighbor who discovered the fire.

It was reported that the trailer was rented from George Shaffer.

Hebbs Need Clothing, Place To Live

The Hebbs lost all their possessions in the fire, and the Red Cross is asking donations of clothing and furniture for the family. Mrs. William (Norma) Hesen is in charge of local Red Cross operations. The family also needs a place to live.

Mr. Hebb is with the U.S. Army in Fort Lee, Va., and hitchhiked home after hearing news about the fire. He arrived about 4 a.m. Tuesday. The Hebbs will be staying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hebb, until they can locate a place to live. The children and Mrs. Hebb spent Monday night with Mrs. Walter Livengood, Swanton.

The four children in the family are Danny, 6, who wears size 8 in clothing and size 1 shoe; Billy Joe, 4½ and Lee, 3½, who wear size 6 in clothing and size 8 shoes, and the baby, Mayleen, almost six months, who wears clothing for children approximately 14 months old. Mrs. Hebb wears size 15 or 16, depending on the style of the clothing.

Mrs. Hebb had taken the oldest child, who has scarletina, to the doctor, taking the baby with her, when the fire broke out. The two middle children, who were staying with Mrs. Shaffer across the yard, do not even have coats or mittens.

The H-P Store has donated $50 worth of new clothing for the family, and Kelly's Appliance and Furniture store has donated a crib for the baby.

Maryland's 1974 quota was $140,500,000, and the total to the end of October was $125,896,964, which was some nine million more than for the same period last year.

Husband, Wife Fatally Hurt Saturday Eve

Roscoe C. And Florence Wotring, Aurora Couple, Dead In Head-on Collision

A husband and wife were fatally injured in a head-on collision some three miles north of Oakland Saturday evening at 4:55, on U.S. route 219.

The wreck claimed the lives of Roscoe C. Wotring, 54, and his wife, Florence, 55, of general delivery, Aurora.

The wreck occurred during a heavy snowstorm when the highway was extremely slick.

Trooper Charles H. Hinnant, who investigated, said a northbound car driven by Cindy L. Peck, 20, was descending a grade at Kings Hill when the brakes jammed, putting her car into a slide into the oncoming path of southbound auto operated by Mr. Wotring.

She was admitted to Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland and her condition was listed as "satisfactory." She was discharged Sunday.

Trooper Hinnant charged Miss Peck with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

A joint funeral service for the Wotrings was conducted Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock from St. Paul's Lutheran church, Aurora, by Rev. Donald Thomas, pastor, and Rev. Paul Crumley, pastor of Oak Park Church of the Brethren. Interment was in Aurora cemetery.

Mr. Wotring was born at Aurora, a son of Alfred and Mary High Burkholder Wotring, Aurora. He was a farmer and farm supply salesman and was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church at Aurora.

Mrs. Wotring was born at Eglon, W. Va., and was a daughter of Jesse Gnegy, Sr., Aurora; and the late Bertha Beeghley Gnegy. She also was a member of St. Paul's church, a charter member of Rebekah Lodge 14, past district president of district five, Rebekah lodge, and had been a 4-H leader fur twelve years.

The Wotrings are survived by a daughter, Mrs. Norma F. Harsh, route 2, Oakland; and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Wotring also is survived by her stepmother, Mrs. Emma Keiper Gnegy; three brothers, Paul Gnegy, Plainesville, Kan.; Earl Gnegy, North Canton, Ohio; and Jesse Gnegy, Jr., route 2, Oakland; two sisters, Mrs. Ruby Rembold, Cumberland, and Mrs. Harold (Grace) White, Oakland.

The bodies were taken to the John O. Durst funeral home in Oakland. The family requested that contributions be made to St. Paul's church at Aurora or to the Aurora Cemetery association.

Commitments Top Venture Goal

Commitments for the building fund for a new Lutheran church, to be erected on the corner of Second and Center streets, had surpassed a venture goal of $90,000, it was announced this week by Courtney R. Tusing, president of St. Mark's Lutheran church council.

The campaign was conducted under direction of Charles S. Stief, of Beltsville, counselor for the Lutheran Laymen's Movement for Stewardship of the Lutheran Church in America.

The fund raising campaign had three goals, a minimum of $60,000 over a three year period; an advance goal of $90,000, was a Venture goal of $90,000 was surpassed last week.

The church has a fund of over $90,000 in its building fund. Both First National Bank and Garrett National Bank have approved an application to lend the church an amount sufficient to construct the building on the strength of the pledges to the building fund.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

Last Saturday my eight year old daughter and I got stuck in the snow at the Red Run theatre. (No snow tires). There were seven young men (teenagers) from Oakland who were also going to the movie who helped us out.

I would like to thank them and also Oakland for having such kind, considerate and thoughtful young people. Not only did they help us before the show but afterwards, when the movie was over. They made sure we got out all right.

Mary G. Sutcliffe,
Route 1, Box 393
Oakland, Md.

Dear Sir:

We found out this year the true meaning of Christmas. In other years when we were all well and everyone was rushing around having a good time we never stopped to thank much of other less fortunate people but this year it hit home when our 13-year-old son had a motorcycle accident in July and as a result is lying in a big body cast and can only move his arms and head and one leg from the knee down. Now we know just how lucky we are to be walking around.

His name is Terry Lambert and he goes to the Aurora school. He's an eighth grader this year but has never been able to attend school this year so it was a joy to see all the boys and girls from all grades stop in at his open house party Sunday, December 22, to sit and talk to him.

Even the little third grade class at school made individual cards and made pictures on one side and wrote a personal message to him on the other side. His comment was, "I didn't think they knew me," and his little friend who brought them, Dale Shaffer, said, "We all know you." It was so heartwarming to see that children still care for one another no matter what age or size.

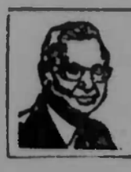
We want to thank all the wonderful people who made his whole day possible by taking time out from their busy day to come in and spend some time with him.

We want to start with the third graders, the high school children who could have been out having more fun the grownups for taking up their time, Mrs. Iris Myers for making a beautiful Christmas cake, all the ones who brought him presents and sent him cards and last but always remembered the group ranging from little children to adults who came into the house and sang songs for everyone. The whole afternoon will be remembered for many years and thank you all once again for making a little boy's drill Christmas a much happier one to remember.

His last words Sunday night before he went to sleep were "I didn't think that many would remember me, did you, Mom?"

So what more can a person wish for? Thank you all and God bless you and your children on Christmas day. May it make your new year a little bit better. It has ours.

Terry's parents,
Cletis and Josephine Lambert



Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President—National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

Whatever is wrong in America is wrong because we failed to follow the guidelines of the Constitution. Whatever is false in America is false in the men who sit in positions of political power, not in the Constitution. If today, there are injustices in our society, it is not because our Constitution does not point us toward equality and justice for all under the law, it is because of faulty execution of the law. If today, our system of government is off the track, it is not because we did not have a blueprint of delicate precision written by our forefathers almost two centuries ago. Rather, it is because men have been willing to forego their responsibility and pass to another the hard work of being free. You see, our Constitutional system presumes that men who serve in the various branches of government will be men of honor, men of responsibility. The system is thrown out of balance when the Judicial goes outside its realm and is not brought to heel by the Legislative. The system is thrown out of balance when the legislative empowers the Executive with more power than is authorized by the Constitution. The system is thrown out of balance when the legislative takes to itself more authority than is written and deprives the other branches of their proper functions. Each of these has happened at one time or other in our history, and each time we have learned how delicate is the balance of Constitutional liberty. From each Constitutional crisis our nation has experienced, we have re-emerged with a generation more determined than ever to realize the full fruits of the promise held aloft in the Constitution.

Those who would enslave mankind, those who lust for power, both foreign and domestic, are mortal enemies of the Constitution of the United States. It stands in their way, and there is nothing they will not do to destroy it. When you hear someone say, "the Constitution is a horse and buggy document," mark him down as an enemy of freedom. The Constitution is newer in its delivery of freedom and dignity than tomorrow's discovery. It is the weapon of the people to prevent the loss of freedom. It is the brick-wall against which many a would-be dictator has had his Godless ambitions dashed in years gone by.

In a very real sense, the freedom of not only America, but the entire human race, now depends upon the ability of this country to maintain our system of Constitutional government. That is the importance of the events which took place in Constitution Hall in Philadelphia in 1789. That is the importance and mission of our Constitution today. When men cry "Constitutional Crisis" in today's news, it is a misnomer. There is no crisis which the Constitution cannot handle. What they really mean is that men have found themselves in conflict with the provisions of the Constitution and don't want to follow it.

In ice hockey the face-off is a way of putting the puck in play at the start of the game and at the starts of periods as well as after scores and suspensions of play. There is always a designated face-off spot. Two players face the ends of the rink with their sticks on the ice (very important), and then the referee drops the puck between them. In both the amateur and the professional games, no other player may be within ten feet of the player facing off. Ice Hockey is a tough sport, but one that is very exciting to watch.

Our staff at DEL BORING TIRE SERVICE INC., 258 N. 3rd St., 334-8178 would like to take this opportunity to wish all our readers a Merry Christmas and a very Happy New Year. We look forward to serving all your tire needs during the coming year. Hours: Mon.-Thurs. 8 am-5 pm, Fri. 8 am-9 pm, Sat. 8 am-12 pm.

Tip For The Week: A teflon coated tape placed around the threads of a faucet will replenish the worn thread and stop leaks.

OFFICIAL SOUND

Everyone in Iceland bundles up and goes out to watch a display of fireworks, which says good-by to the old year and welcomes the new. In the harbor, at the same time, all the ships sound their horns. It's the sound everyone waits for—the New Year is official.

Miller-Miller Nuptials Held At Accident Saturday, Oct. 26

Betty Ann Miller, Crocker Drive, Bel Air, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Miller, Accident, became the bride of H. Edward Miller, Silver Spring Drive, Bel Air, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Miller also Bel Air, on the afternoon of Saturday, October 26, at 2 o'clock.

The double ring ceremony was performed at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Accident, by Rev. William E. Carlson, pastor.

Organist was Mrs. Mary Bach, aunt of the bride, and soloist was Mrs. Linda Buckle.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Ivory gown of silk organza and Venice lace. The high Victorian collar and sleeves were accented with the same lace. The skirt and sweeping train ruffled delicately at the bottom and swept gracefully at her feet. Her headpiece of the same silk organza was a camelot cap with seed pearls adorning it. A cascade of white fugi mums and feather fern was accented with a center of tangerine carnation with autumn rainbow ribbon fashioned into a lift out corsage.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Jean Parks, Alexandria, sister of the bride. She wore a long gown of rust velvet with empire waist and diamond scoop neck, accented with rhinestone buttons on bodice and sleeves with picture hat, with long streamers to match the color of the dress.

Bridesmaids were Miss Valerie Miller, Bel Air, sister of the groom; Mrs. Margaret Carlson, Accident, sister of the bride. Miss Miller wore the same type dress but in tangerine with matching hat. Mrs. Carlson wore the same type dress but in red fox with matching picture hat. All attendants carried fireside baskets of fresh fall flowers accented with various dried fall flowers.

Flower girl, Miss Amy Foley, cousin of the bride, Accident, wore a long flowing gown of chocolate velvet with an empire waist accented with ecru miniature French lace at the waist and on the sleeves. She carried a basket of mum petals.

Mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of Kelly green double knit with embossed rosettes with long sleeves and a medium scooped neck with corsage of tangerine carnations with autumn rainbow ribbon.

The groom's mother wore a floor length gown of chartreuse double knit with long sleeves and a matching sleeveless long evening coat. Both coat and gown were trimmed in pearls with corsage of tangerine carnations and autumn rainbow ribbon.

Best man was Thomas E. Hicks, of Bel Air, cousin of the groom. Ushers were Robert J. Cappallo, Bel Air; Paul H. Miller, Accident, brother of the bride, Groomsmen wore brown Duke tuxedos with brown crushed velvet collars and ties with accent stripe on trousers, also in crushed velvet, with apricot shirts and boutonnieres. The groom wore an ecru shirt to complement his bride's ivory gown and the fathers wore green shirts to complement their wive's gowns.

Ringbearer was Master Scott Wilhide, Taneytown, cousin of the bride.

A reception was held following the ceremony at Point View Inn, McHenry.

The couple took a honeymoon trip to Williamsburg, Va., and returned to Bel Air on November 1, where they are residing at 200-B Crocker Drive, Hickory Hills.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Northern High School and is employed as a payroll clerk for the Whiting-Turner Contracting Company, Towson.

The groom is a 1964 graduate of Bel Air High School, also attended Harford Community College. He is manager of Administrative Services, Century Engineering, Inc., also of Towson.

The bride attended Wheeling College and is taking pre-school teaching certification at Anne Arundel Community College. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. George P. Deacon, of Mountain Lake Park. needs.

Shortages have also presented problems of non-delivery of ordered materials, Dr. Buser added. The Board of Education annually solicits and awards bids for materials during the months of January-February. Ordinarily, once bids are awarded, delivery can take anywhere from one to six months. An increasing problem this year, however, has been non-delivery due to supply shortages. As a result, schools opened this year without some materials because the suppliers have not been able to deliver. The Board of Education, for instance, had to re-order its entire order of duplicator fluid because the supplier indicated in September that he could not promise delivery until December. As a result, the Board of Education had to place a new order with another supplier at the next higher bid price or go without duplicating fluid until December.

Principals and teachers have attempted to accommodate their needs to these problems. However, in some cases the situation is not easily resolved. It is hoped that economic conditions will improve to the point where the flow of materials and supplies to our schools will resume to normalcy in the near future, Dr. Buser concluded.

Productivity: One Answer To Inflation

The Labor Department reports that the productivity of U. S. labor is declining at an annual rate of 3 percent. This is sobering news in America's fight against inflation.

Economists warn that any program to combat rising costs of goods and services must include a greater output by those who produce them. Otherwise, employers are forced either to increase prices or cut payrolls to stay in business. In other words, they must make an unhappy choice between even higher inflation or more unemployment. Either way—we all lose.

Declining U. S. productivity unfortunately is not a new phenomenon. It helps explain why some of America's trading partners have been able to compete so successfully for world trade in recent years.

During the last half of the 1960's, for example, Japan's productivity rose by a whopping 90 percent while U. S. productivity increased by only 10 percent. Now that modest U. S. increase has turned to an actual decrease, indicating our country is losing the fight against inflation on a crucial battlefield.

One key way to close the "productivity gap" is to gain greater effectiveness out of our most important resource: labor. Although labor unions generally turn a suspicious eye on such talk, it appears clear that everyone stands to gain from increased productivity; for the worker there is greater job satisfaction and security; for management there are increased profits; and for consumers—which include both labor and management—there are lower prices.

As the United States looks toward the challenges we face in 1975, we could make no greater resolve on the economic front than to work harder and more creatively than ever before to increase our productivity. If we succeed, the economic picture we view one year from now can look considerably brighter. —U. S. Press Association.

Coulter Says Strip Permit For Yough Should Be Issued

James B. Coulter, Department of Natural Resources Secretary, announced last week that he has determined that the strip mine permit in the Youghiogheny River basin should be issued.

His opinion was handed down after several weeks of studies conducted on the feasibility of mining in the scenic river area.

In a letter to the State's Land Reclamation Committee, Mr. Coulter said he had determined that the proposed mining does not fall within the scenic corridor, and recommended that the conditions the LRC set forth be applied to the entire area.

Mr. Coulter proposed a regulation setting aside two zones flanking both sides of the Yough, the 35-mile long mountain stream running south to north in western Garrett county.

The regulation establishes a "scenic buffer zone" which generally ranges about one to two miles outward from the river shoreline.

It also establishes a "scenic corridor" defined generally as the land that may be seen from the opposite shore of the river. The regulation would also prohibit the Maryland Bureau of Mines from issuing, amending, extending or renewing any open-pit mining permit to extract coal on land within the scenic corridor.

The regulation says "The Bureau may grant a special exception to mine coal by the open-pit method on land located within the scenic corridor, if the applicant demonstrates to the satisfaction of the bureau that the proposed mining operation would have negligible effect on the fundamental character and natural values of the river and the scenic corridor."

Within the scenic buffer zone, according to the proposed regulations, permits may be issued only after the Bureau of Mines has evaluated the impact of the proposed operation on the character and natural values of the river, the corridor and the scenic buffer zone.

The Land Reclamation Committee has suggested that box cutting be employed to take out the coal. Box cutting is a method of mining designed to expose as little of the area as possible at one time.

The LRC also recommends that the area be revegetated in mixed hardwood trees characteristic of the existing forest.

Off-Road Vehicles Must Be Registered

Off road vehicles using designated trails on State lands must be registered with the Department of Natural Resources starting January 1.

The vehicles as defined in regulations adopted by the Secretary of Natural Resources include those capable of cross country travels on land, water, snow, ice, marsh, swampland or other natural terrain. The regulation is aimed principally at providing places for use by trail bikes and snowmobiles.

Registration forms are available from the Licensing and Consumer Services Department of Natural Resources, Tawes State Office Building Annapolis, 21401 at the DNA Regional Center at Naves Crossroads, Cumberland.

Cost of registration is $5 per vehicle. If the vehicle already is registered with a motor vehicles administration, it does not have to be registered with DNR. All registered vehicles will have to display a green decal provided when the registration fee is paid.

The trails were selected after a widespread study emphasizing environmental safeguards. They are is in these state forests—Swallow Falls, Potomac, Savage River, Green Ridge and Pocomoke.

Funds from registration fees will be used to post trails, patrol the areas and acquire, develop and manage areas for use by off-road vehicles.

OUR CALENDAR

Calendar is a word derived from the Latin "kalendae" (calends), literally, the day on which the accounts are due. The calendar now used for civil purposes throughout the world is called the Gregorian calendar, after Pope Gregory XIII, who introduced it in the sixteenth century.

Early man required a calendar primarily for religious observance although, of course, when he settled in agricultural communities he came to need a civil calendar as well.

CELEBRATION TIME

Why celebrate the end of one year and the beginning of the next? It seems a strange custom, yet there is a good reason for it.

Few, if any of us, have come even close to perfection in the year just ending. So we look ahead toward 365 brand-new days, blank pages in the next chapter of our lives.

What will we do with them? On the eve of a New Year, most of us certainly have the desire to try harder, to be better people.

But even while we are saying "Off with the old and on with the new" we are also clinging to the good in the days gone by. As we renew old friendships, we thank God for those friends, for the Faith he has given us, for life itself.

And, in the midst of revelry, we start the year the best way of all: We go to church.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

BODY AND SOUL

Lesson for December 29, 1974

Background Scripture: Luke 4:14-21; 5:17-26; 13:10-17
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 42:8-13.

There are two grave errors that man is likely to make about his own nature. On the one hand, he is likely to forget that his body has a soul. On the other, he is likely to forget that his soul also has a body. Somehow we must find some means of keeping both body and soul in the proper perspective.

Rev. Althouse

The spirit of the Lord

Jesus ministered to whole men, not bodies or spirits by themselves. He realized that the soul and the body act upon each other and one cannot deal with one perspective of man without also dealing with the other.

In our society today there is a tendency for Christians to major in one department to the exclusion of the other. We are catalogued as being concerned for one or the other, rarely both. So, some Christians never get beyond ministering to the physical and tangible needs of men. Others become so focused on the souls of men that they seem to forget that there is a body attached.

That is why the ministry of Jesus is so instructive for us: it is a ministry of wholeness, not specialization.

Some people assume that there is something incompatible about body and spirit, that the Christian's only concern must be for the soul. Yet, when we view the ministry of Jesus we find a great concern for men's physical well-being. When Jesus read the scroll of Isaiah in the synagogue, note how he focused on physical well-being.

". . . good news to the poor . . . release to the captives . . . recovering of sight to the blind . . . to set at liberty those who are oppressed . . ." (Luke 4:18).

When John the Baptist's disciples came to Jesus asking if he really were the Messiah, Jesus responded by pointing to his ministry to the physical and spiritual needs of men. It was his concern for people's bodies that made his "good news" so good.

But that you may know . . .

We find this same focus in the daily ministry of Jesus. In Luke 4 we find concern for both body and soul. For one thing, Jesus could easily see that this man was suffering a physical ailment; he was paralyzed. Jesus quickly determined to set the man on his feet: "I say to you, rise, take up your bed and go home" (5:24).

Yet, Jesus cannot minister to the man's body without taking cognizance of his soul, too: "Man your sins are forgiven you" (Luke 5:20). This, of course, gave the religious authorities difficulties, for they assumed that body and soul had to be kept separate. But to Jesus, body and soul are not two different sides of the coin. And Jesus demonstrates this when he challenges the authorities: "Which is easier to say, 'Your sins are forgiven you,' or to say, 'Rise and walk'?" (Luke 5:23).

It is body and soul, or it is neither.

Ryan's Glade 4-H Has Christmas Party

The Christmas party topped off the December meeting of the Ryan's Glade 4H club held at the White Church Community Hall.

Record books and projects were given out, and reports on Achievement Night and the visit to the home of Mr. Pennington were heard. Mr. Pennington, who is blind, makes brooms and mops.

Cathy Uphold became a new member. Ways to raise money to fix the community building were discussed, and it was decided to have a Clover King and Queen contest. Jars will be distributed in various stores, and each penny will count as a vote. The Clover King and Queen will be selected at the regular meeting in February.

Demonstrations were given by Kathy Nice on "Nuts and Bolts," Henry Steyer on the spark plug and Barbara Knox on foods.

Southern Trounces Elk Garden 92-50

Southern High Rams sparked by four players in double figures, raced to an easy 92 to 50 win over Elk Garden last Friday night in a Potomac Valley conference clash at Oakland.

Kevin Liller led the scoring parade with 19 points on eight field goals and three of three from the foul line. Tom Panther added 15, Dave Shotwell 14 and Mike Griffith 12 for the Rams.

Southern moved to a 19 to 7 first period lead, widened it to 35 to 18 at intermission and coasted in the final two quarters. E. Panther also had 5, Lewis 7, Skiles 6, Bosley 8, Rook 4 and Steger 2 to complete the scoring for the Rams.

Charles Pennington led the Stags with 16 points while Morris added 14, Reel 3, Shillinghurg 5, Kelly 2, Lyons 2 and Moreland 2.

The victory moved the Rams to a 3-1 mark on the season. The next game is set for Northern on January 3.

Skiing Fair To Good Christmas Week

Some of the best skiing conditions in years have been reported since December 7 at Wisp Ski area, McHenry, according to Bill Cook, manager.

Truly outstanding conditions were noted December 7 and 8 and also December 22. Skiing conditions in between those times have varied, according to weather conditions.

The continuous schedule at the ski area began December 7. Weekday hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Saturdays and Sundays the hours are from 9 to 4:30.

For this Christmas week, conditions are fair to good, with thawing weather softening the snow. There is still an 8 to 18 inch base on most slopes.

Night skiing will begin Friday, January 3, on Wednesdays and Fridays only, until the end of February. Night skiing hours are from 6 to 10 p.m.

A near-capacity crowd has made reservations at Village Inn lodge for the Christmas week, and Monday, December 23, was a busy day with skiers.

Ski school director Karl Gumlalter gives lessons on the slopes daily at 10:30, noon and 2 p.m. He teaches the graduated length method (GLM) whereby beginners are started on very short skis and gradually moved to longer skis.

Equipment added to keep slopes in condition include a second Hedco snowmaker with an unusually large capacity for making snow and a snow cat used for "manicuring" the slopes. The snow caterpillar is also a large piece of equipment which helps keep slopes packed and breaks up icy surfaces.

Skis and snowmobiles may be rented from the ski shop at the Wisp.

Ewald Retiring As Manager Of PE Western Division

Edward L. Ewald, manager of Potomac Edison's Western Division, will retire January 1, ending a 42-year career with the utility company.

James L. Stitt, a 16-year veteran from PE's sister company, West Penn Power, will replace Mr. Ewald as division manager.

Mr. Ewald joined the utility company in 1931 in Piedmont. He later served in Cumberland, Keyser and Hagerstown before returning to Cumberland in 1948 as commercial manager. He was named district manager in Frostburg in 1958, district manager in Cumberland in 1962 and manager of the western division in 1970.

Mr. Stitt, an agriculture engineering graduate of Penn State University, was supervisor of customer service in West Penn's Lincoln Division at Greensburg before being promoted to the Division Manager position.

Bring Springtime Indoors Early

In backyards all over the country are unassuming bushes called Forsythia; it may not look like much these winter type days, with a little attention you can make them burst with yellow blossoms.

It is not difficult to force the shrub into premature blooming. Take a mild day, preferably after a rain, go out and select branches that bear plump buds and cut them off. Snip down at a slant almost at soil level. The length will be impressive when the branches are indoors and standing tall.

Now pound the base of each branch with a hammer, or crush and shred it with pliers; this will help it absorb the needed water, then let it stand at room temperature for five or six hours. After that put the branches in a container of fresh water. Set the container in a basement or any other cool and dark place for two or three weeks. Replenish water frequently as it will be necessary during this time.

When the flower buds seem about to pop, they can be brought into the full light and warmer temperatures. You will have springtime flowers and fragrance during some of the dreary days following the colorful and busy holidays.

Full Gospel Church To Show Film December 31

Satanic interference in the total program of the church is the theme for "The Deceiver," a 70-minute color film to be shown at The Full Gospel Church in Deer Park on Tuesday, December 31, at 8 p.m.

This production, a companion release to the film, "The Enemy," details the strategy of evil in the lives of Christians, telling of a family active in church affairs and what happened when the teenagers in the family became interested in the occult.

Also featured in the film program will be a Watchnight service with fellowship and refreshments, closing with testimony and communion as the new year comes in.

Northern Huskies Stop Beall 53-49

After the third period ended in a tie, visiting Northern High school moved to the front, paced by guard Dave Bender, to defeat Beall High of Frostburg 53 to 49 last Thursday night at Frostburg.

Beall's Mountaineers were ahead by shallow margins at the end of the first two quarters, leading 11 to 6 and 27 to 21. The Huskies managed to catch up in the third period to knot the score at 35 each by the end of the frame.

Then rebounding and pumping in six quick points in the final quarter the Huskies forged ahead and ended the quarter with 18 points as against fourteen for Beall for the close four-point decision.

Bender was high scorer for Northern with 16. Merv Russell, other Huskie guard, had 14. Fauber had 6, Frazee 5, Teats 4 and Yoder 8 to complete the scoring for Northern.

The game's top point man was Beall guard Bob Langan with 19, while Dean Layman had 16.

The victory was the first of the season for Northern in three games played.

Not Sending Cards

Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr., announced last week that this year, as in the past, he did not send personal greeting cards to mark the holiday season. Instead, the Senator and Mrs. Beall will be making a special contribution to charity. This year the Maryland State Society for Autistic Children will be the recipient of the donation, to assist them in their work with emotional handicapped children and adults.

FULL MOON

Saturday at 10:51 p.m. the moon is in line with the earth and sun so that we see one hemisphere illuminated. Since at the Full Moon Phase the moon is opposite the sun, we see the moon rise as the sun sets. This week moonrise occurs at 2:49 p.m. today and moves later each day so that it occurs at 9:40 p.m. on New Year's Day.

361,630 kilometers (224,790 miles) separate moon and earth on Monday at 7:00 p.m. This is called a perigee of the moon and is the closest the moon will be to earth during its present lunation (revolution about the earth).

Jupiter, Venus, Saturn and Mars are the visible planets. Jupiter is among the stars of Aquarius and sets before midnight. Venus sets an hour after sunset and is visible for about one-half hour. Saturn is visible almost all night. It is in the constellation Gemini. Mars is visible for a half-hour before sunrise.

Daylength increases this week. Sunrise was at 7:36 a.m. this morning. Sunset will be at 5:01 p.m. this evening. There will be one minute more daylight New Year's Day than there is today. The sun will rise two minutes later and set three minutes later on Wednesday than it did today.

Happy New Year

Countdown's Near . . It's almost time to greet the new year. Here's hoping it's a real bell ringer for all our dear customers.

The boys were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and Mrs. Evans and her daughter remain patients there. Both cars were extensively damaged but the occupants of the other car were not injured.

American Freedom and Christian Responsibility

By
Rev. W. H. Leake, Deer Park, Md.

The Greatest Story Ever Told, of course, is the story of Jesus Christ. God the Father's only begotten Son and man's only Divine Savior. The Bible spells it out in St. John 1:1-3 — "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made."

To me the following poem tells it so beautifully:

The Maker of the Universe
As man for man was made a curse:
The claims of laws which He had made
Unto the uttermost He paid.
His holy fingers made the bough
Where grew the thorns that crowned His brow;
The nails that pierced His hands were mined
In secret places He designed.
He made the forests whence there sprung
The tree on which His body hung;
He died upon a cross of wood.
Yet made the hill on which it stood!
The sky which darkened o'er His head
By Him above the earth was spread;
The sun which hid from Him its face
By His decree was poised in space!
The spear which split His precious blood
Was tempered in the fires of God;
The grave in which His form was laid
Was hewed in rocks His hands had made!
The Throne on which He now appears
Was His from everlasting years!
But now a new glory crowns His brow
And someday every knee to Him shall bow!

Why don't you bow to Him now and make Him Lord of your life. If I can help, please feel free to write or call me.

We also invite you to the WATCHNIGHT SERVICE at Deer Park Assembly of God Church starting at 8 p.m. Tuesday, December 31st. Come and enjoy the good fellowship.

REMEMBER: TO MAKE YOUR HOLIDAYS — HOLY DAYS.

Eighteen Are Killed On State Highways

Eighteen persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways last week, according to the weekly news release compiled by 1st Sgt. James Harvey of Maryland State Police. Of those killed eleven were drivers, five were passengers and two were pedestrians. Most of the deaths could possibly have been prevented had seat belts been in use.

Alcohol was a known contributing factor in three of the deaths, speed involved and driver error in six.

Persons killed through December 22 totaled 692, compared to 681 for the same period last year.

New Year's festivals, among the oldest and most universally observed, generally include rites and ceremonies expressive of mortification, purgation, invigoration over life's renewal.

The earliest-known record of a New Year's festival dates back from about 2000 B.C. in Mesopotamia, where the year began with the new moon nearest the spring equinox (mid March; Babylonia) or nearest the spring equinox (mid-September; Assyria). The year began for the Egyptians, Phoenicians and Persians with the autumnal equinox (September 21st) and for the Greeks, until the 5th century B.C., with the winter solstice (December 21st). By the Roman republican calendar the year began on March 1; after 153 B.C. the official date was January 1, and this was confirmed by the Julian calendar (46 B.C.).

In early medieval times most of Christian Europe regarded March 25th as the beginning of the year, though for Anglo-Saxon England New Year's day was December 25th.

William the Conqueror decreed that the year start January 1, but later England began its year with the rest of Christendom on March 25th. January 1st was restored as New Year day by the Gregorian calendar (1582), immediately adopted by Roman Catholic countries. Other European countries followed suit.

Turn of the Year Can Be Important

In spite of our heritage, we make very little of the turn of the year. The vague feeling remains that it is an occasion to be recognized, the sense that it is a time when people should get together, as families do to celebrate a birthday. Just because it is a holiday that once focused men's deep emotions about the past and the future and the continuity of time, the New Year may again become important with meaning. A world society that must take into account the lingering traditions of all people may come to observe it as a day in which humanity can celebrate a common birthday in time.

Column For Homemakers

A New Sewing Method

Some interesting information has been received from the "International Fabricare Institute Research Center" in Silver Spring, Md.

No Thread, No Needle

There is a new method used in garment construction and in applying decorative design to wearing apparel and household items, called "sonic sewing." Its use right now is limited, but you should know it exists so that you can recognize it.

"Sonic sewing" machines sew knitted, woven and non-woven synthetic fabrics and thermoplastic film without the use of needle or thread, at rates up to 50 feet per minute. These machines emboss material with decorative patterns, and also trim and seal edges simultaneously. The "sonic sewing" machine has been developed by Branson Sonic Power Company. It employes ultrasonic energy to seam, hem, tack, baste, and pleat most synthetic and blended fabrics with up to 35% natural fiber content.

How Is It Done?

Ultrasonic energy (high frequency vibrations) is generated by a solid-state power supply, converted to mechanical vibrations and channeled into the sewing tool, or horn. When fabric or film is fed between the vibrating horn and a specially designed stitching wheel, frictional heat created by the horn bonds the pattern of the chosen stitching wheel. Wheels are available in a wide variety of patterns.

Color In Sonic Sewing

Sonic sewing can also be done in color. Fabric can be simultaneously sewn and decorated in color with a variety of stitch patterns. Designer touches can be added to clothing, curtains, draperies, tablecloths, napkins, placemats and any item where color is wanted.

Some foil consists of ½-mil polyester film coated with thermoplastic pigment. It is presently available in red, yellow, blue, green, violet and brown.

When sonic foil is fed with fabric into the sonic sewing machine, a permanent colored stitch is produced. It may be compared to mixing red dye with water and freezing to make an ice cube. A colored seam is produced when ultrasonic energy liquifies fibers in the seam area and mixes foil pigment with the molten material. The solution "solidifies" instantly and the color becomes an integral part of the fabric. Changing stitch color is simply a matter of feeding a different color of sonic foil with the fabric. An area where sonic coloring shows great promise is monogramming.

Performance of Sonic Sewing

Manufacturers claim that durable, sonic coloring shows no sign of deterioration after repeated test laundermas with detergents, enzymes, bleach, machine drying and dryecleaning.

There is no known cure for a hangover. The purpose of drinks before a meal, after all, is to create a warm atmosphere and whet the appetite. It is not to stifle all interest in viands.

RESOLUTIONS

Remorse and repentance come bubbling to the surface at New Year's. Smokers swear off cigarettes, the inebriated resolve not to drink anything stronger than diet eola, the obese resolve to diet. Sometimes, even children make a vow to make better grades.

None of these resolutions is ever kept, of course.

Janeireiros Welcome Portugal's New Year

In the Minho, in northwestern Portugal, masked children go around from house to house between New Year's Eve and Epiphany. They sing janlers, ancient "January" songs. The Janeireiros, as the singers are called, sometimes improvise verses about the householders. When their presents are generous, they praise them. If the gifts are few, the performers make sure the whole neighborhood hears about it.

There are many wise sayings in the Minho about the first day of the year. Since New Year's Day supposedly reflects the mood of the next twelve months, one should always have a coin in the pocket, something new on the back, and extra food in the larder. Parents urge their children to "mind their manners" and adults try to act as they wish to act throughout the year. Portugal has a proverb, "Never pay a debt on New Year's Day!"

Ridder Scores Ten

Insurance FACTS

According to statistics, every person who drives a car for 10 years will be at least involved in one accident during that time. Experts tell us that 21% of all drivers have some sort of accident during the first year they operate a car. After three years, the toll rises to 56%. Three fourths of all drivers will have had an accident within five years, and after ten years the probability is just about 100%. No wonder that the underwriters of insurance sell more than $17 billion worth of automobile insurance each year!

Consult with the professionals at GONDER INSURANCE AGENCY, 203-205 So. 2nd St., 334-3343, for complete automobile insurance protection. New Year: Day of Resolutions

New Year's Day is full of the promise of fresh beginnings and preserves, too, the Saturnalian wish for an alteration in the accepted pattern of life. Bells are rung, sirens sounded and whistles blown to celebrate its arrival and resolutions, sadly soon to be broken, made.

The New Year's celebration in Scotland receives more attention than Christmas. The big ritual of New Year's Day is First Footing. The first person, the First Footer, to enter the house uninvited on New Year's Day, often carrying symbolic gifts of bread, salt, coal and money and usually a piece of evergreen, bring good luck in the New Year. The requirements are strict: it must be a man, dark-haired, not flat footed or cross-eyed and preferably not a stranger. In Lancaster, for a female to be the first to enter the house was to let bad luck in for the coming year. Most important is to begin the New Year as you would like it to go on: have plenty of money in the pocket, dine well, rise early, pay your debts and lend nothing.

At Wick in the North of Scotland the old year is ceremonially burned out with great bonfires, the people gather round to dance and lighted torches are carried in procession.

In South Wales on New Year's Day the young men of the villages drew fresh spring water and went from house to house sprinkling all they met (for a few pennies) and would, if required, sprinkle those still in bed.

UNLUCKY

The Guise Dancers, at Cornwall-St. Ives, blacken their faces and still dance in the street in the first fortnight of the New Year. At one time they entered the houses too, and for a house to be overlooked was regarded as very unlucky.

MOCK PISTACHIO NUTS

In small bowl, mix 10 drops yellow and 4 drops green food coloring with 1 teaspoon cold water. Add 1 cup finely chopped blanched almonds; toss well to distribute coloring evenly. Store remaining nuts in covered container in refrigerator. Recipe can be halved.

Related Cases Of Assault, Battery Are Heard Monday

Several cases relating to the same set of incidences were heard in District Court Monday before Judge Lewis R. Jones.

These incidences occurred at a place of business on Glendale road October 23. The use of a black jack was involved in some cases.

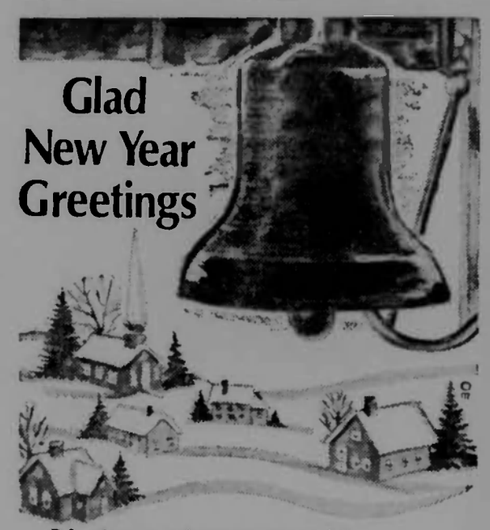
Rudolph Bothe, RD 2, Swanton, was charged on three counts of assault and battery. One upon Robert Johnson was dismissed as Bothe was found guilty on another count of assault and battery against Sherman Savage of McHenry. Bothe pleaded not guilty on the second count.

A plea of not guilty by Rudolph Bothe of assault and battery upon Don Savage was sustained.

Following the verdict of guilty against Rudolph Bothe a presentence investigation was ordered by Judge Jones.

Don Bothe, also of RD 2, Swanton, pleaded not guilty of assault and battery upon Sherman Savage and the plea was sustained.

Sherman Savage pleaded not guilty of assault on Rudolph Bothe and son, Don Bothe, and the plea was sustained.



It's time to ring out our wishes for health, wealth and happiness for specially nice friends and customers.
